MURDER SUSPECT ARRESTED

WILL REBUILD ROCK SPRINGS PARK

Today

Mr. Dempsey's Rest.
Farmers' Fairy Story.
All Cheerful Here.
Black Bread and White Bread.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

JACK DEMPSEY describes with affection two detective-sergeants from Chicago that will be his bodyguard, one at night, one by day, while he trains for his coming prize fight.

It would be a pity to have anybody hurt Mr. Dempsey, or, as he puts it, disturb my rest," while he is engaged in delicate and important preparations to knock out Mr. Tunney. Many in Chicago whose nights and days and mental rest are disturbed by bandit possibilities must wish that they were heavyweight champions and could have two picked men of the Chicago force to watch over them.

MR. HOOVER tells farmers of the middle west they need waterways and lower freight rates to compete with the Panama canal. Farmers in the Canadian northwest ship their wheat to Europe by water and save heavily on freight charges, as compared with middle west United States farms.

American ships, thanks to official idiocy and a desire to please Britain, must pay the same as foreign ships to use the Panama canal, and the American farmers were taxed to build it.

MR. HOOVER'S suggestion of waterways and low freight rates to the ocean will impress intelligent farmers as an excellent fairy story. They know, as Mr. Hoover knows, that the railroads will not permit the public to use its own highways for omnibus routes. Watch the railroads win that fight.

ANOTHER working week begins, [illegible] and big business very cheerful. Wall Street went home last Saturday noon in pleasant mood. That summer slump seems far away and "market leaders still lead upward and onward, like the excelsior young man in the poem. In this country there is nothing to frighten us, unless we frighten ourselves.

BELGIUM eats black bread, the king setting the example. Full power was given to the king, which is about as intelligent as it would be in a hive, to give full power to one of the drones.

Those that eat black bread are not men that save a country. Anybody intelligent enough for that job knows how to get white bread.

In the French revolution, which saved France from worthless kings and nobility, the work was done by eaters of white bread. The black bread eaters only howled around the guillotine, as it cut off heads, and later went to be shot when Napoleon sent them.

A GERMAN inventor offers to young ladies and others, for protection, a small apparatus worn on the wrist like the watch. A slight touch on your wrist by a person offending you puts that person out of commission, with an electric discharge of 1,000 volts at low amperage. You carry the battery concealed, and press a button to make the machine work. It would be useless however, in dealing with our "hands up" bandits.

United States to Maintain Hands Off Policy In Mexico

Appeals That Federal Government Intervene in Church Dispute Have Been Denied, Spokesman for Coolidge Says.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

WHITE PINE CAMP, N. Y., Aug. 17.—The United States will maintain a hands-off policy in so far as the dispute between the Catholic church and the Mexican government is concerned. The appeals of the Knights of Columbus in this country and others for intervention will have to be denied.

This was made known officially today by President Coolidge's spokesman. Neither international law nor existing treaty rights give this government authority to interfere in a purely domestic question, the Coolidge mouthpiece said, and the administration regards the church-state conflict as absolutely personal to Mexico.

The American government will confine itself to efforts to protect American property rights in Mexico, it was stated.

COUNCIL HEAD TAKES MAYOR'S JOB IN CITY OF STEUBENVILLE

PATTON IS GONE

Suspended Chief Claims That Removal is "Political Deal."

STEUBENVILLE, Aug. 17.—President of Council Dr. E. J. C. Sanders today took over the duties of mayor of Steubenville, succeeding John S. Patton who was suspended yesterday along with Chief of Police Blaine D. Carter, by Judge Jay S. Paisley.

Mayor Patton left the city hurriedly just prior to the filing of petitions asking for his removal. Before leaving he sent a letter to Justice of the Peace James P. Gavin appointing him a special city magistrate.

Assistant Solicitor Earl B. McMasters decided last night, however, that this appointment giving Gavin the reigns of mayor was nullified the minute Patton was suspended by the court action and that the head of the city council automatically became mayor until Patton is proven innocent or guilty of the charges of embezzlement and failure to do his sworn duty as contained in the charges.

Squire Gavin stated he would be glad to abide by such a decision. Acting mayor Sanders took up his new duties officially today by officiating at police court this morning.

Chief Carter relinquished his office late yesterday. One of the first acts of the new mayor will be to name a temporary successor to Carter.

Patton and Carter have ten days in which to file answers to the suspension charges. After these answers are filed the court will set a date for a hearing of the evidence on the charges.

"That will be my time to talk and tell Steubenville what a grand political deal is being put over on them," said Chief Carter.

The ouster movement against the two officials was sponsored by the Steubenville ministerial association.

LOUIS MAZER, 'JUNGLE' LORD, CHARGED WITH DEATH OF PUBLISHER

Prisoner Taken to District Attorney's Office, Where He Breaks Down and Weeps, When Told That He is Accused of the Killing of Don R. Mellett, Editor of Canton Daily News.

EVIDENCE IS SUFFICIENT TO SEND SUSPECT TO CHAIR, SLATER SAYS

Mystery Witness in Case, Whose Story Caused Arrest of Mazer, Tells of Trip to Cleveland Where Murder of Mellett Was Discussed — Claims Threats Have Been Made Upon Life.

FEDERAL BUILDING, CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 17.—Louis Mazer is as good as in the electric chair right now for the murder of Don R. Mellett, Ora Slater, ace of Ohio detectives, told International News Service today as he led the group of Canton officials and investigators into the office of United States District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen for the conference which will decide when the federal government's next blow will fall.

Accompanying Slater were Earl Hexamer, acting chief of police of Canton; George Armstrong, Slater's aid, instrumental in building up the case about Mazer; Joseph R. Roach, vice fighting attorney of Chicago; Judge H. C. Pontius, counsel of the Canton News who brought the "mystery witness" in the case to Bernsteen; and George Thorn, deputy sheriff of Stark county, who will serve the murder warrant on Mazer.

Mazer was brought into United States District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen's office at 11 o'clock this morning by United States Marshall George Stauffer. The prisoner was handcuffed. He had no intimation he faced a serious charge.

Tells of Accusation.

After the dynamic district attorney asked him a few questions concerning the operation of the liquor ring at Canton, the federal official leaned toward Mazer and said:

"You are charged with the murder of Don R. Mellett!"

There was a gasp of astonishment from Mazer. His face blanched. His features quivered and he broke into dry sobs.

At this moment Mr. and Mrs. David Mazer, of Canton, the prisoner's parents, who had entered the district attorney's office, rushed to his side.

"Louie! what's the matter?" they asked.

"They say I killed him," Mazer whispered in a sob racked voice, the whisper plainly audible in the stilled office.

"Oh, no!" the suspect's mother cried. She brought out her handkerchief. Both she and her husband wept silently.

Mazer, you killed Mellett," Bernsteen hurled this accusation at Mazer in the conference chamber.

CYCLONE, SWEEPING NORTHERN NEW JERSEY KILLS ONE AND CAUSES $1,000,000 PROPERTY DAMAGE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. — One dead, five injured and property damage estimated at more than a million dollars was the toll today of the cyclonic storm which tore through a portion of northern New Jersey last evening, jumped over New York City and turned into a waterspout at Glen Cove and Sea Cliff, Long Island. The twister sucked up the waters of Hempstead harbor and hurled a 150-foot wave against Glen Cove and Sea Cliff, smashing yachts and houses and felling 500 trees.

Leaving widespread destruction in its wake, the twister lost its force after striking the Long Island towns and continued along the northern shore to the eastern end of the island, where it lost itself at sea.

Although J. P. Morgan's Corsair and other yachts at Glen Cove escaped the waterspout, many smaller boats were smashed to pieces as a series of huge waves roared toward the shore, growing in height until the spout extended 150 feet toward the heavens, illuminated by blinding flashes of lightning. The gigantic waves then crashed down on a bungalow colony on the shore, flattening buildings, washing out roads and smashing trees and telegraph poles. The towns were plunged into darkness as power lines were severed.

As the twister passed over New York City, David Goldfarb, painter, was struck by a stray bolt of lightning. He toppled from a third-story window to the street, dying instantly.

The cyclone, coming out of the west, resembled a streak of black and white smoke as it struck northern New Jersey at 7:25 o'clock. Rain which accompanied the twister flooded the streets. In Ridgefield, N. J., the cyclone demolished the Morsemen community church and tore off the roofs of several buildings.

From Ridgefield the twister streaked through Ridgefield park, Perth Amboy, Morsemere and Palisades park, directly across the Hudson from New York, snapping off trees and telegraph poles and lifting roofs. Transportation facilities were paralyzed and roads blocked by wreckage.

A castastrophe was narrowly averted when a bolt of lightning struck an oil tank in The Standard Oil company's Bayway plant, causing a fire which firemen managed to extinguish.

The twister hopped over New York and twenty minutes later struck the Long Island towns, destroying at least one mile of water front.

Residents of the stricken areas were hard at work today repairing their shattered homes. In some cases their belongings were washed or blown a mile away.

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE.

Fortunately, Lou hadn't come in. She's said something about dining with Leslie. Bee undressed quickly and made up the sofa. She was sleeping there during the emergency, as Delia had only a single bed in the room. Before turning in, she called up their own rooms, and heard from Arthur's own lips that Delia was definitely better, though still suffering frightfully. So he was sticking. We'll, he'd better. If he should exhibit the first sign of slipping back into the old selfishness, a word to Fred would be enough. Curious how effectively a little primitive, crisp vigor could straighten out a mess like that. "Force never settled anything." Maybe. Maybe—

She put out the light and lay on the lumpy sofa in a glow. Why had she said next Saturday, anyway? Why not sooner? Every moment away from Fred now would be torture. And the nights would be long . . . She got up again to call him. Just to hear his voice and to float an idiotic kiss to him over the wire. And she said: "Don't buy a stone, Fred—just the wedding ring. Yes, of course I want that . . . .What, you'll wear one too? Oh, wonderful!" She'd have to say something to Lou. Something.

But when Lou finally came in, more preoccupied than ever, she found herself simply avoiding the issue. A cheerful little coward. Too much to unsay. She'd have to think it out. Let it ride—a day, or two, or three.

They talked, jerkily again, touching only the surfaces, while Louise was undressing. When the light was out again and Lou's long body stretched out (with a sigh) in the bed, Bee said: "Do you suppose there's a chance that those two will work out some happiness together?"

"No I don't" replied Lou. "Not a chance. You can't really make Arthur over. Sooner or later she'll have to divorce him. Probably sooner. He's had a scare. It's sobered him for the moment. But his habits are fixed. He's really just an epicurean experimentalist among women."

"Not a bad line, old thing."

"But marriage was what she needed. She's got it. He'll have to do something in the way of keeping her alive. She can make him do that. And she'll have her morale again. That's about all I can see in it."

"Probably that's about the size of it," mused Bee. Apropos of nothing at all, she suddenly wanted to laugh and sing. Incongruous again. She made herself lie very still and breathe deeply. Lou would be asleep pretty soon. Then she could float out into delicious reverie, half awake, putting together again in her warm imagination each of the series of incidents that had taken place during that amazing taxi ride.

"Oh, Lou—awake?"

"Sort of."

"Did you talk with Kapek?"

"Yes."

"Well—what did he say?"

"Nothing doing.

"Oh, Lou!"

"Amounted to that. Mr. Des Plaines could hardly wait on me for his next picture, but I must feel assured that there'll always be a place for a person of my talent in the picture industry."

"That's something."

"My dear, the difference between a general feeling of assurance and that definite contract is exactly five hundred a week. Now keep still and let me get to sleep."

For Louise, too, it had been a deeply emotional evening. Slowly, a quarter-hour after Bee went uptown, she walked over to the Square. Leslie had said he'd be waiting in front of the theater. Over the telephone she hadn't been able to make him out. He'd been abrupt and sparing of words (unlike him) and rather breathlessly mysterious. Something had happened—perhaps real trouble. He was out of work of course, and facing the long drought that summer presents to most theater folk. There would be some deep appeal to her sympathy. No escaping that. Her recent discovery that you couldn't long ride the complications of life with a high hand was bringing a sense of being beaten down that bewildered her. It hurt. And the deeper knowledge that love, when judgment is outraged, may linger as a habit, hurt her more sharply still. Undertow.

Nearing the corner, her feet lagged. She stopped, by a doorstep—simply stood there. But her thoughts weren't getting her anywhere. She'd be growing bitter in a moment, just vaguely, unreasonably bitter. There was nothing in that. She might better drift with these queer conflicting currents. After all, that was what most humans did, when you stopped to think of it. Planning was no good. How could she figure out what she might do? How could anybody? With a shrug she went on around the corner and gave Leslie her hand.

He had on his blue suit, neatly pressed, and a simple four-in-hand tie with the pearl stick-pin that she had given him only last Christmas. And she'd gone with him like a settled housewife in early March to pick out that suit. It had to be ready-made. Real tailors were luxuries. But Leslie's figure though tall, was of good average proportions, and the ready-made things always fitted him.

That moment, standing there before the Village Theater, looking straight at the man who had for so long been her accepted lover, was the most poignant of her life thus far. He still loved her. She sensed that in every nerve. And that pull of sheer habit was unnerving. Perhaps, in this queer moment, her life was shaping its course for good. The only strength that appeared to be in her was that arising bitterness. That thought was something, perhaps, to hold to. For she couldn't drift back into what is called love with bitterness in her heart. It would give the lie to her whole life. Or could she? Quietly she stood, saying no unnecessary words.

Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The East Liverpool Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The bureau can not give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Q. How does a buzzard sail against the wind without flapping its wings? A. D.

A. The Biological Survey says that the buzzard is able by more or less imperceptible movements of different parts of the wings, to take advantage of minor air currents.

Q. How do jellyfish travel? How do they reproduce? B. D.

A. They swim by alternate dilation and contraction of the disk or umbrella, and progress mostly by drifting with the surface currents. They reproduce by eggs.

Q. What is meant by "The Family of Nations?" J. H.

A. In International law the phrase refers to an assemblage of states claiming a common civilization and a political and moral equality; specifically, the Nations of Christendom in Europe and the New World, also the Ottoman Empire (since the Treaty of Paris 1856) and more recently Japan.

Q. Why are Welsbach mantles so called? U. S. R.

A. They are named for their inventor, Auer von Welsbach.

Q. When was Sunday first considered the first day of the week? D. V.

A. In 321 the Roman Emperor, Constantine, who had been converted to Christianity, issued an edict protecting the Christians, and also changing the observance of the Sabbath as a legal day of rest from the Sabbath, which had formerly been observed on the 7th day of the week, to the first day of the week, commemorating the resurrection of Christ from the dead. Since this time the Sabbath or Sunday has been reckoned as the first day by the majority of Christians.

Q. In what sort of place should leather bags be kept? T. F. W.

A. In storing leather goods it is best to keep them from the light and air as much as possible. This seems to be the important factor rather than temperature and humidity.

Q. How and when were glee clubs first organized? I. V. A.

A. The glee club which originated in some meetings at the house Robert Smith in St. Paul's Churchyard (England), commenced in 1783, at which motets, madrigals, glees, canons and catches were sung after dinner. The meetings were subsequently held at Dr. Beevers and other houses until, in 1787, it was resolved to establish a society to be called "The Glee Club," the first public meeting of which took place at the Newcastle Coffee House on Saturday, December 22, 1787.

Q. What was meant by usury in the Bible? R. L.

A. The word usury has come in modern English to mean excessive interest upon money loaned, either illegal or at least oppressive. In the Scriptures, however, the word did not bear this sense, but meant simply interest of any kind upon money. The Jews were forbidden by the law of Moses to take interest from their brethren, but were permitted to take it from foreigners. The practice of mortgaging land, sometimes at exorbitant interest grew up among the Jews during the captivity, in direct violation of the law.

Q. What is the title of the school for "baby congressmen?" G. C. R.

A. "Symposium" is the name given to the Baby Congress. It is a school for beginners where the new members receive instruction in the rudiments of being national legislators. There were more than a hundred novitiates in the last house. These are members who have not served in previous congresses, and who, presumptively, are not thoroughly informed as to what is expected of them in their new jobs. They could learn all this experience in the course of a few weeks or months, but William Tyler Page, clerk of the house, offered them a short cut to knowledge.

ALBANY TO HAVE 26-STORY STATE OFFICE BUILDING; COST $6,000,000

ALBANY, N. Y.—New York State is planning to spend upwards of $6,000,000 for a state office building.

A draft of the structure, which will tower 26 stories into the sky, has just been completed by Sullivan W. Jones of Yonkers, state architect.

When completed, the building will be the tallest in the state between New York City and Buffalo.

It is to be erected on a city block to the west of the state capital. Bids have just been advertised for the work of clearing the site for the new structure. The site alone will cost the State more than $1,000,000.

The Legislature of 1926 appropriated $1,000,000 to secure the site. The Legislature of next winter is expected to appropriate about $5,000,000 for the construction work. The money will be taken from the $100,000,000 bond issue approved by the voters a year ago for permanent public improvements.

All of the state bureaus and agencies, with the exception of those now in the capital and the state education building, will be lodged in the new office building when it is completed. At present state offices are scattered in all parts of the city of Albany, and the state, has been paying upwards of $500,000 a year rent for some time.

LYON SCORES BIG TRIUMPH

Plays Leading Role in "The Reckless Lady" at American.

Ben Lyon scored a personal triumph in "The Reckless Lady," a new Robert Kane-First National production which was shown for the first time yesterday at the American theatre. Ben's acting was a constant delight.

As a matter of fact, the entire cast, which is all-star, gave a superlative performance. Belle Bennett in the title role and Lois Moran, the 16-year-old "wonder girl," were close runners-up to Ben. So, too, were James Kirkwood, Lowell Sherman and Charlie Murray.

The film is an adaptation of "The Reckless Lady," the popular novel by Sir Philip Gibbs. So convincing is the the film drama, however, that one feels it was written directly for the screen.

Some of the finest scenes in the picture are those showing the famous Casino, where so many millions regularly change hands over the gaming tables.

The action is largely laid in the Island of Monaco.

For Ben Lyon and the rest of the cast; also for a splendid story, "The Reckless Lady" is heartily recommended.

Through traffic, the first since the beginning of the war, has been opened between Mukden and Peking, passenger express trains being run twice a week.

CATTLE DISPLAY AT STATE FAIR

Big Exhibits Entered For Week of August 30.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 17.—Recognized as one of the greatest combined beef and dairy shows in the world, the cattle exhibits at Ohio State Fair—August 30 to September 4—will exceed those of a year ago in number and quality of animals qualifying, according to officials.

When the immense new cattle exposition building was completed in 1924, it was believed then that the facilities provided would accommodate the cattle show for many years to come. But, in the dedication year, the entries were sufficiently large to show the Fair management that within a very short period it could be expected that the structure would be outgrown. Last year, when approximately 1800 animals were showing, it was believed that a mark had been set that would be eclipsed with difficulty.

According to advance entries, however, the 1926 exposition promises to pass that of last year by several score of head.

G. B. Warner of Wellington, is the Board of Agriculture member in charge of the cattle department. More than $31,000 will be distributed among competitors in this division.

As in years past, all of the leading breeds will be represented at the State Fair this year. Shorthorns have generally led in numbers, largely because Ohio was the first state to develop this breed and it is quite significant that most of the champions have come from within the confines of Ohio.

Coming into Ohio from the west, Hereford entries have made it possible for the Buckeye "white face" show to be the largest in the east. Ohio Aberdeen Angus and Polled Shorthorns generally receive much competition from Indiana and Illinois breeders.

The Jersey show at Ohio Fair is always equal to any in the United States. The finest imported animals from the Eastern and Southern states have been competing with Ohio-bred Jersey cattle. It is significant that there are more Jersey breeders in Ohio than any other state.

A feature of the show has been the Holstein exhibitions. The county herd classes have brought to Ohio State Fair the entries of the small farmer-breeders from over the state.

The Guernsey classifications has shown a remarkable growth during the last few years. In 1923, the Grand Champions of the Ohio State Fair were made Grand Champions of the National Livestock Exposition a few weeks later.

QUARANTINE TO BE MAINTAINED

Corn Borer Regulations Will Not be Lifted During Summer.

Two corn borer quarantine stations will be maintained in this county throughout the current season it is officially announced. One of these stations will continue to be located on the Salem-Lisbon road in Perry township and another on the Lincoln Highway in West township.

In combatting the European corn borer, state and federal forces have been combined with considerable effect. The county quarantines have been promulgated by the federal horticultural board of the United States Department of agriculture and the department of agriculture of Ohio to prevent the artificial spread of this insect.

Large containers have been placed opposite the stopping of all motor vehicles traveling out of the infected area and into these is being placed all green corn taken from cars.

Some motorists make objection when the green corn is taken from their cars, but under the ruling of the Federal and State Department of Agriculture, the corn must be "given up" or the driver of the car containing the green corn will be subjected to arrest.

NASH OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY

New Advanced and Light Six Models are Displayed.

Coincident with the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the founding of The Nash Motors company, Nash dealers throughout the country are staging an impressive introductory display of the newly-refined Advanced Six and Light Six models. The local dealer is The Turk-Nash Motor Sales, Dresden avenue. The heighth of development to which Nash has brought these cars epitomizes the phenomenal progress of the company since the day the first Nash car came off the production line a full decade ago.

Both from an engineering standpoint and with regard to the niceties of arrangement and appointment, these two newly-refined groups of Nash models evidence even more vividly the notable character of Nash manufacturing resources.

Their advent presages an even more phenomenal success for Nash in the future than has been true of the past although in the ten years that have elapsed since the first Nash car was marketed the Company has reached a position in the industry ranking fifth or sixth among all automobile manufacturers in the world and is enjoying an uninterrupted sales advance which for rapidity and continuity of business increase is outstanding in the industry. During the first six months of this year Nash sales reached a total of 78,133 cars as contrasted to the total sales for the entire year 1925 of 96,121 cars. And 1925 had gained nearly 80 per cent over 1924.

Both the Series now being presented to the public are powered by newly-whose conspicuous characteristics are improved 7-bearing crankshaft motors, extreme power-smoothness and quietness, combined with exceptional acceleration ability.

As regards the exterior appearance of these newly-refined models there are two features which immediately attract attention. First, is the artistically sculptured emblem of flying wings which surmounts the radiator. Next, is the harmonious richness of the new color combinations with which Nash has dressed these models. All of the open body models in these two groups are done duotone color combinations with the body molding marking the division line between the two colors.

The Light Six 4-Door Sedan which is the leader of the Light Six Series presents a longer, roomier body with an increased amount of leg room. The rear of this body attracts the eye because of its beautifully rounded contour and an important feature is the more costly genuine wood-frame body construction Nash employs similar to the practice which is in vogue among the finest European and American cars, instead of the steel-frame type previously used.

This newly refined Light Six 4-Door Sedan is beautifully done in a deep Mallard Green finish with black upper structure and black body moldings, both of which are pencilled with thin is also observed in the disc wheels, double stripes of gold. Gold striping The Light Six Touring car is done in duotone. Above the black body molding is a rich green-gray while below the molding the car is finished in lushas double gold striping and the greentrous Lilac Gray. The body molding gray disc wheels are also traced in gold.

Breathing

Houdini, the professional magician, accomplishes the seeming miracle of surviving an hour and a half in a six-and-one-half foot coffin, tightly sealed, just to show he can do it. The "trick," he explains, is to take very short, even breaths, living on the air in the coffin when the occupant enters it, but conserving it to the utmost.

By breathing normally he would use the air all up in a couple of minutes. By breathing slightly, he ekes it out and makes it suffice. It is the same as the food principle of short rations, by which men threatened with starvation survive by eating very little over a prolonged period instead of eating normally while the food lasts.

So it is proved that a human being, without trance, hypnotism or magic of any kind, can live for an hour and a half on almost no air. But it would be very unfortunate if this demonstration should lead anyone to make a practice of scant breathing.

Houdini was probably able to perform his stunt all the better from the fact that he is a man of liberal chest development and accustomed to deep breathing. That gave him the vitality and endure breath privation, just as a well nourished man might endure hunger longer than one ill nourished.

There are eastern fakirs and mystics who make a mysterious art of breathing, professing to get along with little breath, or to accomplish wonders, physical and mental, by their precise method of inhalation and exhalation. Whether there is anything in their claims or not, this much is certainly true for ordinary persons: The deeper they breathe, and the more air they get—especially fresh air—the better.

Air is life. The deep breather is the vigorous person. Swimmers, who need great vigor, always have big chest capacity, and use it. Miss Ederle is a good example.

Hooverizing Abroad

During the war, when Herbert Hoover was "food dictator," "Hooverizing" meant saving foodstuffs. Now the word has changed to indicate another economy more distinctly American, but sweeping around the world. It means standardizing and simplifying manufactured articles.

This is an old hobby of the engineer now in charge of the department of commerce. His present position enables him to work it for all it is worth. His efforts are none the less effective because compliance is voluntary. It is easy to show intelligent manufacturers how much waste and loss there is in making so many different kinds and sizes of lumber, nails, screws, saws, brick, pots, dishes, etc., when the public could get along just as well with less variety. So 57 standard recommendations already in effect in American industry have made big economies in the output of thousands of firms and are said to be saving the nation $600,000,000 a year.

Soon, it is said, our muffins will be made in tins of standardized shapes, our pies in standardized pans and our dinners served with standardized silverware.

Theoretically this reform might be carried too far, making undesirable uniformity. Practically, there will be plenty of variety left and plenty of differences in quality and artistic finish.

Now other nations everywhere are said to be studying the system and hastening to apply it. Europe is particularly interested. English authorities are saying, "Britain must simplify its industries." Austria, Holland and Germany are clamoring for the same thing. Another American idea is "revolutionizing industry."

Last Word On Jazz

Don't try to abolish jazz, advises Col. Mackenzie Rogan, a distinguished British musical director. It may torment the cultivated ear, and the lavish rewards of its practitioners may be resented by genuine musical artists; but for all that, it needn't be condemned off-hand, and efforts to banish it are futile.

"You cannot abolish jazz any more than you can extinguish the music hall song, the penny novelet, the chromo-lithograph, or any of the other humbler forms of art, so long as it offers something which gratifies the elementary artistic needs of the masses.

The people who drench themselves in jazz will surely tire of it in time, and then, music having become part of their daily lives, they may call, one hopes, for something better.

"If you cannot force people to enjoy good music, good pictures, good books, you can at least see to it that the best is ready for them when they want it."

This may serve as the last of many words on jazz.

Chinese Radio

A broadcasting station is being built at Mukden, China, to furnish information and entertainment for the Chinese. To pay the expenses of the venture, there will be levied a tax on consumers—25 cents on crystal sets and 50 cents on tube sets.

That should open a great field for this new art and for the business it represents. American manufacturers will not overlook it, though bearing in mind the fallacy of Mark Twain's celebrated scheme for getting rich by selling eye-water to "400,000,000 Chinamen with sore eyes."

American fans will start soon fishing for Mukden in quest of Chinese programs. That should satisfy the yearning for distance, at any rate. But how about having Chinese static added to the Christian varieties?

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17—Columbus Circle is to Broadway today the old Herald Square of yesterday—the pivot upon which the metropolitan carousel spins. It is a charming basis for pedestrians used to cramped sidewalks and the heaviest traffic point in the city.

One may leave it to emerge into the upper or lower Broadway lash of lights, or into the sudden cool night of the park. Or into the joust and jangle of 8th avenue. Or the subdued tenement district leading off toward the North river.

All types of New Yorkers drift hourly to The Circle and spill about in a kaleidoscopic melange. It is a haven for the professional flirt, transatlantic pretenders, soap box propagandists, leather lifters, and the great army of the lonely.

In busy hours it requires about 12 traffic policemen to keep pedestrians and vehicles moving. It has all sorts of restaurants from white tiled hurry-ups to the sombre Chinese. There are innumerable shops sliced pie shape whose windows glitter with jewelry, fruit, flowers, souvenirs and the like.

In all the chiff-chaff there is the solidity of gigantic skyscrapers with offices of some of the most important enterprises in the world. Columbus Circle a few years ago was a mere "turn in the road" but with the building sweep northward its real estate became among the most valuable in the city. Nowadays it is always torn up.

Most of New York living above 72nd street on the west side drifts through The Circle during the 24 hour day. It is the starting point and wind-up of innumerable parades. Nearly every hour an ambulance careens in from a side street.

At night heavy lights spurt across the pavements and the effect is brighter than day. The hub-hub rarely simmers down until long after midnight.

I am told of a deformed beggar in Columbus Circle who has all pockets tightly sewed up and at intervals a sort of padrone comes up and empties the coins from the outstretched tin cup.

One might imagine a grass cutter would starve in New York but there are a number so expert their trade is almost a profession. They attend to the hidden gardens that bloom in the courts of private homes and apartment houses. Most of these horticultural activities are to be found in the so-called Fashionable Fifties although there are a number on Riverside Drive. One of the most famous gardens is that of Thomas Fortune Ryan at 5th Avenue and 68th street, and the largest terraced lawn and garden exposed to the public is that surrounding the home of Charles Schwab on the Drive—with its quaint sculpting in bronze of a puddler—symbolical of the steel king's humble beginning. There are many other vernal surprises in Manhattan blooming prettily with the finest flowers but they are not to be viewed by the bourgeoisie.

One of the tenement uplift movements is to supplant threes and flowers for clotheslines flapping with wet wash and ash cans. But tenement dwellers show little interest. The sting of charity is there. They prefer to have their little window sill plants and most of them do—a rather pathetic effort of beauty to rise above the squalor.

Then there are the Lady Bountifuls impelled by worthy motives, of course, who visit the slums and experience an inward glow of righteousness but those submerged are rarely pleased with this idea. Poverty is bad enough, but to have it subjected to even kindly scrutiny is worse.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

THE OLD GRAZING PROBLEM.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 17.—With some 185 million acres remaining in the public domain of the United States as the only free land in the country, the next session of Congress will give serious consideration to the regulation of cattle and sheep grazing on this land. For many years the cattle and sheep men of the West have stood vigorously for free grazing on the unreserved public domain, but many of them now admit that the range is being destroyed by overgrazing, and that public control may be necessary after all. The days of the free range are numbered.

After holding hearings in many western states, the public lands committee of the senate has before it a bill to regulate grazing on the public domain, and while the passage of any such bill is not certain, the tendency to regulation is stronger than ever before.

A fight between the Departments of the Interior and Agriculture about who should administer the grazing regulations has in the past assisted opponents of any conservation or regulation policy to keep the question at a deadlock in Congress. This difference of opinion still exists, but a plan of joint control is now proposed which may satisfy all conservationists that the public domain is to be protected and not wasted by a grazing control act.

Will C. Barnes, chief of grazing under the United States Forest Service, has managed the question of grazing regulation in the National Forests, where stockmen are allowed to bring limited numbers of animals, under permit, for periods of grazing, and the Senate has had the benefit of his experience as a public official in regulating the use of what was once a free public range. Mr. Barnes' testimony before the Committee on Public Lands has been assembled as a publication of the Forest Service, under the title, "The Story of the Range", and this booklet reviews the whole history of public grazing lands in the United States, and the various steps in control of grazing as the increase in population and in herds made free, promiscuous grazing no longer possible.

Ruined If Not Regulated.

Mr. Barnes is of the opinion that the remaining public domain of the United States will support a good deal of livestock if its use is regulated, and will be largely destroyed as a grazing resource unless it is regulated. He has ample evidence of the way in which over-grazing has reduced the grass production of the great semi-arid plains, until lands which would once maintain a cow for every three to five acres can not now afford a living to a cow on less than ten to thirty acres. The reduction of the forage crop on these lands has in many cases led to erosion of the lands and the complete destruction of their grazing value.

The remedy suggested by Mr. Barnes is to limit the number of stock allowed on the land in each region until the land has a chance to come back to normal productivity of forage materials, and then to keep a reasonable limit on the grazing. Under such a plan this great area of otherwise waste land may be made to yield a revenue of a few cents an acre to the Government each year. For the whole available public domain this would come to between two and three million dollars, and the cost of patrolling the lands and regulating grazing would certainly not be more than half the revenue.

Thus the forthcoming finish to the period of the free range is not foreseen without some useful aspects by the people most familiar with the utility of our remaining public lands. By regulation and conservation of the forage, these lands will sustain some ten to fifteen million head of cattle or the equivalent in sheep, for considerable parts of the year, and earn a little revenue for the Government at the same time. As practically all of the public lands left to the government are listed as worthless except for grazing, and as most of them would have been homesteaded long ago if they had any other value, this is so much to be saved. The cattle and sheep running without restriction over this range for a few more years would gradually destroy more and more of it beyond hope of restoration. Thus there will be strong inducements for congress to pass some sort of regulatory bill at its next session.

The history of the western ranges shows many previous efforts to regulate their use, but the Government has always clung to the early fetish of free land. Thus we theoretically have 185 million acres of free land in the country today, which any settler may have for the taking, but which no one will take. It is all worthless, except for grazing, and will fetch probably two or three cents an acre per year for that purpose. Thirty-five or thirty years ago members of Congress began to propose laws to save the gradually dwindling western ranges, but no bill to that end has ever passed. The cry for free grass has time and again been raised by the cattle men and sheep men, until now they are coming to realize that because it has been free, the grass has been in many places wholly destroyed, and in others greatly curtailed.

Will Supply Needed Funds.

Regulation will not only save a good deal of the forage on the remaining ranges, but will afford funds for fixing up water supplies and otherwise conserving and improving the range. In many of the semi-arid regions, small winter streams can be backed up by low concrete dams and made into lakes which will last all summer, giving a water supply when the streams dry up. Artesian wells and pump wells may be installed in other places, and by very little expense in providing water, large areas of the desert lands can be made useful for cattle and sheep.

The unreserved public domain at present is approximately the size of the State of Texas, and lies scattered in the 11 most western states. The largest area is in Nevada, which has 52 million acres of unclaimed public lands, a large part of which has never even been surveyed. Utah has 28 million acres, California 19 million, New Mexico 16 million, Wyoming 15 million, Oregon and Arizona 13 million each, and Idaho, Colorado, Montana, and Washington smaller areas.

These lands are surrounded by private lands, railroad lands, forest reserves, and Indian lands, and on all of these there is grazing, but always under lease and regulation except on the public domain. Thus only the public lands remain for the free lances of the cattle and sheep industry, who own no lands whatever and merely graze the public domain. Time was when their herds and flocks might go at will through all of the western plains and mountains.

The forest service now refuses grazing permits to owners who have no lands of their own and make no provision for wintering their stock. It sees no great hope any longer for the landless stockman, and does not care to rent the forest reserve lands in summer to feed animals which may be left to starve the next winter.

The wise stockman of the present era has a few haystacks not far from his winter range, and if he uses the public lands for some months, he is also raising feed at the home ranch, and improving his pasturage there. He may object to paying a fee for the open range which has hitherto cost nothing, but most of the cattlemen have come to agree that some steps to save the range are needed, and a little expense to that end may be justified.

So congress when it meets will once again take up the question of the proper conservation of the last wholly free areas in the United tSates.

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

A SORT OF CIRCULATING MEDIUM, AS IT WERE.

This story has the merit of being applicable to these piping prohibition days although, to the best of my knowledge and belief, it originated back in the Wicked Days prior to January, 1920.

An auctioneer's man had been sent to a household to list its contents. Nothing of especial interest, either to himself or to others, marked the course of his labors until he had progressed so far as the dining room. Here, following his routine, he proceeded to enumerate the furnishings in proper order, item by item.

In his flowing professional script he set down the tally in his book:

One mahogany dining room table.
Six mahogany dining chairs.
One mahogany sideboard.
One bottle Scotch whisky, full.

Seemingly, then, ensued a period when the appraiser was otherwise engaged and made no entries whatsoever. Then, in a somewhat straggling and uncertain handwriting, he scratched out the last item and concluded his labors for the day with the following quotations:

One bottle Scotch whisky, partially full.

Banker Tells of Recent Trip Around the World.

John J. Purinton, secretary of the Potters' Savings and Loan company, who last year circled the globe on a conducted tour, visiting all chief cities and interest points along the route, today gave Rotarians a graphic description of his eight months' jaunt, from the starting point in Japan, through China, India, the Malay Islands, Egypt, Italy, France and smaller countries.

Approximately 40 members of the club attended the meeting. Harry Watkins was chairman.

President Malcom Thompson announced that Youngstown club members will be guests of the local organization at a golf tourney and dinner here next Friday. J. M. Wells, L. W. Smith, R. G. Thomas and C. V. Beatty were named as a committee to supervise arrangements for the visitors.

Dr. C. F. Kinsey led club singing, accompanied by Mrs. Danks Cochran.

C. W. Hellyer will be chairman of next week's meeting.

Mr. Purinton gave an interesting account of his travels in foreign lands, discussing economic and other phases of the various nations through which his party passed, and explaining modes, manners and customs of the many different classes of people encountered on the trip.

Merchant Shipping Of World Increasing; Lloyd's Give Figures

LONDON.—The merchant shipping of the world has increased by 17,268,000 tons gross since June 1914, according to the 1926-27 edition of Lloyd's Register of Shipping published here.

Statistics for the past 12 months show that there has been an immense development in the use of steam turbine engines and of internal combustion engines, while the United States and Japan lead the world in motor ships.

Britain still leads the rest of the world with the greatest merchant tonnage, with the United States following a close second.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—The possibility that Max Carey, deposed captain, may remain with the Pittsburgh Pirates, was expressed on all sides here today prior to the meeting of John A. Heydler, president of the National league, with Pirate officials and the three players discharged recently for alleged insubordination.

Taking cognizance of Carey's 14 years in organized baseball during which no charge of any kind had been preferred against him before the attempt of the three players to keep Fred Clarke, assistant manager, off the Pirates' bench, Heydler indicated that all phases of the affair will be thoroughly probed. The conference was called for 11 o'clock this morning.

Ohio River Rises As Heavy Rains Continue to Fall

CINCINNATI, Aug. 17.—Heavy rains during the last two weeks throughout the Ohio valley intermittent with only short periods of sunshine have brought the stage of the Ohio river and the Little Miami to dangerous high water levels.

The water today was still rising following heavy rains early this morning, occupants of summer cottage colonies along the Little Miami were deserting them for higher ground and orders had gone out in camps along the waterways to keep all off the water.

Delay to shipping and passenger service on the Ohio was experienced as result of the extra flood poured into the channel. The big river was out of control of wikets and dams and ships which have to be moved through locks around the dams were tied up waiting for the water to subside.

GIRL ABANDONS CHANNEL SWIM

Girl Leaves Water When Overwhelmed by Storm.

CAPE GRIS NEZ, France, Aug. 17.—Miss Lillian Cannon, another American woman swimmer, was forced to acknowledge defeat today when overwhelmed with a heavy rain and electrical storm which made her further progress in swimming across the English channel impossible and rendered the accompanying tug Alsace unmanageable. The tug captain refused to continue the crossing in the face of the storm.

Miss Cannon was taken from the water at 3:30 o'clock this morning. The storm was threatening when she took off from here on her schedule time of 12:48 o'clock. At 2:25 after she had covered a distance of three miles, the storm broke, but the plucky girl refused to give up her attempt.

During the next hour she progressed another mile with the greatest difficulty, and consented to be taken aboard the tug only when the captain refused to take the responsibility for proceeding any further as the tug was fast becoming unmanageable in the heavy seas.

Aboard the tug were Wideman, Miss Cannon's own trainer, Burgess, Gertrude Ederle's trainer, Wolfe, Helmy, and Egyptian swimmer, Mme. Sion, and the German, Kemmerick, the latter three all channel aspirants.

Miss Cannon announced that she will make another attempt to swim the channel starting either next Friday or Saturday, early in the morning.

Farm Hand Will Face Murder Charge On September 15

COSHOCTON, Ohio, Aug. 17.—Robert F. Thompson, 52-year-old Missouri farm hand, who has confessed the murder of 10-year-old Gertrude D'Ostroph will go on trial for his life here on September 15.

Common Pleas Judge James Glenn set the date late yesterday following Thompson's plea of not guilty when arraigned on a first degree murder indictment. Thompson was cool until the indictment was read when he leaned forward and nervously thumped the top of the table.

Sheriff Harold Marquard has received Thompson's photographs and prison records from the state prison at Lansing, Kansas, showing that Thompson served for assault with intent to kill from December 12, 1910, to February 19, 1913.

Cleveland Man, Accused of Murder Shot to Death

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17.—The bullet riddled body of Philip Catalano, 37, was found at Richmond and Clubside roads, Lyndhurst village, early today.

Catalano was under $20,000 bond pending a hearing tomorrow in police court on a charge of killing Pat Culofia, 31, on August 2, last.

Police expressed the belief that Catalano was slain in revenge, having undoubtedly been taken "for a ride" by friends of his victim. An abandoned car standing beside the body gave color to the police theory.

MONTREAL, Aug. 17.—Philip C. Elliott, accused with Richard Thorne of lashing Miss Violet Anderson, actress, near Harrison, N. Thorne could not be located by immigration agents. Elliott was placed on parole pending the outcome of the deportation matter.

POLICE CHIEFS IN CONVENTION

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 17.—Ohio police chiefs opened their annual three-day convention here today. The delegates were to discuss today the suspensions of four of their members: Chief A. S. Lengel, of Canton; Chief R. V. Putman, of Marietta; Chief Berney Gillen, of Warren, and Chief Blaine Carter, of Steubenville.

There was some talk of passing a resolution asking fair play for the chiefs under fire.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Under the influence of an additional increase of $31,600,000 in brokers' loans for the week of August 11, reported at the close of yesterday's session, and offering additional evidence of the expansion of speculative buying, the stock market was slightly reactionary in the early trading today, particularly the high-priced industrials and specialties which led Monday's closing rally.

New forward moves were started in a number of the prominent railroad stocks, under the lead of Rock Island. The Southwestern merger group was fairly active and strong, with cotton belt continuing its upward movement; Northwestern rails received more than usual attention, particularly Great Northern and Northern Pacific. Copper stocks held all of their gains, and American Smelting displayed conspicuous strength, selling in good volume above 151.

The new increase in brokers' borrowings makes a gain of $117,000,000 in two weeks, a pace which was considered a little too rapid by the conservative element in Wall street. Taken in conjunction with the recent withdrawal of about $100,000,000 from the speculative market by the interior banks and the increase in the federal reserve rediscount rate here to 4 per cent, it indicated the prospect of a curtailment of funds for stock market manipulation in the near future. Meanwhile the call loan rate was unchanged at 4½ per cent.

Industrial stocks milled around with little apparent change in the first hour after the offerings of the professionals had been absorbed.

Valentino, Screen "Sheik" Recovering From Operation

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Rudolph Valentino was apparently rallying from his critical illness today.

Attending physicians announced that the famous screen "sheik" spent a restful night at Polyclinic hospital and that there had been no developments that would warrant undue anxiety.

Valentino, who had been reported as very ill following a double operation on Sunday for gastric ulcer and appendicitis, is not regarded as out of danger, however. At 10:30 this morning, attending physicians issued this bulletin:

"Mr. Valentino passed a fairly comfortable night. There has been no change to cause undue anxiety. Temperature 101.5, pulse 100, respiration 22."

POLICE SEARCH FOR MESSENGER

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 17.—Herbert Spencer, Jr., 19, messenger for the Columbus bureau of the International News Service, was missing from home and duties today. Police and his parents believe him to be a victim of amnesia.

Spencer suffered a sunstroke four years ago and shortly after disappeared. He returned home a month later, unable to tell where he had been, suffering a complete loss of memory. The recent heat wave was believed to have brought a relapse and his disappearance while at work Monday is believed to be another attack.

Murder Suspect Arrested

will tell you I didn't," the prisoner cried.

"Who are your pals?" Bernsteen asked. "If they know you didn't kill Mellett, they know who did."

Mazer refused to name his pals.

"I've got you Mazer and even if you don't go to the chair for that murder you are going to do time for that carload of liquor you and Carl Studer brought to Canton from Detroit."

"Studer is now in jail."

This was the first knowledge Mazer had of Studer's arrest.

Studer Defends Pal.

Studer, debonair and dressed as if going to a dance, was brought into the conference room and confronted with Mazer.

"Carl, please tell them I didn't kill Mellett," Mazer implored. "Please tell them."

Breaking down at Mazer's impassionate plea, Studer turned to Bernsteen and said: "Louis is innocent."

Mazer was then taken into Bernsteen's office where the other investigators were waiting to question him. Studer was put in a cell in the marshal's office.

Mystery Witness Talks.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 17. — The mystery witness whose testimony may send the slayer of Don R. Mellett to the electric chair, broke his silence today in an exclusive interview with International News Service.

"I am afraid to say anything," he said with a shifty glance that took in his whole surroundings in the federal building here.

"Sunday night two men drove up to my home and called me out. One of them said: 'If you tell anything we will bump you off.'

"About a week before Mellett was shot some friends of mine drove up to my house and asked if I wanted to go to Cleveland.

"I said I do.

"When I got into the car they introduced me to a man who they said was a Canton policeman and another man who they claimed was a Canton fireman.

"When we got to Cleveland we stopped at an undertaker's place and while they were asking about a consignment of liquor I sat in the rear room in which there was a blond, skinny fellow by the name of Frank.

"The 'Canton policeman' whispered something to Frank and the latter said: 'When are you going to bump him off?'

"The policeman said: 'Shut up! you fool! and looked hard at me.

"That was all I heard but I know now that I can recognize 'Frank.'"

This mystery witness whose identity has been carefully guarded told the story to a friend in Akron. This friend took him to Judge H. C. Pontius who in turn informed District Attorney Bernsteen.

Thus the mystery witness became the main cog in the case that Bernsteen has built about Mazer.

The mystery witness plainly showed the effect of worry over the death threats he has received. He said he has been afraid to go out of his home and has been too nervous to even eat and drink.

CANTON, O., Aug. 17.—Louis Mazer, alleged murderer of Don R. Mellett and declared by authorities to be the owner of the "ivory-handled revolver, that was used in the assasination, today will be asked by District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen, Cleveland, to tell everything he knows in connection with the crime.

While officials were speeding to Cleveland with the warrant, it was learned by International News service that two other arrests on first degree charges were not expected until Friday.

Evidence that is accumulating by leaps and bounds, however, may force the hands of investigators and bring about arrests before then, it was said.

Action, dormant for a month in the Mellett murder, today was ripping its way through a wall of mystery and political and social entanglements, and before the week ends at least two other men are expected to stand charged with the crime of crimes—murder, first degree.

They now face, according to officials conducting the inquiry, a mass of evidence in the crime that startled America and reverberated to the far corners of the earth.

Mazer, according to evidence gathered by Joseph R. Roach, Chicago, attorney; Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective, and by federal authorities at Cleveland, is alleged to have brought Pat McDermott and Steve Kascholk, informer being held here to Canton from Massillon about a week before the murder.

Mazer, according to the evidence, which officials declared today was corroborated by several reliable witnesses, drove the two men, who, according to the informer's story, had been hired to "get Mellett," about the vicinity of the Mellett home several times.

Mazer, several of the witnesses say, was seen in close proximity to the Mellett home within a short time before the fatal shots were fired. His automobile has also been identified as one that was seen in the neighborhood.

Warrants for the "pay-off" man and an alleged triggerman are expected Friday. Meantime other warrants charging several persons with complicity may be issued. Authorities however, were of the opinion they would arrest no alleged accomplices until the case had gone to the Stark county grand jury. They admitted, at the same time, they might be forced to go through with new arrests before grand jury action.

Mazer, the affidavit for whose arrest was signed by Michael Glenn, Indiana detective, working with Joseph R. Roach, was first implicated by Steve Kascholk, informer, who turned "cold feet" in the alleged plot, after, he claims, he was hired to attack Mellett.

When the news of the murder reached Kascholk in Cleveland, he consulted an attorney and then came to Canton, where he told Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective in charge of the Stark county inquiry, a story which gave vent to the present action in the case.

He said that he was engaged to "help beat up an editor" and that he went to Massillon with Pat McDermott, now wanted as the "key man" in the plot.

Mazer, Kascholk declared, brought the two thugs to Canton in an automobile, showed them the Mellett home and gave them their instructions about a week before the actual murder.

Kascholk, however, refused to go through with the crime and there is evidence that has been checked by detectives that has convinced them that there was a possibility of Mazer having taken Kascholk's place.

Mazer was commonly known in Canton as the "right hand man" of Carl Studer, alleged bootleg king of the "jungle."

Mellett, had, through his private investigating forces, gathered conclusive evidence of a powerful whisky ring and was about to expose it. He frequently attacked Studer, by name, in editorials of expose and condemnation.

Woman's Curse Hangs Over Heads Of Executioners

BALTIMORE, Aug. 17.—A woman's curse, bitter and from the heart, hung today over the heads of all those who had anything to do with the conviction and execution of Richard Reese Whittemore, the dapper bandit who went to the gallows with a sneer on his lips.

It came not from "the Tiger Girl," his loyal wife, who stuck by him to the end, but from her mother, Mrs. Theresa Messler, the bandit's mother-in-law.

"They have taken his life and I hope they are satisfied," she said. "They put a rope around his neck and broke it, but they could not break his spirit.

"I hope his spirit returns and will come between the lips of these men who did this, and between the lips of their wives, too, for they would not permit Reese to kiss his wife goodbye. I am an old woman, but this comes from the heart."

MAY SETTLE COAL STRIKE

Miners Conference Opens to Discuss Peace Terms.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The miners conference today continued to debate the question of opening peace negotiations for the settlement of the coal strike.

The motion before the conference provides that the executive committee of the miners' federation should ask the government to negotiate a settlement of the strike on the basis of the ecclesiastics' peace proposals.

The leaders of the miners are understood to be in favor of conferring with Premier Baldwin, but there is some question as to whether the rank and file of the miners' delegation are in favor of negotiations.

The situation today may develop into a rebuff for the leadership of A. J. Cook and other members of the executive

Boxing Commission Not Interested in Proposed Fight

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. — The New York state athletic commission will take no further action, in the law courts or otherwise, to bring about the much-discussed bout between Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and the chief contender for the title, Gene Tunney.

This was made clear at a meeting of the commission today when Commissioner George E. Brower declared that the boxing commission was an administrative body solely, and was not the aggrieved party to the action of the license commission in denying Dempsey a license to box in this state.

The fighter himself, or Tex Rickard, his promoter, Brower said, were the aggrieved parties, and it was their place, if anyone's, to bring mandamus proceedings in court to force the license committee to show cause why Dempsey should not be permitted to box here.

The three players were discharged by the Pittsburgh Pirates for alleged insubordination in asking that Fred Clarke, assistant manager and vice president of the Pirates, give up his regular post on the Pirates bench.

The meeting was being held behind closed doors, with only the three players, Carey, Carson Bigbee and Babe Adams, and club officials attending, in addition to President Heydler. Newspapermen were excluded.

Fred Clarke, around whom the controversy centered, Sam Dreyfuss, club treasurer, Manager Bill McKechnie and Sam Waters, secretary, represented the club.

MAN HIDES IN LUMBER HEAP

Penitentiary Guard Uses Strategy to Locate Prisoner.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 17.—Penitentiary officials today were pleased with the clever bit of strategy utilized in "smoking out" Ralph Peterson, 26, Cincinnati prisoner, from his hiding place in the planing mill within the prison walls.

Peterson, who disappeared Saturday, crawled out of his place of concelalment under a lumber pile Monday when he overheard penitentiary guards voicing their intention of "shooting mustard gas into the openings of the pile of boards."

Possessing water and several slices of bread, Peterson was prepared to continue hiding out when he saw the guards place a gas producing machine in the planing mill.

It was not until some hours after he gave himself up that Peterson learned he had been trapped. The machine was out of order and would not work.

"Hands Off Policy"

it was announced that government agents had uncovered a widespread revolutionary plot, and had arrested 50 men and women in connection with the conspiracy.

The seditious plot, which had ramifications in six states, as well as in the federal district, was discovered through an exhaustive search of the houses and living quarters of some of those arrested.

Papers and documents thus found disclosed full details of the plot, enabling the government to take the necessary precautionary measure to frustrate the conspiracy.

Among the papers seized was a revolutionary manifesto signed by General Antonio Vasquez and Colonels Agapito Vasquez and Jose De La Pona. The manifesto contained a call to arms and a disclaimer of allegiance to the Calles government. It bitterly criticized the government's religious policy.

General Vasquez and Colonels De La Pona and Vasquez are not active military officers, having been dropped from the rolls of the army last Dec. 15.

Chiefs of operations were designated in the manifesto to take charge of the revolutionary movement in the states of Puebla, Moroles, Michoacan, Jalisco and Chihuahua, as well as in the federal district. Police say these designations were dictated by the League for Religious Defense, which is conducting the boycott.

Will Rebuild Park

Park On Lincoln Highway.

A variety of routes will contribute toward the transportation of park patrons, including the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction Co., with its improved service, the Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad company, over which excursions also will be booked, the Panhandle branch of the Pennsy, and, in addition, the Lincoln Highway through East Liverpool and Chester.

Rock Springs Park—the real Rock Springs park at its peak—closed down in 1912 after excursions had been cut off and although it has been operated in a way up until the present time, it is now only a faint suggestion of what it once was.

Macdonald is planning the erection of a home in which he and his family will live, in a grove on the hillside overlooking the scenic railway route.

He will bring with him to Rock Springs his miniature zoo, which now includes several bears, monkeys and other animals.

Macdonald's operations this fall and next spring, while as extensive as possible in view of the immensity of his task in reclaiming the park, will be more or less preliminary toward the ultimate goal.

Council convened last Friday night in adjourned session but decided to postpone action until their regular session this evening.

Their attention recently was called to the fact that it will be necessary in the near future to make provisions for the care of the dam in Little Yellow Creek and it is possible that action will be taken along this line.

Ordinances suggested two weeks ago may be brought up for approval, as well.

FIND FLOATER NEAR TORONTO

Body Believed to be That of Missing Barber.

A body found floating down the Ohio river at King's, south of Toronto, yesterday, is believed by Jefferson County Coroner A. L. Bell to be that of Matthew Hilligan, 50, Toronto barber, who disappeared last week.

Coroner Bell stated he could not tell definitely how long the body had been in the river. The find was made by a number of boy campers who saw the body floating under the surface near the shore.

It was removed to the Mettenberger funeral home. It bore no marks of violence.

TRUCK DRIVER BURIED IN SLIDE

John Ford, a resident near Two Ridges, Jefferson county, a truck driver for the Ohio Power Co., was buried temporarily on Monday morning, along with the front end of his truck by several tons of earth that slid down unexpectedly from the hillside near Port Homer, below Yellow Creek. Workmen extricated Ford, who was nearly smothered. His injuries consist of a fractured right wrist and a gash on his head. He was taken to Ohio Valley hospital, but he will go home in a few days.

Ford with other employees drove in the work truck to Port Homer to see about line trouble. When they came to some new road construction at a hillside, the truck stalled in the soft earth and Ford got down out of the cab and opened the hood when the earth slid and buried the hood and cab and Ford with his head inside the hood. He was dug out as speedily as possible.

LOCAL Y. M. C. A. MAY TAKE PART IN CROSS COUNTRY RELAY RACE

The East Liverpool Young Men's Christian Association will probably take part in the 1,092 mile relay race —the second feat of its kind—between New York and Chicago, which will be run sometime during the summer of 1928.

It is estimated that approximately 12,000 boys will be potential contestants in this race from which a minimum of 4,000 will be selected for the dash against time. From New York city, the runners will go north through Albany and Troy, crossing the Hudson at least twice. Thence the route will follow through Buffalo, Cleveland, Adrian, Michigan; South Bend, Indiana, and other cities to Chicago.

M. D. Crackle, executive secretary of the boys' branch of the Y. M. C. A. in Cleveland, who promoted a similar race in 1908, will have charge for the 1928 contest. The time between the two points was 116 hours, 50 minutes and 30 seconds and was made 12 hours ahead of schedule. The swimmers crossed Cayuga Lake, New York, at night under the glare of bonfires built on the banks.

In the spring of 1923 high school students from East Liverpool, members of the Hi-Y club, carried a torch to Steubenville, where it was turned over to a delegation of youths from the Bellaire Y. M. C. A. This torch, which was carried all over the state of Ohio, was the symbol of light of leadership, inspiration and character purpose to others.

Hint Court Action In Quest Of Dempsey's Fight License

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Tex Rickard and that 2 to 1 majority in the state athletic commission will make a final and ultimate effort to force the Dempsey-Tunney match—seemingly an ample helping of fistic castor oil—well down the protesting gullet of the license committee today and, failing, will throw up their hands and surrender to the will of the great minority of two. They may have the law on the pair of them before nightfall.

At least, Rickard hinted darkly of court proceedings this morning, as he discussed, more in sorrow than in anger, the decision of the committee last night, whereby Jack Dempsey definitely was denied a license until such time as he signifies his willingness to accept Harry Wills—and none other—as a professional equal.

Rickard will not take legal steps himself. He took pains to make that point clear. The state athletic commission, it was insinuated, would be the aggressor, if any.

Up To Commission.

"The commission will take some action at its meeting today," the promoter said. "I probably will attend the meeting but, as far as I am concerned, the match will not leave New York; neither will I take further steps to keep it here. All I can say at this time is that the commission probably will vote to take the license committee into court to show cause why Dempsey should not be granted a license."

In brief, Rickard is maintaining a you-got-me-into-this-now-get-me-out attitude toward the commission, and if I know the man, he is not popping off without definite assurances from Commissioner George E. Brower, who invited the Dempsey-Tunney engagement on here from Chicago. If further action is taken today, Brower will take it.

A lawyer himself, he has the opinion of State Attorney Ottinger to sustain him in his idea that the license committee was not within its legal rights in denying a license to a man who already had been given official absolution by the governing body of boxing in this state. However, time and not the rights of free born Americans happens to be the big factor at this moment.

With the scheduled fate of the fight less than a month away, it was obvious that, if nothing happened to alter the situation today, or at least within the current week, the enterprise will gently but firmly breathe its last.

Can't Afford to Wait.

Rickard might postpone the inevitable by setting his clock back to September 23 but if he had to wait for action until the next committee meeting on August 28, he might just as well take a short snappy dive into the East river, for he will be all wet, anyhow. Besides, the Messrs. Phelan and Wear made it quite clear last night that no mere importunity, be it so eloquent, can soften them on this point.

They were so vehement, in fact, that Phelan forgot that, while he was insisting upon Wills' name on the contract, he had less than a week before declared that any name would do, mine, your's or Joe Windmills'. And while they were reversing themselves on this point, they went right ahead reading from the minutes of commission meetings in tacit complaint that the body had gone into reverse on the subject of Harry Wills.

There are three points distinctly humorous about the entire proposition. The first is that the commission has a perfect right to reverse itself, provided a majority vote is taken. The second is that Harry Wills, over whose interests all these men have gone to war, couldn't meet Dempsey in New York under any circumstances. The third is that all of them know it.

CHAMP STICKS TO TRAINING

Maintains Daily Schedule at Saratoga Springs.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Jack Dempsey, in training at Tommy Luther's White Sulphur Springs came here, is confident of the outcome of his projected battle with Gene Tunney.

"I'm sure the license will be granted and that we will fight in this state" he said today. "Just as sure as I am I will still be champion when the fight is over. Of course, Tunney is a hard nut to crack, but I am confident I can whip him. I am in fine condition now and by the tenth of September I expect to be in the best shape I ever was."

Dempsey has a hard program which he is following every day. Starting with five to eight miles of road work with his sparring partners in the morning, he follows with a light breakfast and a short rest period after which he rows a heavy boat five miles on the lake. A light lunch and another rest period brings him to his daily workout in the ring. Punching the bag, skipping rope and shadow boxing is augmented with ten rounds of boxing with his various partners. This program is followed in all kinds of weather.

Yesterday in spite of heavy rain during the morning and afternoon, he went through his usual stint. The bouts in the afternoon were witnessed by several hundred fight fans who are among the crowds here for the race meeting.

The champion is particularly fortunate in the supply of sparring partners who are with him here. Besides Ray Thompson, the boy who has twice fought Tunny and knows the challenger's style and punching system upon which Tunny relies for his knockouts, there is big Bill Tate, the giant Negro conqueror of Harry Wills, the Brown Panther. These are the heavies the champion works out with.

After Van Gilder of the Browns held the Red Sox to four hits, beating them, 6 to 1, Slim Harris squelched St. Louis, 7 to 1, in a seven inning affair. A case of fratricide marked the second game when Alex Gaston, Red Sox catcher, came to bat with the bases full and jarred his brother Milton, pitching for the Brownies, with a triple that sewed up the game.

RICHARD DIX HARD WORKER

Shows Real Talent in Picture "Say It Again."

Some time ago, thirty-four bruised and battered men dragged themselves from the Paramount Long Island Studio after two weeks of the hardest work as motion picture extras they had ever put in. These were the patriotic citizenry's leaders, whose business it was to oust a usurper from the throne of Spenzonia in Richard Dix's Paramount picture, "Say It Again," which opened a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre yesterday.

Dix was the usurper and "Gunboat' Smith, a prize fighter with whom Dix has sparred regularly for the last three years, his side-kick. Numbered among the battlers were half a dozen other fighters and wrestlers. The rest of the outfit were equally as tough.

The rehearsal and filming of the fight sequences, under Director Gregory La Cava, required two weeks of intensive battering.

First, the mob chased Dix and "Gunboat" down the Spenzonian streets. Dix and "Gunboat" fought as they retreated to the castle. From the vantage point of the top wall, Dix and "Gunboat" knocked their pursuers back to the street as fast as they climbed within striking distance. Finally on the other side, Dix and "Gunner" got theirs as the mob swarmed down on them.

But that wasn't all. Inside the wall, there were marble benches, a small lake and a series of steps. Virtually everybody in the cast took turns getting knocked over benches, into the lake or down the steps.

In addition to these tumbles, the pugilists, in the heat of the excitement, frequently forgot to "pull their punches," so that many a make-believe "sock" went home in earnest for an honest-to-goodness wallop.

Dix forgot himself once, and hauled off with a slub that sent Harry Cording head over heels into the lake. The result was, Dix broke a knuckle on his right hand and Cording nursed a sore chin for several days.

The studio doctor and nurse were in constant attendance, patching more than a hundred minor injuries

RICHARD DIX HARD WORKER

Shows Real Talent in Picture "Say It Again."

Some time ago, thirty-four bruised and battered men dragged themselves from the Paramount Long Island Studio after two weeks of the hardest work as motion picture extras they had ever put in. These were the patriotic citizenry's leaders, whose business it was to oust a usurper from the throne of Spenzonia in Richard Dix's Paramount picture, "Say It Again," which opened a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre yesterday.

Dix was the usurper and "Gunboat' Smith, a prize fighter with whom Dix has sparred regularly for the last three years, his side-kick. Numbered among the battlers were half a dozen other fighters and wrestlers. The rest of the outfit were equally as tough.

The rehearsal and filming of the fight sequences, under Director Gregory La Cava, required two weeks of intensive battering.

First, the mob chased Dix and "Gunboat" down the Spenzonian streets. Dix and "Gunboat" fought as they retreated to the castle. From the vantage point of the top wall, Dix and "Gunboat" knocked their pursuers back to the street as fast as they climbed within striking distance. Finally on the other side, Dix and "Gunner" got theirs as the mob swarmed down on them.

But that wasn't all. Inside the wall, there were marble benches, a small lake and a series of steps. Virtually everybody in the cast took turns getting knocked over benches, into the lake or down the steps.

In addition to these tumbles, the pugilists, in the heat of the excitement, frequently forgot to "pull their punches," so that many a make-believe "sock" went home in earnest for an honest-to-goodness wallop.

Dix forgot himself once, and hauled off with a slub that sent Harry Cording head over heels into the lake. The result was, Dix broke a knuckle on his right hand and Cording nursed a sore chin for several days.

The studio doctor and nurse were in constant attendance, patching more than a hundred minor injuries.

Following the development of petroleum production in Venezuela, the population of Maracaibo, the principal city in the old district, has jumped from 70,000 to 100,000 in the last two years.

Are you being bored to death?

MOSQUITO torture is quickly ended if you keep a can of Flit handy.

Flit spray clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use.

Kills All Household Insects

Flit spray also destroys bed bugs, roaches and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed, and destroys insects and their eggs. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

A Scientific Insecticide

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

Wellsville Bows to League Leaders at Smith Field, 7 to 3

Pace Setters Pound Two Hurlers For Ten Hits In Seven Frames

Meyers Touched for Eight Safeties, Waved Off Mound in Fourth; Two Blows Permitted by Kestner; Stoffell is Effective.

Out hitting their opponents, Chester, in an exciting City Industrial league contest on Smith field, defeated Wellsville last evening, 7 to 3.

Stoffel held the down river aggregation to six hits. He fanned five and walked three, but one of the latter being costly.

Meyers, who, earlier in the half beat Chester, was not effective in this contest. After eight swats and six runs had been made off him he retired in favor of Kestner in the fourth. The latter held his foes to two hits and one run thereon.

Twice Wellsville, in the fifth and sixth, got their lead off men in these periods on first base but in both instances they were caught between that point and second. Hancock was the first and James the second. Stoffel, rushing and covering the bag, had both put outs.

D. Manning lost a certain home run, when he drove to right in the fourth, by being slowed up at third by coachers, who did not anticipate a hesitancy in the garden at returning the ball. He, spurting, anew, was caught at the plate and was momentarily overcome by the course of speed necessary.

Evans and Wilde, in the absence of P. Cebula and Greene, played short and third respectively. Both, fast on the bags, acquitted themselves creditably in their new stations.

Hinkle and Kestner, arriving late got into the game in the second inning. The fast back stop played with a dash throughout the contest.

Lysle, with two passes and a single, had a perfect swatting mark while D. Manning, with a triple and a single in three chances, hit at a 667 clip.

Wilde, with two singles in a trio of tries, led the Chester hitters, though Evans, with a three bagger and a safety in four essays, was a close second.

A. Morris, at third, knocked down some hard chances and once, getting a pitcher's assist too late to retire a runner at his station, relayed the ball to first before the batter.

Evans tripled to middle in the first. Heckathorn walked. Potts drove a terrific liner to A. Morris, who, making a fine stop, assisted to first in time to retire the backstop as Evans scored. Wilde singled through short territory and finished on F. Marshall's drive that went through Hancock after L. McMath had quit, Greenspun to Dustman. Marshall stole second and went on to third on J. Morgan's bad peg. Wyant was out, Greenspun to Dustman.

Wilde singled and stole second in the third after Potts had skied to Manning. L. McMath drove to Myers, who threw late to third to stop Wilde, but Morris got the ball to Dustman in time to put out McMath at first. F. Marshall was hit and stole second. Both runners scored on Wyant's single back of third. C. Marshall walked. Stoffel went out, Hancock to Dustman.

Lyle, walking in the fourth after Hinkle had gone out, Stoffel to Heckathorne, scored on D. Manning's long triple to right field. Though slowed up by coaches at third he continued homeward and was nipped at the plate, C. Marshall to Wilde to Potts. For a moment, overcome by the long run, Manning lay prostrate, but laughingly arose with the aid of his teammates. A. Morris went out, Stoffel to Heckathorne.

Evans singled to middle in the fourth and stole second. Heckathorne sacrificed, Meyers to Dustman. Potts singled to left, scoring Evans. Kestner then supplanted Meyers and fanned Wilde. L. McMath singled to right, Potts going to third. Greenspun, recovering the ball, threw wildly to Hancock on second, permitting Potts to count. A. Morris, retrieving the ball, nipped L. McMath as he essayed to reach third.

With two out in the sixth Hinkle reached third as Evans booted his blow. He went to third on Lysle's single to left and scored on Manning's safe drive to right. A. Morris flew to C. Marshall.

After Hancock had fanned in the seventh Dustman singled and stole second, went to third on Kestner's retirement, Evans to Heckathorne, and counted on James' single. Stoffel then threw out Shipley at first.

LEAGUE O. K'S. ASHE VICTORY

Two Manangers Oppose Use of Imported Hurler.

The contest played recently between Chester and Newell of the City Industrial league, over which a question arose as a result of the use by Laughlin of Pitcher Ashe, a newcomer to league ranks, will be counted in the official standing of the circuit, going down as a victory for Newell and a defeat for Chester.

The league so decided at a long session last night.

Objection to Newell's victory was voiced, because, it was pointed out, the use of Ashe violated a rule agreed upon by the six club managers at the outset of the second half that no player was to be imported by any club.

Two club managers, John Fowler, of Turk-Nash, and Frank Riley, of Chester, voted that the game not be counted, while the remaining four approved the Newell victory.

Immediately after this action Manager John Fowler asked for permission to bring in a pitcher and it was granted.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The follow-through after the ball is a detail that is hardly accomplished of itself. The follow-through is the result of a rhythmic swing. An expert golfer would hardly be able to stop his swing short of the follow-through if he wanted to. The lack of a sweeping follow-through comes from applying too much exertion against the club at the start of the down swing. This start is made with a forward glide of the body, largely through the hips. The club follows after. Then you give it a sling—outward, as if you meant it to cut across the ball from left to right. This slinging of the clubhead then must be kept well within the player's strength. Usually—and fortunately—very little of it is required for fine results. This is the reason girls can often drive as far as men.

SAINOR STOPS LAUGHLIN, 1-0

Southpaw Lets First Half Champs Down With Three Hits.

With "Bud" Sainor back in his old-time southpaw form, Victory Motor blanked Laughlin at Newell park last evening in a hard fought City Industrial league contest 1 to 0.

The portsider permitted the West Virginians but three safe drives, all singles, the first by Parsons when he opened in the initial period of play, the second by English as he led off in the sixth and the third by Finley in the seventh with two out and Hunselman on the bags by reason of the pitcher's error. Then he fanned Ashe, ending the game.

Five men faced him in the first, three each in the second, third, fourth and fifth, four in the sixth and five in the seventh. Incidentally the capable twirler, batting in the cleanup position for the auto aggregation smote the ball at a .500 clip, leading both clubs with the willow. He had eight chances also in the field, accepting all but two of them. He fanned five, hit one and walked none. Outside of these things he rested between times comfortably on the bench.

Opposing him was Paul English, former High school athlete. He too was in rare form though he allowed twice as many bingles as his hilltop opponent. He struck out four and passed two. And he connected safely once off Mr. Sainor while accepting three chances.

Sainor, be it further known, scored the only run of the game in the sixth when leading off, he bunted safely and went to third on Hunselman's bad throw as he stole second and he counted on H. Strobel's timely single.

Finley, at short and Aufterheide in left for Laughlin, had no fielding chances.

Robinson accepted eight and Hunselman six of seven chances behind the bat for the two teams.

Over two billion smoked a month!

—how do you explain it?

Natural tobacco taste that's the answer!

IT'S a difference hard to put into words—but it takes no expert to taste it. Character; natural tobacco character, natural good taste—get that in a cigarette and you get everything!

For four consecutive years, Chesterfield has remained America's fastest-growing cigarette; over two billion are smoked per month. Do men want natural tobacco taste? The record speaks for itself!

Mr. Dempsey's Rest.
Farmers' Fairy Story.
All Cheerful Here.
Black Bread and White Bread.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

JACK DEMPSEY describes with affection two detective-sergeants from Chicago that will be his bodyguard, one at night, one by day, while he trains for his coming prize fight.

It would be a pity to have anybody hurt Mr. Dempsey, or, as he puts it, disturb my rest," while he is engaged in delicate and important preparations to knock out Mr. Tunney. Many in Chicago whose nights and days and mental rest are disturbed by bandit possibilities must wish that they were heavyweight champions and could have two picked men of the Chicago force to watch over them.

MR. HOOVER tells farmers of the middle west they need waterways and lower freight rates to compete with the Panama canal. Farmers in the Canadian northwest ship their wheat to Europe by water and save heavily on freight charges, as compared with middle west United States farms.

American ships, thanks to official idiocy and a desire to please Britain, must pay the same as foreign ships to use the Panama canal, and the American farmers were taxed to build it.

MR. HOOVER'S suggestion of waterways and low freight rates to the ocean will impress intelligent farmers as an excellent fairy story. They know, as Mr. Hoover knows, that the railroads will not permit the public to use its own highways for omnibus routes. Watch the railroads win that fight.

ANOTHER working week begins, [illegible]erful and big business very cheerful. Wall Street went home last Saturday noon in pleasant mood. That summer slump seems far away and "market leaders still lead upward and onward, like the excelsior young man in the poem. In this country there is nothing to frighten us, unless we frighten ourselves.

BELGIUM eats black bread, the king setting the example. Full power was given to the king, which is about as intelligent as it would be in a hive, to give full power to one of the drones.

Those that eat black bread are not men that save a country. Anybody intelligent enough for that job knows how to get white bread.

In the French revolution, which saved France from worthless kings and nobility, the work was done by eaters of white bread. The black bread eaters only howled around the guillotine, as it cut off heads, and later went to be shot when Napoleon sent them.

A GERMAN inventor offers to young ladies and others, for protection, a small apparatus worn on the wrist like the watch. A slight touch on your wrist by a person offending you puts that person out of commission, with an electric discharge of 1,000 volts at low amperage. You carry the battery concealed, and press a button to make the machine work. It would be useless however, in dealing with our "hands up" bandits.

It is planned to place the park in operation next spring. The new manager will start preliminary work, however, this fall. A landscape expert will be brought in to aid in restoring the natural beauty of the site. Work along this line will progress until early in the spring when Macdonald

United States to Maintain Hands Off Policy In Mexico

Appeals That Federal Government Intervene in Church Dispute Have Been Denied, Spokesman for Coolidge Says.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

WHITE PINE CAMP, N. Y., Aug. 17.—The United States will maintain a hands-off policy in so far as the dispute between the Catholic church and the Mexican government is concerned. The appeals of the Knights of Columbus in this country and others for intervention will have to be denied.

This was made known officially today by President Coolidge's spokesman. Neither international law nor existing treaty rights give this government authority to interfere in a purely domestic question, the Coolidge mouthpiece said, and the administration regards the church-state conflict as absolutely personal to Mexico.

The American government will confine itself to efforts to protect American property rights in Mexico, it was stated.

COUNCIL HEAD TAKES MAYOR'S JOB IN CITY OF STEUBENVILLE

Suspended Chief Claims That Removal is "Political Deal."

STEUBENVILLE, Aug. 17.—President of Council Dr. E. J. C. Sanders today took over the duties of mayor of Steubenville, succeeding John S. Patton who was suspended yesterday along with Chief of Police Blaine D. Carter, by Judge Jay S. Paisley.

Mayor Patton left the city hurriedly just prior to the filing of petitions asking for his removal. Before leaving he sent a letter to Justice of the Peace James P. Gavin appointing him a special city magistrate.

Assistant Solicitor Earl B. McMasters decided last night, however, that this appointment giving Gavin the reigns of mayor was nullified the minute Patton was suspended by the court action and that the head of the city council automatically became mayor until Patton is proven innocent or guilty of the charges of embezzlement and failure to do his sworn duty as contained in the charges.

Squire Gavin stated he would be glad to abide by such a decision. Acting mayor Sanders took up his new duties officially today by officiating at police court this morning.

Chief Carter relinquished his office late yesterday. One of the first acts of the new mayor will be to name a temporary successor to Carter.

Patton and Carter have ten days in which to file answers to the suspension charges. After these answers are filed the court will set a date for a hearing of the evidence on the charges.

"That will be my time to talk and tell Steubenville what a grand political deal is being put over on them," said Chief Carter.

The ouster movement against the two officials was sponsored by the Steubenville ministerial association.

LOUIS MAZER, 'JUNGLE' LORD, CHARGED WITH DEATH OF PUBLISHER

Prisoner Taken to District Attorney's Office, Where He Breaks Down and Weeps, When Told That He is Accused of the Killing of Don R. Mellett, Editor of Canton Daily News.

EVIDENCE IS SUFFICIENT TO SEND SUSPECT TO C HAIR, SLATER SAYS

Mystery Witness in Case, Whose Story Caused Arrest of Mazer, Tells of Trip to Cleveland Where Murder of Mellett Was Discussed — Claims Threats Have Been Made Upon Life.

FEDERAL BUILDING, CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 17.—Louis Mazer is as good as in the electric chair right now for the murder of Don R. Mellett, Ora Slater, ace of Ohio detectives, told International News Service today as he led the group of Canton officials and investigators into the office of United States District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen for the conference which will decide when the federal government's next blow will fall.

Accompanying Slater were Earl Hexamer, acting chief of police of Canton; George Armstrong, Slater's aid, instrumental in building up the case about Mazer; Joseph R. Roach, vice fighting attorney of Chicago; Judge H. C. Pontius, counsel of the Canton News who brought the "mystery witness" in the case to Bernsteen; and George Thorn, deputy sheriff of Stark county, who will serve the murder warrant on Mazer.

Mazer was brought into United States District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen's office at 11 o'clock this morning by United States Marshall George Stauffer. The prisoner was handcuffed. He had no intimation he faced a serious charge.

Echo at Accusation.

After the dynamic district attorney asked him a few questions concerning the operation of the liquor ring at Canton, the federal official leaned toward Mazer and said:

"You are charged with the murder of Don R. Mellett!"

There was a gasp of astonishment from Mazer. His face blanched. His features quivered and he broke into dry sobs.

At this moment Mr. and Mrs. David Mazer, of Canton, the prisoner's parents, who had entered the district attorney's office, rushed to his side.

"Louie! what's the matter?" they asked.

"They say I killed him," Mazer whispered in a sob racked voice, the whisper plainly audible in the stilled office.

"Oh, no!" the suspect's mother cried. She brought out her handkerchief. Both she and her husband wept silently.

Mazer, you killed Mellett," Bernsteen hurled this accusation at Mazer in the conference chamber.

CYCLONE, SWEEPING NORTHERN NEW JERSEY KILLS ONE AND CAUSES $1,000,000 PROPERTY DAMAGE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. — One dead, five injured and property damage estimated at more than a million dollars was the toll today of the cyclonic storm which tore through a portion of northern New Jersey last evening, jumped over New York City and turned into a waterspout at Glen Cove and Sea Cliff, Long Island. The twister sucked up the waters of Hempstead harbor and hurled a 150-foot wave against Glen Cove and Sea Cliff, smashing yachts and houses and felling 500 trees.

Leaving widespread destruction in its wake, the twister lost its force after striking the Long Island towns and continued along the northern shore to the eastern end of the island, where it lost itself at sea.

Although J. P. Morgan's Corsair and other yachts at Glen Cove escaped the waterspout, many smaller boats were smashed to pieces as a series of huge waves roared toward the shore, growing in height until the spout extended 150 feet toward the heavens, illuminated by blinding flashes of lightning. The gigantic waves then crashed down on a bungalow colony on the shore, flattening buildings, washing out roads and smashing trees and telegraph poles. The towns were plunged into darkness as power lines were severed.

As the twister passed over New York City, David Goldfarb, painter, was struck by a stray bolt of lightning. He toppled from a third-story window to the street, dying instantly.

The cyclone, coming out of the west, resembled a streak of black and white smoke as it struck northern New Jersey at 7:25 o'clock. Rain which accompanied the twister flooded the streets. In Ridgefield, N. J., the cyclone demolished the Morsemen community church and tore off the roofs of several buildings.

From Ridgefield the twister streaked through Ridgefield park, Perth Amboy, Morsemere and Palisades park, directly across the Hudson from New York, snapping off trees and telegraph poles and lifting roofs. Transportation facilities were paralyzed and roads blocked by wreckage.

A castastrophe was narrowly averted when a bolt of lightning struck an oil tank in The Standard Oil company's Bayway plant, causing a fire which firemen managed to extinguish.

The twister hopped over New York and twenty minutes later struck the Long Island towns, destroying at least one mile of water front.

Residents of the stricken areas were hard at work today repairing their shattered homes. In some cases their belongings were washed or blown a mile away.

DO YOUR SHOPPING IN EAST LIVERPOOL; FARES WILL BE REFUNDED EVERY WEDNESDAY AND FRIDAY

Salem Paper Urges Abolition Of State Primary Elections

Less Than 30 percent of State's Vote Was Cast in Recent Primaries—Many Electors Voted Blindly is Claim.

Pointing to the exceptionally light vote in the recent primary balloting in not only Columbiana county but throughout the state, the Salem News, editorially, advises the abolition of the present primary system.

The average vote polled in the combined Republican and Democratic primaries was only 30 per cent of normal in the state. East Liverpool, with a voting strength of approximately 8,000 cast 2,000 ballots, and in Salem only 1,200 selected candidates, a thousand of them being Republicans.

The same low ratio was maintained in practically every other community of the county.

The News says:

"This means that a very small majority of qualified voters of Ohio again selected the candidates to represent thier respective parties in the November election. And this in spite of the fact that candidates for governor and other important state offices, United States senator, representatives to congress and all other important county offices were nominated.

"Are the candidates selected the ones the majority of Ohio's Republicans and Democrats want to represent them? Will they, in every case, be responsible to the party which they represent in the event they are elected? The first question cannot be answered with any degree of certainty, but it is certain, from past experiences, that those nominated by a minority vote do not feel the party responsibility that they should.

"Lack of interest in Ohio primary elections is not new, but it is growing to such serious proportions that a remedy must be provided. Not many voters knew the qualifications of one-tenth of the 70 candidates on the Republican state ticket Tuesday. It was merely a maze of confusing names which greeted their eyes as they marked their ballots. Here and there someone knew something about one or two of the candidates, but another candidate might have been much better fitted for the office but the cost and the time required to put himself properly before the voters in every precinct in the state were prohibitive.

"As a result many voters throughout Ohio cast their ballots blindly for many candidates. And thousands of others not interested in primaries, remained away from the polls.

"Some have said that the Ohio primary law, and not the primary system as such, is at fault. But the same situation exists in other states. Voters all over the country are staying at home on primary days. The remedy lies in the repeal of the primary system and the substitution therefore of the convention system, properly guarded so that accredited delegates chosen by voters may select candidates to represent their parties in the general elections. This system with improvements over the old convention plan, is the logical and sane way out of the primary decline. It is used with success in selecting representatives for president and no one will question the fitness of candidates who have been selected by all parties in this manner for many years.

"Voters of Ohio demonstrated Tuesday their unwillingness to vote at a primary election. Why go on with a system they do not want and do not take seriously?

County Will Sell Town to Pay Off Delinquent Taxes

NASON, Ill.—Anyone with a few thousand dollars desiring a nice quiet town in which to settle down practically to himself should come and give this place the once-over.

The whole town, or about 95 per cent of it, has been placed on the auction block and is awaiting a good bidder. The county treasurer of Mt. Vernon has some $12,000 in delinquent taxes due and is going to sell the town to satisfy these debts.

Nason's principal industry, a large coal mine, shut down several months ago, and most of the male population were thrown out of work. Business slumped and with the exodus of many of the citizens, homes were closed and business houses felt the pinch until they also began moving away.

Then to add to the town's plight, destructive fires came along and destroyed many buildings. Taxes on many lots, likewise, are due and no body is willing to pay the treasurer.

Contracts for the construction of an automobile highway from Valparaiso to Casa Blanca, has been let.

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE.

Fortunately, Lou hadn't come in. She's said something about dining with Leslie. Bee undressed quickly and made up the sofa. She was sleeping there during the emergency, as Delia had only a single bed in the room. Before turning in, she called up their own rooms, and heard from Arthur's own lips that Delia was definitely better, though still suffering frightfully. So he was sticking. We'll, he'd better. If he should exhibit the first sign of slipping back into the old selfishness, a word to Fred would be enough. Curious how effectively a little primitive, crisp vigor could straighten out a mess like that. "Force never settled anything." Maybe. Maybe—

She put out the light and lay on the lumpy sofa in a glow. Why had she said next Saturday, anyway? Why not sooner? Every moment away from Fred now would be torture. And the nights would be long . . . She got up again to call him. Just to hear his voice and to float an idiotic kiss to him over the wire. And she said: "Don't buy a stone, Fred—just the wedding ring. Yes, of course I want that . . . .What, you'll wear one too? Oh, wonderful!" She'd have to say something to Lou. Something.

But when Lou finally came in, more preoccupied than ever, she found herself simply avoiding the issue. A cheerful little coward. Too much to unsay. She'd have to think it out. Let it ride—a day, or two, or three.

They talked, jerkily again, touching only the surfaces, while Louise was undressing. When the light was out again and Lou's long body stretched out (with a sigh) in the bed, Bee said: "Do you suppose there's a chance that those two will work out some happiness together?"

"No I don't" replied Lou. "Not a chance. You can't really make Arthur over. Sooner or later she'll have to divorce him. Probably sooner. He's had a scare. It's sobered him for the moment. But his habits are fixed. He's really just an epicurean experimentalist among women."

"Not a bad line, old thing."

"But marriage was what she needed. She's got it. He'll have to do something in the way of keeping her alive. She can make him do that. And she'll have her morale again. That's about all I can see in it."

"Probably that's about the size of it," mused Bee. Apropos of nothing at all, she suddenly wanted to laugh and sing. Incongruous again. She made herself lie very still and breathe deeply. Lou would be asleep pretty soon. Then she could float out into delicious reverie, half awake, putting together again in her warm imagination each of the series of incidents that had taken place during that amazing taxi ride.

"Oh, Lou—awake?"

"Sort of."

"Did you talk with Kapek?"

"Yes."

"Well—what did he say?"

"Nothing doing.

"Oh, Lou!"

"Amounted to that. Mr. Des Plaines could hardly wait on me for his next picture, but I must feel assured that there'll always be a place for a person of my talent in the picture industry."

"That's something."

"My dear, the difference between a general feeling of assurance and that definite contract is exactly five hundred a week. Now keep still and let me get to sleep."

For Louise, too, it had been a deeply emotional evening. Slowly, a quarter-hour after Bee went uptown, she walked over to the Square. Leslie had said he'd be waiting in front of the theater. Over the telephone she hadn't been able to make him out. He'd been abrupt and sparing of words (unlike him) and rather breathlessly mysterious. Something had happened—perhaps real trouble. He was out of work of course, and facing the long drought that summer presents to most theater folk. There would be some deep appeal to her sympathy. No escaping that. Her recent discovery that you couldn't long ride the complications of life with a high hand was bringing a sense of being beaten down that bewildered her. It hurt. And the deeper knowledge that love, when judgment is outraged, may linger as a habit, hurt her more sharply still. Undertow.

Nearing the corner, her feet lagged. She stopped, by a doorstep—simply stood there. But her thoughts weren't getting her anywhere. She'd be growing bitter in a moment, just vaguely, unreasonably bitter. There was nothing in that. She might better drift with these queer conflicting currents. After all, that was what most humans did, when you stopped to think of it. Planning was no good. How could she figure out what she might do? How could anybody? With a shrug she went on around the corner and gave Leslie her hand.

He had on his blue suit, neatly pressed, and a simple four-in-hand tie with the pearl stick-pin that she had given him only last Christmas. And she'd gone with him like a settled housewife in early March to pick out that suit. It had to be ready-made. Real tailors were luxuries. But Leslie's figure though tall, was of good average proportions, and the ready-made things always fitted him.

That moment, standing there before the Village Theater, looking straight at the man who had for so long been her accepted lover, was the most poignant of her life thus far. He still loved her. She sensed that in every nerve. And that pull of sheer habit was unnerving. Perhaps, in this queer moment, her life was shaping its course for good. The only strength that appeared to be in her was that arising bitterness. That thought was something, perhaps, to hold to. For she couldn't drift back into what is called love with bitterness in her heart. It would give the lie to her whole life. Or could she? Quietly she stood, saying no unnecessary words.

Q. How and when were glee clubs first organized? I. V. A.

A. The glee club which originated in some meetings at the house Robert Smith in St. Paul's Churchyard (England), commenced in 1783, at which motets, madrigals, glees, canons and catches were sung after dinner. The meetings were subsequently held at Dr. Beevers and other houses until, in 1787, it was resolved to establish a society to be called "The Glee Club," the first public meeting of which took place at the Newcastle Coffee House on Saturday, December 22, 1787.

Q. What was meant by usury in the Bible? R. L.

A. The word usury has come in modern English to mean excessive interest upon money loaned, either illegal or at least oppressive. In the Scriptures, however, the word did not bear this sense, but meant simply interest of any kind upon money. The Jews were forbidden by the law of Moses to take interest from their brethren, but were permitted to take it from foreigners. The practice of mortgaging land, sometimes at exorbitant interest grew up among the Jews during the captivity, in direct violation of the law.

Q. What is the title of the school for "baby congressmen?" G. C. R.

A. "Symposium" is the name given to the Baby Congress. It is a school for beginners where the new members receive instruction in the rudiments of being national legislators. There were more than a hundred novitiates in the last house. These are members who have not served in previous congresses, and who, presumptively, are not thoroughly informed as to what is expected of them in their new jobs. They could learn all this experience in the course of a few weeks or months, but William Tyler Page, clerk of the house, offered them a short cut to knowledge.

ALBANY TO HAVE 26-STORY STATE OFFICE BUILDING; COST $6,000,000

ALBANY, N. Y.—New York State is planning to spend upwards of $6,000,000 for a state office building.

A draft of the structure, which will tower 26 stories into the sky, has just been completed by Sullivan W. Jones of Yonkers, state architect.

When completed, the building will be the tallest in the state between New York City and Buffalo.

It is to be erected on a city block to the west of the state capital. Bids have just been advertised for the work of clearing the site for the new structure. The site alone will cost the State more than $1,000,000.

The Legislature of 1926 appropriated $1,000,000 to secure the site. The Legislature of next winter is expected to appropriate about $5,000,000 for the construction work. The money will be taken from the $100,000,000 bond issue approved by the voters a year ago for permanent public improvements.

All of the state bureaus and agencies, with the exception of those now in the capital and the state education building, will be lodged in the new office building when it is completed. At present state offices are scattered in all parts of the city of Albany, and the state, has been paying upwards of $500,000 a year rent for some time.

LYON SCORES BIG TRIUMPH

Plays Leading Role in "The Reckless Lady" at American.

Ben Lyon scored a personal triumph in "The Reckless Lady," a new Robert Kane-First National production which was shown for the first time yesterday at the American theatre. Ben's acting was a constant delight.

As a matter of fact, the entire cast, which is all-star, gave a superlative performance. Belle Bennett in the title role and Lois Moran, the 16 year-old "wonder girl," were close runners-up to Ben. So, too, were James Kirkwood, Lowell Sherman and Charlie Murray.

The film is an adaptation of "The Reckless Lady," the popular novel by Sir Philip Gibbs. So convincing is the the film drama, however, that one feels it was written directly for the screen.

Some of the finest scenes in the picture are those showing the famous Casino, where so many millions regularly change hands over the gaming tables.

The action is largely laid in the Island of Monaco.

For Ben Lyon and the rest of the cast; also for a splendid story, "The Reckless Lady" is heartily recommended.

Through traffic, the first since the beginning of the war, has been opened between Mukden and Peking, passenger express trains being run twice a week.

CATTLE DISPLAY AT STATE FAIR

Big Exhibits Entered For Week of August 30.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 17.—Recognized as one of the greatest combined beef and dairy shows in the world, the cattle exhibits at Ohio State Fair—August 30 to September 4—will exceed those of a year ago in number and quality of animals qualifying, according to officials.

When the immense new cattle exposition building was completed in 1924, it was believed then that the facilities provided would accommodate the cattle show for many years to come. But, in the dedication year, the entries were sufficiently large to show the Fair management that within a very short period it could be expected that the structure would be outgrown. Last year, when approximately 1800 animals were showing, it was believed that a mark had been set that would be eclipsed with difficulty.

According to advance entries, however, the 1926 exposition promises to pass that of last year by several score of head.

G. B. Warner of Wellington, is the Board of Agriculture member in charge of the cattle department. More than $31,000 will be distributed among competitors in this division.

As in years past, all of the leading breeds will be represented at the State Fair this year. Shorthorns have generally led in numbers, largely because Ohio was the first state to develop this breed and it is quite significant that most of the champions have come from within the confines of Ohio.

Coming into Ohio from the west, Hereford entries have made it possible for the Buckeye "white face" show to be the largest in the east. Ohio Aberdeen Angus and Polled Shorthorns generally receive much competition from Indiana and Illinois breeders.

The Jersey show at Ohio Fair is always equal to any in the United States. The finest imported animals from the Eastern and Southern states have been competing with Ohio-bred Jersey cattle. It is significant that there are more Jersey breeders in Ohio than any other state.

A feature of the show has been the Holstein exhibitions. The county herd classes have brought to Ohio State Fair the entries of the small farmer-breeders from over the state.

The Guernsey classifications has shown a remarkable growth during the last few years. In 1923, the Grand Champions of the Ohio State Fair were made Grand Champions of the National Livestock Exposition a few weeks later.

If Debts Were Canceled. How Is It, in Heaven? A Traffic Suggestion. War Unites Capital.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

EUROPE is interested in Senator Borah's suggestion. If war debts are canceled, reparations also should be canceled. France and England would modify the suggestion by making Germany pay the four billion dollar reparation, now secured by bonds on German railroads and industries.

WITH all debts and all reparations wiped out, German industries would have an advantage over all nations. The death of the old mark wipes out Germany's internal debt automatically, as the drop in the franc has almost wiped out the French internal debt. Germany has practically no foreign debt, since there was no easy mark Uncle Sam to lend her billions in wartime.

AS IT IS, Germany, after losing the war, is more prosperous than France and other nations that "won" the war. In Paris, German travelers, well supplied with money, arrive at the rate of 5,000 a day, staying on the average about a week, and outnumbering the British and Americans combined.

FRANCE is expected to suggest that all war debts and reparations be canceled, except the German reparation bill. It is suggested not too honestly that Uncle Sam might get the German payment of four billions in full for all his claims, if, as and when paid. If that arrangement were made Germany would find a reason for not paying. She is paying now because she is disarmed, and has the French army and French flying machines next door. Uncle Sam, 3,000 miles away, would not worry her. Every one knows that this country would not go to war to collect a debt.

AND if Uncle Sam did go to war against Germany, which is inconceivable, it would delight the sense of humor to see how our dear brothers in arms of 1917 would all side with Germany. How surprised the great and good Woodrow Wilson would be if he could come back and find all of the war's hatreds replaced by one universal and enthusiastic hatred of the United States. He little expected that when the king met him at the railroad station and took him to sleep in Buckingham palace, or when Italian enthusiasts put his portrait on the wall, next to Garibaldi's.

ON Sunday, 60,000 visiting the sesquicentennial exposition in Philadelphia, studied exhibits from many states and foreign countries, latest machinery, inventions, devices to increase happiness and diminish misery among human beings.

AND many sincere men and women believe that the 60,000 ought to go to hell, or close to it, for "violating the Sabbath." What do they think happens in heaven on Sunday? Are the harps silenced, the strange and interesting beasts, described in revelations, caged up for the day, the dignified and industrious elders ordered to

FOGO ASKS DISMISSAL OF EX-CHIEF'S APPEAL

PRETTY DOLLY CAREY, MAZER'S SWEETHEART, NOW CENTRAL FIGURE

Will be Called as Witness Against Jungle Lord Held by Federal Authorities in Death of Don Mellett; Investigators Believe Girl Will Tell All She Knows When Questioned by Keen-eyed District Attorney.

MAINTAINS LOUIS, ONLY A BOARDER IN HER HOME, IS INNOCENT OF CRIME

Other Woman is 21-year-old Lass Whose Identity Is Withheld While She is Recovering From Effects of Poison She Says Was Given Her by Canton Underworld Characters Who Said "She Knew too Much."

FEDERAL BUILDING, CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 18. — The spotlight in the Don R. Mellett murder probe was to be thrown on two women today.

One is a 21-year-old girl whose identity has been carefully withheld by investigators while she is recovering in a Canton hospital from the effects of poison which she says was administered her by Canton underworld characters because she "knew too much" about the Mellett murder.

The other woman is Dolly Carey, pretty sweetheart of Louis Mazer, now the central figure in the month old investigation.

Both women will be witnesses.

MAZER, ONCE STORE OWNER HERE, FACES CHAIR IN CANTON QUIZ

In 1919 a quiet, mild, courteous young clothing store proprietor, soft of voice, solicitous of manner and in every outward appearance a typical merchant.

In 1926 an alleged bootlegger, "lord" of criminals, Canton "jungle" notable, and a candidate for the electric chair in the state penitentiary at Columbus.

This, tersely, tells the story of Louis "Louie" Mazer, the lad who ran an "army" clothing store in East Sixth street, just off Market, seven years ago, and his plight today as he paces a jail cell in Cleveland, charged with first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Don Mellett, Canton publisher.

Mazer, whose home is in Canton, came to East Liverpool seven years ago, or shortly after the close of the World War and opened up a store where he sold army clothing, shoes, blankets, hats and other articles of wearing apparel.

The business prospered for several months and then profits dropped off.

The store was closed and Mazer went back to Canton and opened another "army" store which he operated for several years.

Since then Mazer, allegedly, became involved in rum running operations and now awaits grand jury action on Mellett's slaying.

Says Mazer is Innocent.

With Dolly Carey will probably be brought the German police dog, said by Detective George Armstrong, assistant to Ora Slater, to have been in the automobile several nights before the Mellett shooting when Pat McDermott, Mazer and Steve Kascholk, according to the latter's testimony, drove from Massillon to Canton to look over Mellett's home.

Dolly has thus far maintained that Mazer, who she said was only a boarder in her home, was innocent. She refused to tell where Mazer was the night of the slaying saying: "That's for Louis to talk about."

Investigators believe that the girl will tell all she knows when she appears before the keen-eyed, suave voiced district attorney.

Charges Threats Made.

FEDERAL BUILDING, CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 18.—Norman Clark, the Canton attorney on whose story the investigators pin great hopes in the probe of the Don R. Mellett case, faced Louis Mazer in United States District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen's office today.

Clark was to tell the story of threats made by Mazer "to bump him off" if he didn't stop talking about the Mellett murder.

As the hearing was reopened, United States District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen cautioned Clark that his story "had better stand up" or he

HURT IN FALL FROM MACHINE

Miss Mildred Kell, 18, is Patient in Hospital.

Miss Mildred Kell, aged 18, of First street, Chester, is in a serious condition at the city hospital as a result of injuries sustained when she fell out of an automobile last night on the paved road above Rock Springs park.

She is said to be suffering from a slight fracture of the skull, but is expected to recover.

She was riding in the machine, it is reported, with a girl companion and two boys when the door of the car suddenly flew open and she was flung out of the car onto the pavement.

She was taken to the office of Dr. R. C. Campbell in Chester and later removed to the hospital.

SHAKE-UP IN STEUBENVILLE POLICE FORCE IS EXPECTED

Acting Mayor Prepares to Name New Police Chief.

MAY BE CIVILIAN

Underworld Characters Reported to be Leaving City.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Aug. 18.—A general police shakeup loomed today as the newest development resulting from the suspensions from office of Mayor John S. H. Patton and Chief of Police Blaine D. Carter.

Acting Mayor E. J. C. Sander, following a conference with the city civil service commission last night announced that he will appoint an acting chief of police today.

Sander said he had his own man picked. Calling together of the commission was said to have been for the purpose of determining if an outsider could be appointed. It had been claimed that the acting chief would necessarily have to be elevated from the ranks.

Chairman Frank S. Grace of the commission said that any voter could be appointed and would be given a chance to qualify under civil service within 90 days after taking up his duties. Mayor Sanders sought this information intimating that he had in mind the appointment of a civilian.

Two well-known men were being prominently mentioned today as applicants for the chief's job. One was State Prohibition Inspector George A. Baynham stationed here for the past year. The other was ex-mayor George W. McLeish.

With the police shakeup in sight and a drastic cleanup in prospect many underworld characters were already leaving the city today. It has been learned that several vice dens have been closed since the new mayor took charge.

Kiwanis Meeting Tomorrow to Be "Novel, Interesting"

"Something novel and interesting," the Kiwanis club program committee announces, will constitute the entertainment at the organization's noon luncheon meeting Thursday at Larkins' restaurant annex.

Members of the club will be the principals in the program.

Plans are also under way for the Clarkson grange outing on Wednesday evening, Sept. 1, which will take the form of a ladies' night party.

Bellaire Mayor To Ask Resignation Of Police Chief

BELLAIRE, O., Aug. 18.—Chief of Police Clarence E. Corbett, once ousted and then reinstated by the civil service commission, will be asked to resign as soon as he returns from Buffalo, N. Y., where he is attending the annual convention of the Fraternal Order of Police, it was learned here today.

No reason was offered except that serious charges regarding conduct will be made with Mayor Floyd Conwell, if the request is not complied with.

Corbett was acquitted by the civil service commission of various charges recently after he had been suspended by higher officials.

Kellogg Announces America's Stand Regarding Disarmament

United States Will Oppose France's Plan of Reducing Defense on Basis of National Wealth.

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y., Aug. 18.—A plain spoken message to the world on America's disarmament policy was delivered to the world here this afternoon by Secretary of State Kellogg.

The American government, he said, is committed to and will loyally support any sincere and practicable plan for reducing the world's burden of competitive armament. But this government, he warned, will not participate in any vague scheme for reducing armament on the basis of each nation's national wealth and resources such as some of the nations, notably France, have advanced at the present Geneva conference.

Nor will the United States, Kellogg said, ever agree to the creation of any international agency which would be given power to supervise a nation's armament, or say when an individual nation was or was not too heavily armed—another proposal advanced at Geneva.

"So far as the United States is concerned," said Kellogg, the execution of any international agreement must depend upon good faith and respect for treaties. We will not accept supervision of any outside body or be subject to inspection or control by foreign agencies."

G. O. P. EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE WILL ORGANIZE SOON FOR FALL CAMPAIGN

County Auditor Elmer E. Walker, Damascus May be Named Chairman at Lisbon Reorganization Meeting.

A meeting of the county Republican executive committee is expected to be called to convene at Lisbon within the near future for the purpose of perfecting an organization for the fall campaign.

The name of County Auditor Elmer E. Walker has been suggested as chairman of the county committee, but Mr. Walker has not indicated whether or not he would allow his name to go before the county meeting.

"It is my opinion that the chairman and the secretary should be located at the same place," Mr. Walker said. "It is no different in the work of this committee than that of a business organization. Both officers would be in daily contact, and it is rather hard to have this close contact when a chairman is located in one part of the county and the secretary in another. In the matter of vice president and treasurer this close contact is not so important."

The time and place for the organization meeting is expected to be announced within the next two weeks.

MOTHER AND HER THREE CHILDREN, TRAPPED IN HOME, BURN TO DEATH

Heddleston Family Attend Kiwanis Meeting at Ravenna

Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Heddleston and daughters, Sara and Ruth, and son, Russell Jr., attended a joint meeting of the Kent and Ravenna Kiwanis clubs, held in a Boy Scout hut, just outside the latter city, last night. About 175 guests, including members of the two clubs and their wives, attended the meeting.

Mr. Heddleston was the principal speaker. Miss Sara Heddleston rendered vocal numbers, while Miss Ruth pleased with two readings.

G. O. P. WOMEN MEET FRIDAY

Meeting of the East Liverpool Women's Republican Club will be held in the office of the Standard pottery, St. Clair avenue and Broadway, at 8 o'clock Friday evening for the purpose of filling vacancies in the club's organization and also to consider plans for the fall campaign.

The meeting was called by Mrs. Ila Marshall Cronin, chairman of the club. All Republican women are invited.

Farmers in Scioto Given Warning of Approaching Flood

COLUMBUS, Aug. 18—Farmers in the Scioto valley between Circleville and Portsmouth, where it empties into the Ohio were warned to move their crops from the lowlands and to move their household goods if their homes are near the river, to higher ground, preparatory to a flood stage today, by Weather Forecaster W. H. Aleyander here.

"The Scioto is now at high stage, it will leave its banks late today. There is great danger of floods along creeks and other small streams emptying into the Scioto," he said in his warning.

Perish in Flames Caused by Oil Stove Explosion; Neighbors Too Late to Effect Rescue.

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 18.—Trapped in their house when an oil stove exploded, a mother and her three children were burned to death at Cooperstown, near here, today, according to word received here.

The mother, Mrs. Davis Beish, 30, her six-months-old boy, and two girls, aged 5 and 7, are believed to have perished in the flames.

Neighbors, attracted to the flaming building by the screams of a 5-year-old son of the family, who fled as flames enveloped the mother and other children, were too late to effect a rescue.

Firemen were unable to enter the building to search for the bodies because of fear that the ruins would collapse.

CONTINUE DRIVE ON AGITATORS

ATHENS, Aug. 18. — The government's campaign against anti-government agitators continues, further arrests being reported today.

Former Premier Papantasiu was taken into custody today, charged with sedition. He will be expelled from the country, it was stated.

M. Papantasiu's arrest follows that yesterday of former Premier George Kafandaris, who was arrested for inciting army officers to revolt.

In her first attempt earlier this month Miss Barrett came within two miles of reaching her goal.

STANDING OF DEPOSED CHIEF IS QUESTIONED IN NEW MOTION

Promotion Was Not Legal Chief Executive Charges.

NO GRADING MADE

Court Asked to Affirm Commission's Finding.

Asking the dismissal of former Police Chief Fultz's appeal "for want of legal title" on the part of the appellant and also that the decision of the civil service commission of Wellsville in the removal of the deposed chief be affirmed, Mayor W. L. Fogo today filed a second motion in common pleas court in the case which has been set for a hearing before Judge W. H. Spence next Tuesday.

The motion was filed by City Solicitor S. C. Luccock, of Wellsville, and also was signed by associate counsel, Cochran and Crawford, of this city.

Mayor Fogo, in the new motion, has raised the question of the correct standing of Fultz when he was promoted from the post of patrolman to that of chief of police, and declares that the promotion "was not made in conformity to the civil service laws of the state of Ohio providing for such appointment."

The text of the motion follows:

"Wallace L. Fogo respectfully represents to the court that at and prior to the appointment of the applicant, John H. Fultz, as chief of police of Wellsville, Ohio, the said John H.

GIRL'S SKULL IS FRACTURED

Weirton Lass, Hurt in Auto Accident, May Die.

Louise Godwin, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Godwin, of Weirton, W. Va., is in a critical condition in the Ohio Valley hospital, Steubenville, as a result of injuries received at noon when an auto truck driven by Alma Cissinger, 15, went over an embankment on the Hardin's run road, near New Cumberland.

Her skull was fractured and she was internally injured. Physicians entertain no hope for her recovery. The Cissinger girl escaped injury.

The Godwin girl, in company with her mother, was visiting at the Cissinger home in New Cumberland. Shortly before noon she was invited to take a ride to the creek in the grocery truck owned by Mr. Cissinger. They had not gone far when the truck, which apparently was driven too close to the side of the road, plunged over the steep embankment, turning over twice before it reached the bottom.

Miss Godwin was extricated from the wreckage in an unconscious condition and rushed to the hospital. Miss Cissinger, although badly shaken up and suffering from shock, did not request the services of a physician.

NETWORK OF COMMERCIAL AIR LINES, LINKING ATLANTIC WITH PACIFIC AND LAKES WITH GULF PLANNED BY GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—A remarkable network of commercial aerial highways, interlacing the United States from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to the gulf, is planned by the department of commerce as a part of the government's drive to develop commercial aviation, is was revealed today by Assistant Secretary of Commerce W. T. McCracken, in charge of the program.

With the approval of President Coolidge already given for the first two routes—the 2,680 mile transcontinental hop from New York to San Francisco, and the 987 mile distance from Chicago to Dallas, Texas,—work on the program is now under way. As in these first two routes chosen, the department will follow chiefly the air lanes established by the post office department in handling air mail.

Three aviation experts have been sent out to survey proposed national routes, McCracken said.

When the reports of the experts are received, McCracken said, plans will be drawn to extend government aid in marking the commercial air lanes. This aid will consist of placing beacon lights for night flying, markers to keep pilots on the lanes in cloudy weather and in establishing emergency landing fields. Stations will be established to broadcast weather forecasts.

"At first we will take care of the routes actually flown over now," said McCracken, "that means we will make commercial routes out of the all mail service lanes. We intend to keep the air mail going first and later on, we will extend our routes into all sections where commercial aviation will follow us."

Under this program the following two routes will be "commercialized." First—Transcontinental route from New York, via Bellefonte, Pa., Cleveland, Chicago, Iowa City, and Des Moines, Iowa, Omaha and North Platte, Nebraska, Cheyenne, Wyo., Salt ake City, Reno, Nev. and Sacramento to San Francisco. At Salt Lake City a line will extend southwest to Los Angeles.

Second—The "Southern airway" from Chicago, via Moline, Ill., St. Joseph, Mo., and Kansas City, Mo., Wichita, Kan. and Oklahoma City, Okla. to Ft. Worth, Texas and Dallas, Texas.

The next two government routes to be established, McCracken intimated will be the Boston to New York leg of the "Atlantic airway," and a "Pacific airway" from Seattle to Los Angeles. The "Atlantic airway" ultimately will run through Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Richmond, Va., Raleigh, N. C., Columbia, S. C., and Atlanta, where it will connect with the present air route from Atlanta and Miami, Fla.

In the very near future, the commercial air chief said, surveys will be made of proposed routes between Minneapolis, St. Paul, Minn., and Chicago and St. Louis. The former will go through Milwaukee and Lacrosse, Wis., while the latter will include Peoria, and Springfield, Ill.

As the mails develop, McCracken said, so will the government commercial aerial highways. Proposed routes now under consideration both by the post office department and by the department of commerce include a Chicago to Aalanta "highway" via Indianapolis, oulsville, Nashville, Tenn., and Birmingham, Ala. A Chicago to Detroit to Cleveland route, a Cleveland to Pittsburgh lane, a Cleveland to ouisville route, via Akron, Columbus, Dayton and Cincinnati, Ohio, and a Cheyenne, Wyo., to Pueblo, Col., highway, via Denver and Colorado Springs, Col.

The work of surveying the air lanes is now being conducted by Captain A. Raymond Brown, a World war aviator, who is mapping a route from New York to Boston. Lieut. Arthur Halsted, former army pilot, mapping the lane between Chicago and Dallas, and Lieut. A. W. Smith, a navy pilot surveying the Salt Lake to Los Angeles lane. Lieut. William McKenzie, another former army aviator, shortly will begin surveying the proposed St. Louis to Chicago route.

HEAD OF LABOR BUREAU RESIGNS

Resignation of George F. Daugherty, state labor commissioner, was received by Governor Gore, yesterday to be effective September 1.

Mr. Daugherty left Charleston last week to visit his home in Bluefield and the resignation was mailed from that city yesterday. In it he gave as his reason for wishing to leave office that he felt the salary was inadequate, it was stated at the governor's office.

Reports were that Mr. Daugherty planned to accept a position with the Norfolk and Western railroad, of which he was an employe for many years before his appointment as labor commissioner.

Mr. Daugherty has held his office for more than five years, having been appointed in 1921 by Governor E. F. Morgan at the beginning of his administration.

QUARANTINE TO BE MAINTAINED

Corn Borer Regulations Will Not be Lifted During Summer.

Two corn borer quarantine stations will be maintained in this county throughout the current season it is officially announced. One of these stations will continue to be located on the Salem-Lisbon road in Perry township and another on the Lincoln Highway in West township.

In combatting the European corn borer, state and federal forces have been combined with considerable effect. The county quarantines have been promulgated by the federal horticultural board of the United States Department of agriculture and the department of agriculture of Ohio to prevent the artificial spread of this insect.

Large containers have been placed opposite the stopping of all motor vehicles traveling out of the infected area and into these is being placed all green corn taken from cars.

Some motorists make objection when the green corn is taken from their cars, but under the ruling of the Federal and State Department of Agriculture, the corn must be "given up" or the driver of the car containing the green corn will be subjected to arrest.

NASH OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY

New Advanced and Light Six Models are Displayed.

Coincident with the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the founding of The Nash Motors company, Nash dealers throughout the country are staging an impressive introductory display of the newly-refined Advanced Six and Light Six models. The local dealer is The Turk-Nash Motor Sales, Dresden avenue. The heighth of development to which Nash has brought these cars epitomizes the phenomenal progress of the company since the day the first Nash car came off the production line a full decade ago.

Both from an engineering standpoint and with regard to the niceties of arrangement and appointment, these two newly-refined groups of Nash models evidence even more vividly the notable character of Nash manufacturing resources.

Their advent presages an even more phenomenal success for Nash in the future than has been true of the past although in the ten years that have elapsed since the first Nash car was marketed the Company has reached a position in the industry ranking fifth or sixth among all automobile manufacturers in the world and is enjoying an uninterrupted sales advance which for rapidity and continuity of business increase is outstanding in the industry. During the first six months of this year Nash sales reached a total of 78,133 cars as contrasted to the total sales for the entire year 1925 of 96,121 cars. And 1925 had gained nearly 80 per cent over 1924.

Both the Series now being presented to the public are powered by newly-whose conspicuous characteristics are improved 7-bearing crankshaft motors, extreme power-smoothness and quietness, combined with exceptional acceleration ability.

As regards the exterior appearance of these newly-refined models there are two features which immediately attract attention. First, is the artistically sculptured emblem of flying wings which surmounts the radiator. Next, is the harmonious richness of the new color combinations with which Nash has dressed these models. All of the open body models in these two groups are done duotone color combinations with the body molding marking the division line between the two colors.

The Light Six 4-Door Sedan which is the leader of the Light Six Series presents a longer, roomier body with an increased amount of leg room. The rear of this body attracts the eye because of its beautifully rounded contour and an important feature is the more costly genuine wood-frame body construction Nash employs similar to the practice which is in vogue among the finest European and American cars, instead of the steel-frame type previously used.

This newly refined Light Six 4-Door Sedan is beautifully done in a deep Mallard Green finish with black upper structure and black body moldings, both of which are pencilled with thin is also observed in the disc wheels, double stripes of gold. Gold striping The Light Six Touring car is done in duotone. Above the black body molding is a rich green-gray while below the molding the car is finished in lustrous double gold striping and the greentrous Lilac Gray. The body molding gray disc wheels are also traced in gold.

STATE POTATO CROP IS TESTED

Federal Inspection Made at Respective Shipping Points.

The first shipments of West Virginia potatoes in carload lots were made the week of August 9, mostly from the Ohio valley. The state department of agriculture, for the first time, was able to furnish federal-state inspection of the cars at the point of shipment and most of the growers took advantage of this service. They realized that with properly inspected potatoes they can go into distant markets with their products and compete with the best products of any other part of the country.

Interest in Better Wool.

The West Virginia wool growers' co-operative association is well under way with the receiving and grading of the 1926 wool clip. Grading has been completed at ewisburg and Marlington, which included five of the southern wool counties, namely: Greenbrier, Pocahontas, Fayette, Monroe and Summers. Approximately 60,000 pounds of wool were received and graded at these two points.

E. L. Shaw, who did the grading, stated that the wool was in good shape and graded up well. Only one fleece of burry wool and four clips of sissal tied were found in the entire lot from these five counties. This is an indication that wool producers are taking better care of their sheep and are putting their wool up in a much better shape.

A car load was received and graded at Harrisville and Pennsboro in Ritchie county.

Approximately 50,000 pounds of wool had been received at the Clarksburg warehouse by July 15.

The wool in the eastern panhandle, including Hardy, Grant, Pendleton, Hampshire, and Mineral counties, was graded at Moorfield. Berkeley county wool will be shipped direct to Baltimore where it will be graded. This arrangement was made in order to save additional freight charges.

Much interest was shown by the farmers in the southern counties as was evidenced by the large number who came in to see their wool graded. Approximately 150 farmers were present at Lewisburg and Marlinton. Many farmers also attended the wool grading demonstrations at Harrisville and Pennsboro as well as at the Clarksburg warehouse. Every farmer is urged if possible to come to his grading point and see his wool graded and get some first hand information about wool from E. L. Shaw.

Breathing

Houdini, the professional magician, accomplishes the seeming miracle of surviving an hour and a half in a six-and-one-half foot coffin, tightly sealed, just to show he can do it. The "trick," he explains, is to take very short, even breaths, living on the air in the coffin when the occupant enters it, but conserving it to the utmost.

By breathing normally he would use the air all up in a couple of minutes. By breathing slightly, he ekes it out and makes it suffice. It is the same as the food principle of short rations, by which men threatened with starvation survive by eating very little over a prolonged period instead of eating normally while the food lasts.

So it is proved that a human being, without trance, hypnotism or magic of any kind, can live for an hour and a half on almost no air. But it would be very unfortunate if this demonstration should lead anyone to make a practice of scant breathing.

Houdini was probably able to perform his stunt all the better from the fact that he is a man of liberal chest development and accustomed to deep breathing. That gave him the vitality and accustomed to deep breathing. That gave him the vitality and endure breath privation, just as a well nourished man might endure hunger longer than one ill nourished.

There are eastern fakirs and mystics who make a mysterious art of breathing, professing to get along with little breath, or to accomplish wonders, physical and mental, by their precise method of inhalation and exhalation. Whether there is anything in their claims or not, this much is certainly true for ordinary persons: The deeper they breathe, and the more air they get—especially fresh air—the better.

Air is life. The deep breather is the vigorous person. Swimmers, who need great vigor, always have big chest capacity, and use it. Miss Ederle is a good example.

Hooverizing Abroad

During the war, when Herbert Hoover was "food dictator," "Hooverizing" meant saving foodstuffs. Now the word has changed to indicate another economy more distinctly American, but sweeping around the world. It means standardizing and simplifying manufactured articles.

This is an old hobby of the engineer now in charge of the department of commerce. His present position enables him to work it for all it is worth. His efforts are none the less effective because compliance is voluntary. It is easy to show intelligent maufacfacturers how much waste and loss there is in making so many different kinds and sizes of lumber, nails, screws, saws, brick, pots, dishes, etc., when the public could get along just as well with less variety. So 57 standard recommendations already in effect in American industry have made big economies in the output of thousands of firms and are said to be saving the nation $600,000,000 a year.

Soon, it is said, our muffins will be made in tins of standardized shapes, our pies in standardized pans and our dinners served with standardized silverware.

Theoretically this reform might be carried too far, making undesirable uniformity. Practically, there will be plenty of variety left and plenty of differences in quality and artistic finish.

Now other nations everywhere are said to be studying the system and hastening to apply it. Europe is particularly interested. English authorities are saying, "Britain must simplify its industries." Austria, Holland and Germany are clamoring for the same thing. Another American idea is "revolutionizing industry."

Last Word On Jazz

Don't try to abolish jazz, advises Col. Mackenzie Rogan, a distinguished British musical director. It may torment the cultivated ear, and the lavish rewards of its practitioners may be resented by genuine musical artists; but for all that, it needn't be condemned off-hand, and efforts to banish it are futile.

"You cannot abolish jazz any more than you can extinguish the music hall song, the penny novelet, the chromo-lithograph, or any of the other humbler forms of art, so long as it offers something which gratifies the elementary artistic needs of the masses.

The people who drench themselves in jazz will surely tire of it in time, and then, music having become part of their daily lives, they may call, one hopes, for something better.

"If you cannot force people to enjoy good music, good pictures, good books, you can at least see to it that the best is ready for them when they want it."

This may serve as the last of many words on jazz.

Chinese Radio

A broadcasting station is being built at Mukden, China, to furnish information and entertainment for the Chinese. To pay the expenses of the venture, there will be levied a tax on consumers—25 cents on crystal sets and 50 cents on tube sets.

That should open a great field for this new art and for the business it represents. American manufacturers will not overlook it, though bearing in mind the fallacy of Mark Twain's celebrated scheme for getting rich by selling eye-water to "400,000,000 Chinamen with sore eyes."

American fans will start soon fishing for Mukden in quest of Chinese programs. That should satisfy the yearning for distance, at any rate. But how about having Chinese static added to the Christian varieties?

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17—Columbus Circle is to Broadway today the old Herald Square of yesterday—the pivot upon which the metropolitan carousel spins. It is a charming basis for pedestrians used to cramped sidewalks and the heaviest traffic point in the city.

One may leave it to emerge into the upper or lower Broadway lash of lights, or into the sudden cool night of the park. Or into the joust and jangle of 8th avenue. Or the subdued tenement district leading off toward the North river.

All types of New Yorkers drift hourly to The Circle and spill about in a kaledioscopic melange. It is a haven for the professional flirt, transatlantic pretenders, soap box propagandists, leather lifters, and the great army of the lonely.

In busy hours it requires about 12 traffic policemen to keep pedestrians and vehicles moving. It has all sorts of restaurants from white tiled hurryups to the sombre Chinese. There are innumerable shops sliced pie shape whose windows glitter with jewelry, fruit, flowers, souvenirs and the like.

In all the chiff-chaff there is the solidity of gigantic skyscrapers with offices of some of the most important enterprises in the world. Columbus Circle a few years ago was a mere "turn in the road" but with the building sweep northward its real estate became among the most valuable in the city. Nowadays it is always torn up.

Most of New York living above 72nd street on the west side drifts through The Circle during the 24 hour day. It is the starting point and wind-up of innumerable parades. Nearly every hour an ambulance careens in from a side street.

At night heavy lights spurt across the pavements and the effect is brighter than day. The hub-hub rarely simmers down until long after midnight.

I am told of a deformed beggar in Columbus Circle who has all pockets tightly sewed up and at intervals a sort of padrone comes up and empties the coins from the outstretched tin cup.

One might imagine a grass cutter would starve in New York but there are a number so expert their trade is almost a profession. They attend to the hidden gardens that bloom in the courts of private homes and apartment houses. Most of these horticultural activities are to be found in the so-called Fashionable Fifties although there are a number on Riverside Drive. One of the most famous gardens is that of Thomas Fortune Ryan at 5th Avenue and 68th street, and the largest terraced lawn and garden exposed to the public is that surrounding the home of Charles Schwab on the Drive—with its quaint sculpting in bronze of a puddler—symbolical of the steel king's humble beginning. There are many other vernal surprises in Manhattan blooming prettily with the finest flowers but they are not to be viewed by the bourgeosie.

One of the tenement uplift movements is to supplant threes and flowers for clotheslines flapping with wet wash and ash cans. But tenement dwellers show little interest. The sting of charity is there. They prefer to have their little window sill plants and most of them do—a rather pathetic effort of beauty to rise above the squalor.

Then there are the Lady Bountifuls impelled by worthy motives, of course, who visit the slums and experience an inward glow of righteousness but those submerged are rarely pleased with this idea. Poverty is bad enough, but to have it subjected to even kindly scrutiny is worse.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

THE OLD GRAZING PROBLEM.
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 17.—With some 185 million acres remaining in the public domain of the United States as the only free land in the country, the next session of Congress will give serious consideration to the regulation of cattle and sheep grazing on this land. For many years the cattle and sheep men of the West have stood vigorously for free grazing on the unreserved public domain, but many of them now admit that the range is being destroyed by overgrazing, and that public control may be necessary after all. The days of the free range are numbered.

After holding hearings in many western states, the public lands committee of the senate has before it a bill to regulate grazing on the public domain, and while the passage of any such bill is not certain, the tendency to regulation is stronger than ever before.

A fight between the Departments of the Interior and Agriculture about who should administer the grazing regulations has in the past assisted opponents of any conservation or regulation policy to keep the question at a deadlock in Congress. This difference of opinion still exists, but a plan of joint control is now proposed which may satisfy all conservationists that the public domain is to be protected and not wasted by a grazing control act.

Will C. Barnes, chief of grazing under the United States Forest Service, has managed the question of grazing regulation in the National Forests, where stockmen are allowed to bring limited numbers of animals, under permit, for periods of grazing, and the Senate has had the benefit of his experience as a public official in regulating the use of what was once a free public range. Mr. Barnes' testimony before the Committee on Public Lands has been assembled as a publication of the Forest Service, under the title. "The Story of the Range", and this booklet reviews the whole history of public grazing lands in the United States, and the various steps in control of grazing as the increase in population and in herds made free, promiscuous grazing no longer possible.

Ruined If Not Regulated.

Mr. Barnes is of the opinion that the remaining public domain of the United States will support a good deal of livestock if its use is regulated, and will be largely destroyed as a grazing resource unless it is regulated. He has ample evidence of the way in which over-grazing has reduced the grass production of the great semi-arid plains, until lands which would once maintain a cow for every three to five acres can not now afford a living to a cow on less than ten to thirty acres. The reduction of the forage crop on these lands has in many cases led to erosion of the lands and the complete destruction of their grazing value.

The remedy suggested by Mr. Barnes is to limit the number of stock allowed on the land in each region until the land has a chance to come back to normal productivity of forage materials, and then to keep a reasonable limit on the grazing. Under such a plan this great area of otherwise waste land may be made to yield a revenue of a few cents an acre to the Government each year. For the whole available public domain this would come to between two and three million dollars, and the cost of patrolling the lands and regulating grazing would certainly not be more than half the revenue.

Thus the forthcoming finish to the period of the free range is not foreseen without some useful aspects by the people most familiar with the utility of our remaining public lands. By regulation and conservation of the forage, these lands will sustain some ten to fifteen million head of cattle or the equivalent in sheep, for considerable parts of the year, and earn a little revenue for the Government at the same time. As practically all of the public lands left to the government are listed as worthless except for grazing, and as most of them would have been homesteaded long ago if they had any other value, this is so much to be saved. The cattle and sheep running without restriction over this range for a few more years would gradually destroy more and more of it beyond hope of restoration. Thus there will be strong inducements for congress to pass some sort of regulatory bill at its next session.

The history of the western ranges shows many previous efforts to regulate their use, but the Government has always clung to the early fetish of free land. Thus we theoretically have 185 million acres of free land in the country today, which any settler may have for the taking, but which no one will take. It is all worthless, except for grazing, and will fetch probably two or three cents an acre per year for that purpose. Thirty-five or thirty years ago members of Congress began to propose laws to save the gradually dwindling western ranges, but no bill to that end has ever passed. The cry for free grass has time and again been raised by the cattle men and sheep men, until now they are coming to realize that because it has been free, the grass has been in many places wholly destroyed, and in others greatly curtailed.

Will Supply Needed Funds.

Regulation will not only save a good deal of the forage on the remaining ranges, but will afford funds for fixing up water supplies and otherwise conserving and improving the range. In many of the semi-arid regions, small winter streams can be backed up by low concrete dams and made into lakes which will last all summer, giving a water supply when the streams dry up. Artesian wells and pump wells may be installed in other places, and by very little expense in providing water, large areas of the desert lands can be made useful for cattle and sheep.

The unreserved public domain at present is approximately the size of the State of Texas, and lies scattered in the 11 most western states. The largest area is in Nevada, which has 52 million acres of unclaimed public lands, a large part of which has never even been surveyed. Utah has 28 million acres, California 19 million, New Mexico 16 million, Wyoming 15 million, Oregon and Arizona 13 million each, and Idaho, Colorado, Montana, and Washington smaller areas.

These lands are surrounded by private lands, railroad lands, forest reserves, and Indian lands, and on all of these there is grazing, but always under lease and regulation except on the public domain, Thus only the public lands remain for the free lances of the cattle and sheep industry, who own no lands whatever and merely graze the public domain. Time was when their herds and flocks might go at will through all of the western plains and mountains.

The forest service now refuses grazing permits to owners who have no lands of their own and make no provision for wintering their stock. It sees no great hope any longer for the landless stockman, and does not care to rent the forest reserve lands in summer to feed animals which may be left to starve the next winter.

The wise stockman of the present era has a few haystacks not far from his winter range, and if he uses the public lands for some months, he is also raising feed at the home ranch, and improving his pasturage there. He may object to paying a fee for the open range which has hitherto cost nothing, but most of the cattlemen have come to agree that some steps to save the range are needed, and a little expense to that end may be justified.

So congress when it meets will once again take up the question of the proper conservation of the last wholly free areas in the United tSates.

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

A SORT OF CIRCULATING MEDIUM, AS IT WERE.

This story has the merit of being applicable to these piping prohibition days although, to the best of my knowledge and belief, it originated back in the Wicked Days prior to January, 1920.

An auctioneer's man had been sent to a household to list its contents. Nothing of especial interest, either to himself or to others, marked the course of his labors until he had progressed so far as the dining room. Here, following his routine, he proceeded to enumerate the furnishings in proper order, item by item.

In his flowing professional script he set down the tally in his book:

One mahogany dining room table.
Six mahogany dining chairs.
One mahogany sideboard.
One bottle Scotch whisky, full.

Seemingly, then, ensued a period when the appraiser was otherwise engaged and made no entries whatsoever. Then, in a somewhat straggling and uncertain handwriting, he scratched out the last item and concluded his labors for the day with the following quotations:

One bottle Scotch whisky, partially full.
One revolving Turkish rug.

CHAPTER FORTY-FOUR.

"I simply had to see you tonight, Lou." Though he was as quiet as she, her heart felt that breathlessness in him, and she wondered. "I'm going to buy us a real dinner. What do you say to the Ritz?"

"Oh, no, Leslie." This was a puzzle.

"Oh, yes!" He chuckled, and waved at a taxi that stood on the farther side of the square.

"Let's ride up in the subway, Leslie."

"Not a chance!" To the driver he said, speaking (she saw now) out of a muffled exuberance: "Drive up through Times Square and turn on Forty-eighth street to the Ritz."

Again, as they rolled up Seventh avenue, he chuckled. She said nothing, merely leaning back in the corner and watching the short blocks flit by. Once, when he took her hand, she drew it gently away. Whatever might be his tremendous secret, he was keeping it with remarkable firmness. It wasn't like him. His was an open, sunny nature. Always before, he had spilled out his thoughts like a child. Indeed, it was that childlike quality that had captivated her heart, more than two years back. She reflected now, sadly that she could never again experience that glow of happiness. Whatever might come to her,—and life, after all, simply came at you,—she couldn't hope to recapture that.

Her hand was on his. "No," she said firmly.

The taxi turned in the traffic lanes through Times Square, and then into Forty-eighth street. Leslie was looking eagerly out ahead. Her curiosity mounted into pique. Suddenly he leaned forward and ordered the chauffeur to drive in to the curb. Then he looked at her. His eyes were shining. She simply waited.

"Look over there," he said, "—that theater." He was fumbling in a breast pocket, among some papers there. He drew out a long envelope. "See that frame for the big sign? Electric lights."

She saw it.

"In just three weeks, dear, my name's going up there." He was excitedly opening the envelope. "Yes, ma'am! Going right up there in the electric lights. The biggest piece of luck you ever heard of. 'Sunshine Sue.' Abrahams' new musical comedy 'Sunshine Sue, with Adele Astor and Leslie Perkins.' Here's the contract. Somebody that heard me in 'The Gondoliers' told Abrahams about me. I sang for him Wednesday. He's crazy about me. Says he'll put me over with a bang. Of course he thinks I've had more experience than I have. But that's all right. I've got it in writing." And he shouted: "Drive on to the Ritz."

With a queerly grim sensation Louise, very tall and slim and graceful, a handsome girl, walked into the great Paris-like diningroom, beside the big blonde Leslie. The maitre d'hotel hovered over them. And then they were alone.

Leslie leaned over the table on his elbows. "Well, Lou," he said, huskily, "how about it? What do you say now? I've landed at last. The struggle's over. I'm to have three hundred a week. Equity contract. What do you say to that? What's in your way now?"

She couldn't say anything. Her mind, awakened at last, was working swiftly and clearly. She saw him stepping out into success. They'd surely like him. He was handsome and pleasant. He sang really well. There was no reason why he shouldn't become a matinee idol within a few months—even weeks. All that, she well knew, granted the personality, was so much a matter of clever exploiting. And Abrahams seldom, very seldom, went wrong. He'd be surrounded by pretty girls. And Leslie's was an easy, susceptible nature. He was no stranger to self pity, but his was hardly a heart to be broken.

The announcement—oh, it grew clearer every moment—came to her as a release. She had dreaded finding him a trouble, but this—

"He doesn't need me," ran her thoughts. "He doesn't need me."

"Lou, I can't tell you. It means just everything in the world. You've done so much for me." His eyes glistened. He was a nice boy. "You've done everything, been everything. But now at last I can do something for you. There's no reason left for refusing to marry me. Oh, you've just got to, I've got to have you with me in all this."

Still she sat thinking, very quiet. Yes, it was clear. It was her release. She took everything into account, saw all around and far beyond this moment, read his life if not her own. He'd soon be insisting that she give up her job. He'd want her to be the sort of homekeeping body to whom the roving actor would now and then return. He'd be jealous, and in time exacting. And so naively disorganized a nature as his would change swiftly under the pressure of success. Finally she laid a hand on his clasped hand. She could touch his hands now.

"No, Leslie," she said gently. "I'm sorry. I loved you, and I shall always be fond of you. I know now that there can never be another man in my life as you have been,—not in the same way, not with that thrill. Whatever may happen to either of us, I know that. But it's over. And after tonight I'm not going to meet you again."

It ran on, of course, into something of a scene. Louise didn't waver again. But it was a profoundly lonely girl who came up the stairs that night and into the dark room where Bee lay in a drowse on the sofa. She'd hoped Bee would be asleep, had thought of undressing very quietly in the dark and slipping into bed. Somehow she got throught those scattering bits of talk. And when Bee drifted off into slumber, which didn't take long, she lay awake, painfully awake, staring up into the dark.

Working Off Energy

A veteran college president says he wouldn't stop class fights if he could. His policy is to let the freshmen and sophomores scrap all they like. Here is his philosophy, delivered in his office while a violent battle raged outside:

"The boys have to get rid of their surplus energy and combativeness somehow, and if it didn't break out here I don't where it would. Probably it saves money that would be spent for bootleg liquor.

"I thing such fighting is really helpful, for it is actuated by the same spirit that is shown in football, baseball or difficult problems in class.

"I'm not afraid for boys who engage in such performances. The chap I'm afraid for in college is the one who lives to himself, who never mixes, who takes his pleasures and adventures in secret, and doesn't get out with the gang and get rid of the animalism that is in all of us."

Better be a class fighter than a booze-fighter. College rows and riots may wipe out many a besetting sin. It might be a good thing if this charitable, understanding philosophy were applied to boys more generally than it is by teachers and parents.

Brick For Brick

If the conservative party is returned to power in Canada in the general election in early September, its candidate for premier promises to support a "brick for brick" policy against farm exports from the United States. He asserts he would not favor this stringent policy against all imports from the States, but he certainly would try to "make it as hard for the American farmer to sell his products in Canada as the American people have made it difficult for the Canadian farmer to sell his products in the United States."

So long as there is a high tariff wall on one side of the line, its beneficiaries cannot cavil at those who wish to build theirs brick for brick on the other side. Yet the proposal is interesting for many reasons.

This is reciprocity, of a sort—what a billiard player might call reciprocity with a "reverse English."

Our Canadian brethren were very much alarmed, before the war, when Uncle Sam proposed a genuine reciprocal trade treaty, by which each country would welcome the other's products instead of fighting them. That was intended as recognition of the fact that this continent, north of the Rio Grande, was a natural economic unit. Stirred up by British influences, Canada at that time turned down our friendly proposals through fear that Canada's independence was threatened.

So the Canadians have had it their way, thereby perhaps inviting such a tariff policy as they complain of. Will they be any more successful with their present plans for hostile reciprocity?

Eventually the two countries, which handle most of their mutual interests so amicably and sensibly, may get together on some middle ground.

Fortunate Labor

Fefore the war, the cost of building in general represented 44 per cent for materials and 56 per cent for labor. Both were cheap, by present standards.

Since the war there have been fluctuations, which have finally steadied down down to figures which show a remarkable change. Last year the cost of the building materials averaged just about 40 per cent of the entire cost of construction, and the labor, 60 percent.

Materials have fallen from their war-boom level, but labor has not. That is what the figures mean. Building labor, on the average, is still getting wages as high, or nearly as high, as it did at the time of universal high prices and scarce labor.

Thus, of all branches of labor in this country, building labor is the most prosperous, and it shows no sign of losing its fortunate position. Skilled workmen in the building trades are comparatively scarce; construction continues with no abatement; occupations once seasonal are now spreading pretty well through the whole year.

So it comes about that many a white-collared man with a college education envies the fellow who builds his house for him.

Now For The Inaccessible

Lest anyone fear there is no exploring game left to play, now that the North Pole has become so crowded with flyers, let us hasten to mention Vilhjalmur Stefansson's "pole of relative inaccessibility." There's a goal to be tried for again and again, with no danger of ever exhausting its elusive charm.

At least, that is the way it appears to interest readers of articles on Arctic exploration. Even if someone did blunder upon that pole of inaccessibility, the fact would promptly end its inaccessibility and would necessitate starting a new search. Or wouldn't it?

Sure! It sounds a bit silly to anyone not up on these things. Rather like playing "Button, button, who's got the button?" with an iceberg.

Maybe, too, a hen crosses the road—or tries to, in these parlous days—for the same reason that people try to swim the English channel.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—New York will always show royal visitors a good time but will not take them too seriously. The town will fill the air with confetti, furnish platoons of motor cycle escorts, cheer, wine and dine them. But refuses to truckle.

Democracy gushes to the surface. The Prince of Wales found it on every hand. He was not addressed as "His Royal Highness" save at most formal gatherings. Reporters called him "Prince," plied him with questions, offered him cigarettes and went their way.

If he kept them waiting too long, they sent polite but firm notes asking his presence. It is related that one scribe, the morning following a rather late party, greeted the Prince with: "How does the old head feel today?" And the Prince chuckled.

A Maharajah arriving one Saturday sent his secretary to tell the reporters he would receive them the following Tuesday afternoon at 4. And they laughed heartily, too—what with two hours before the next addition.

They simply "crashed the gate" and sat down in the bed room until the mystified Maharajah came out of his bath. Discovering he spoke fluent English they told him coldly that they were not used to such treatment and the potentate unlimbered.

On the recent visit of the Crown Prince and Princess of Sweden a gay little tabloid headlined it with: "Big Swede and Swedie Arrive." No disrespect was intended. It is said the Prince enjoyed most of all a typical business man's serve yourself luncheon.

A nation that refers democratically and respectfully to its chief executive as "Cal" refuses to submit to a hypocritical cringe at a flash of purple. New York's attitude toward royalty is kindly but bluff which is as it should be perhaps. Gloria's Marquis is still "Hank" by the way.

A harried pants maker discovered his $100,000 note at the bank could not be met. He went to the banker who was as indignant as obdurate over a request for more time.

"Have you ever been a banker?" he asked.

"No," was the reply and the borrower inquired: "Have you ever been a pants manufacturer?"

"No!"

"Well you will be tomorrow."

Millions for improvement of Central Park is good news for New Yorker for this breathing spot so near the great heart beat of a city was growing shabby. The park offers a pleasant relief from the incoherent thunder with wisteria bowers, sheep meadows, expansive mall, smooth lakes and cool graveled paths. It came nearly being turned over to the city once for building expansion. Roosevelt I believe saved it.

At dusk the thin, cool lance of the obelisk in Central Park is one of the most beautiful sights in the city. It was carted from Egypt where it had endured for centuries.

Three girls were allotted unusual space in the headlines during the past year for high jinks in stage nudity are now in almost complete obscurity. One was found in a cheap burlesque hall, another hunting vainly for a job and the third tried to end it all with poison.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Cost of Living Drops.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 18. — The flood of statistics about the economic condition of the United States, gathered by various agencies of the Government and usually based on the fiscal year ending June 30, is about to be offered to the public as the various reports up to June 30, 1926, are assembled and tabulated in the federal departments at Washington.

Perhaps the most important figures so far made public come from the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor, and demonstrate that for the first time in some years there is a decrease in the average cost of living in large cities.

This decrease is not for the fiscal year, however, but for the first six months of 1926, or the last six months of the fiscal year ending June 30. Since the report so far compiled covers 32 principal cities in all sections of the country, and a decrease is noted in 31 of these cities, it is safe to assume that this decrease is general and will be reflected in additional reports that may be accumulated. Without considering any other factors in the economic life of the country, such as wages, crops, exports, production, money rates, and so on, it is therefore possible to assert that the increase in cost of living has at least reached a temporary halt.

The exact figures from 32 large cities show the following facts about living costs: Increase since 1913, average 74.8 per cent; increase since 1920, average 19.3 per cent; increase, June 1925, to June, 1926, 0.3 per cent; decrease, December, 1925, to June, 1926, 1.7 per cent.

The Department of Labor does not pretend to predict whether or not living costs have been permanently stabilized, but the figures indicate some tendency in that direction. Neither does the Department make any effort to assay the facts about living costs in terms of general prosperity. Data from other sources are necessary to make any such estimate. The Bureau of Labor Statistics merely assembles price facts and determines the price index on basic commodities which the average family requires. Primarily these commodities are classified as food, clothing, fuel, and light, house furnishing goods, and miscellaneous necessities.

Accompanies Prosperity.

It is worth noting, however, that the slight decrease in living costs has been registered during an era of general large prosperity, and that reports from the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Commerce reflecting crop conditions and manufacturing conditions do not foreshadow any material decline in the prosperous condition of the country generally. The stock and bond markets are also in thriving condition, and from no source is there any cause to assume that the margin of lowered living costs is any indication of poor business.

Such being the case, economists in the government service are inclined to attribute the check in the rising price levels to such circumstances as the lowering of federal taxes and consequent release of more money into channels of productive effort, and to the tendency of building in the larger cities to catch up the housing demand, and of manufacture and distribution to catch up with the buying demand incident to a number of years of general prosperity.

The fact that our export trade continues to increase in most lines is perhaps the surest indication that stabilizing prices at home does not indicate a slump in business. Automobiles, for example, have shown a steady tendency to come down in price, and this tendency, covering the whole field of cars, busses, and trucks, probably has a favorable effect on living costs. At the same time production goes steadily forward in all lines of motor transport. The recent announcement of the increased earnings of General Motors, the largest manufacturing group in the motor trades, which places that one concern in the class with United tSates Steel as a major industrial success, can not cause anybody to be alarmed about our prosperity, although unit prices may be tending downward.

In the same way the export trade in motor cars for the first six months of 1926 went steadily upward, this being the same period that showed our national living costs taking their first downward step in some years. Automotive exports for the six months ending June 30, increased 9.4 per cent over the same period for 1925; the in-

THE FAULT OF THE CLIMATE

It has been a good many years now—ten or twelve, anyhow—since an enterprising promoter undertook to put on in Greater New York a colorable imitation of a Frontier Days celebration and round-up, such as are institutions at Cheyenne, Wyo., and Pendleton, Ore., and other far western towns. His intentions were good and his plans were ambitious, but he failed to reckon into the proposition the fact that the average New Yorker hadn't the faintest idea what the thing was all about, and thereupon failed to attend the show.

The lamentable result was that the enterprise collapsed. The champion punchers and busters and ropers of the West, who had been drawn across the continent by the promise of good pay and fat prizes, were left stranded in the great city to make their way back home as best they could.

I happened to know one of the disappointed outfit. I had met him years before on an Arizona ranch. One hot summer afternoon I met him as he went chunking along Park row in his high heeled boots and his buckaroo hat and invited him into a life saving station in the World building. There, over cooling libations, I asked him for the details of his disastrous experience on the occasion of this, his first, visit to the Eastern seaboard.

"Well," he said, in his gorgeous drawl, "I had it worse than some of the boys did. Bein' busted here ain't the only thing that's happened to me. On the second day of the show, in the ropin' contest, my pony fell with me, and then she rolled over on me and mussed me up right sharply—cracked a couple of ribs for me and split my upper lip here so the doctor had to take three or four stitches in it, and loosened up a bunch of front teeth. Well, that wasn't so bad. What really made me sore is that two days later I goes into the bull-doggin' contest and wins first prize, and that very night the show busts up and I can't collect the money that was comin' to me."

"Do you mean to tell me," I said, "that with two of your ribs fractured and your face ripped open you went into the bull-dogging event within two days after sustaining those injuries?"

"Sure," said the simple child of nature, "why not? I was entered for it, wasn't I?"

"But didn't you suffer constant pain?" I asked. "I wonder how you could get about?"

"Well," he said, "somethin' did keep on botterin' me, but I figgered it was this here damn New York climate."

Merchant Shipping Of World Increasing; Lloyd's Give Figures

LONDON.—The merchant shipping of the world has increased by 17,268,000 tons gross since June 1914, according to the 1926-27 edition of Lloyd's Register of Shipping published here.

Statistics for the past 12 months show that there has been an immense development in the use of steam turbine engines and of internal combustion engines, while the United States and Japan lead the world in motor ships.

Britain still leads the rest of the world with the greatest merchant tonnage, with the United States following a close second.

PIRATE PROBLEM IS THRESHED OUT

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—The possibility that Max Carey, deposed captain, may remain with the Pittsburgh Pirates, was expressed on all sides here today prior to the meeting of John A. Heydler, president of the National league, with Pirate officials and the three players discharged recently for alleged insubordination.

Taking cognizance of Carey's 14 years in organized baseball during which no charge of any kind had been preferred against him before the attempt of the three players to keep Fred Clarke, assistant manager, off the Pirates' bench, Heydler indicated that all phases of the affair will be thoroughly probed. The conference was called for 11 o'clock this morning.

The captain and crew of the tug which was to have accompanied Miss Gleitzer refused to put out into the heavy sea.

Ohio River Rises As Heavy Rains Continue to Fall

CINCINNATI, Aug. 17.—Heavy rains during the last two weeks throughout the Ohio valley intermittent with only short periods of sunshine have brought the stage of the Ohio river and the Little Miami to dangerous high water levels.

The water today was still rising following heavy rains early this morning, occupants of summer cottage colonies along the Little Miami were deserting them for higher ground and orders had gone out in camps along the waterways to keep all off the water.

Delay to shipping and passenger service on the Ohio was experienced as result of the extra flood poured into the channel. The big river was out of control of wikets and dams and ships which have to be moved through locks around the dams were tied up waiting for the water to subside.

GIRL ABANDONS CHANNEL SWIM

Girl Leaves Water When Overwhelmed by Storm.

CAPE GRIS NEZ, France, Aug. 17.—Miss Lillian Cannon, another American woman swimmer, was forced to acknowledge defeat today when overwhelmed with a heavy rain and electrical storm which made her further progress in swimming across the English channel impossible and rendered the accompanying tug Alsace unmanageable. The tug captain refused to continue the crossing in the face of the storm.

Miss Cannon was taken from the water at 3:30 o'clock this morning. The storm was threatening when she took off from here on her schedule time of 12:48 o'clock. At 2:25 after she had covered a distance of three miles, the storm broke, but the plucky girl refused to give up her attempt.

During the next hour she progressed another mile with the greatest difficulty, and consented to be taken aboard the tug only when the captain refused to take the responsibility for proceeding any further as the tug was fast becoming unmanageable in the heavy seas.

Aboard the tug were Wideman, Miss Cannon's own trainer, Burgess, Gertrude Ederle's trainer, Wolfe, Helmy, and Egyptian swimmer, Mme. Sion, and the German, Kemmerick, the latter three all channel aspirants.

Miss Cannon announced that she will make another attempt to swim the channel starting either next Friday or Saturday, early in the morning.

Farm Hand Will Face Murder Charge On September 15

COSHOCTON, Ohio, Aug. 17.—Robert F. Thompson, 52-year-old Missouri farm hand, who has confessed the murder of 10-year-old Gertrude D'Ostroph will go on trial for his life here on September 15.

Common Pleas Judge James Glenn set the date late yesterday following Thompson's plea of not guilty when arraigned on a first degree murder indictment. Thompson was cool until the indictment was read when he leaned forward and nervously thumped the top of the table.

Sheriff Harold Marquard has received Thompson's photographs and prison records from the state prison at Lansing, Kansas, showing that Thompson served for assault with intent to kill from December 12, 1910, to February 19, 1913.

Cleveland Man, Accused of Murder Shot to Death

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17.—The bullet riddled body of Philip Catalano, 37, was found at Richmond and Clubside roads, Lyndhurst village, early today.

Catalano was under $20,000 bond pending a hearing tomorrow in police court on a charge of killing Pat Culofia, 31, on August 2, last.

Police expressed the belief that Catalano was slain in revenge, having undoubtedly been taken "for a ride" by friends of his victim. An abandoned car standing beside the body gave color to the police theory.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 17.—Ohio police chiefs opened their annual three-day convention here today. The delegates were to discuss today the suspensions of four of their members: Chief A. S. Lengel, of Canton; Chief R. V. Putman, of Marietta; Chief Berney Gillen, of Warren, and Chief Blaine Carter, of Steubenville.

There was some talk of passing a resolution asking fair play for the chiefs under fire.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Under the influence of an additional increase of $31,600,000 in brokers' loans for the week of August 11, reported at the close of yesterday's session, and offering additional evidence of the expansion of speculative buying, the stock market was slightly reactionary in the early trading today, particularly the high-priced industrials and specialties which led Monday's closing rally.

New forward moves were started in a number of the prominent railroad stocks, under the lead of Rock Island. The Southwestern merger group was fairly active and strong, with cotton belt continuing its upward movement; Northwestern rails received more than usual attention, particularly Great Northern and Northern Pacific. Copper stocks held all of their gains, and American Smelting displayed conspicuous strength, selling in good volume above 151.

The new increase in brokers' borrowings makes a gain of $117,000,000 in two weeks, a pace which was considered a little too rapid by the conservative element in Wall street. Taken in conjunction with the recent withdrawal of about $100,000,000 from the speculative market by the interior banks and the increase in the federal reserve rediscount rate here to 4 per cent, it indicated the prospect of a curtailment of funds for stock market manipulation in the near future. Meanwhile the call loan rate was unchanged at 4½ per cent.

Industrial stocks milled around with little apparent change in the first hour after the offerings of the professionals had been absorbed.

Valentino, Screen "Sheik" Recovering From Operation

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Rudolph Valentino was apparently rallying from his critical illness today.

Attending physicians announced that the famous screen "sheik" spent a restful night at Polyclinic hospital and that there had been no developments that would warrant undue anxiety.

Valentino, who had been reported as very ill following a double operation on Sunday for gastric ulcer and appendicitis, is not regarded as out of danger, however. At 10:30 this morning, attending physicians issued this bulletin:

"Mr. Valentino passed a fairly comfortable night. There has been no change to cause undue anxiety. Temperature 101.5, pulse 100, respiration 22."

Spencer suffered a sunstroke four years ago and shortly after disappeared. He returned home a month later, unable to tell where he had been, suffering a complete loss of memory. The recent heat wave was believed to have brought a relapse and his disappearance while at work Monday is believed to be another attack.

Murder Suspect Arrested

will tell you I didn't," the prisoner cried.

"Who are your pals?" Bernsteen asked. "If they know you didn't kill Mellett, they know who did."

Mazer refused to name his pals.

"I've got you Mazer and even if you don't go to the chair for that murder you are going to do time for that carload of liquor you and Carl Studer brought to Canton from Detroit."

"Studer is now in jail."

This was the first knowledge Mazer had of Studer's arrest.

Studer Defends Pal.

Studer, debonair and dressed as if going to a dance, was brought into the conference room and confronted with Mazer.

"Carl, please tell them I didn't kill Mellett," Mazer implored. "Please tell them."

Breaking down at Mazer's impassionate plea, Studer turned to Bernsteen and said: "Louis is innocent."

Mazer was then taken into Bernsteen's office where the other investigators were waiting to question him. Studer was put in a cell in the marshal's office.

Mystery Witness Talks.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 17. — The mystery witness whose testimony may send the slayer of Don R. Mellett to the electric chair, broke his silence today in an exclusive interview with International News Service.

"I am afraid to say anything," he said with a shifty glance that took in his whole surroundings in the federal building here.

"Sunday night two men drove up to my home and called me out. One of them said: 'If you tell anything we will bump you off.'

"About a week before Mellett was shot some friends of mine drove up to my house and asked if I wanted to go to Cleveland.

"I said I do.

"When I got into the car they introduced me to a man who they said was a Canton policeman and another man who they claimed was a Canton fireman.

"When we got to Cleveland we stopped at an undertaker's place and while they were asking about a consignment of liquor I sat in the rear room in which there was a blond, skinny fellow by the name of Frank.

"The 'Canton policeman' whispered something to Frank and the latter said: 'When are you going to bump him off?'

"The policeman said: 'Shut up! you fool! and looked hard at me.

"That was all I heard but I know now that I can recognize 'Frank.'"

This mystery witness whose identity has been carefully guarded told the story to a friend in Akron. This friend took him to Judge H. C. Pontius who in turn informed District Attorney Bernsteen.

Thus the mystery witness became the main cog in the case that Bernsteen has built about Mazer.

The mystery witness plainly showed the effect of worry over the death threats he has received. He said he has been afraid to go out of his home and has been too nervous to even eat and drink.

CANTON, O., Aug. 17.—Louis Mazer, alleged murderer of Don R. Mellett and declared by authorities to be the owner of the "ivory-handled revolver, that was used in the assasination, today will be asked by District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen, Cleveland, to tell everything he knows in connection with the crime.

While officials were speeding to Cleveland with the warrant, it was learned by International News service that two other arrests on first degree charges were not expected until Friday.

Evidence that is accumulating by leaps and bounds, however, may force the hands of investigators and bring about arrests before then, it was said.

Action, dormant for a month in the Mellett murder, today was ripping its way through a wall of mystery and political and social entanglements, and before the week ends at least two other men are expected to stand charged with the crime of crimes—murder, first degree.

They now face, according to officials conducting the inquiry, a mass of evidence in the crime that startled America and reverberated to the far corners of the earth.

Mazer, according to evidence gathered by Joseph R. Roach, Chicago, attorney; Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective, and by federal authorities at Cleveland, is alleged to have brought Pat McDermott and Steve Kascholk, informer being held here to Canton from Massillon about a week before the murder.

Mazer, according to the evidence, which officials declared today was corroborated by several reliable witnesses, drove the two men, who, according to the informer's story, had been hired to "get Mellett," about the vicinity of the Mellett home several times.

Mazer, several of the witnesses say, was seen in close proximity to the Mellett home within a short time before the fatal shots were fired. His automobile has also been identified as one that was seen in the neighborhood.

Warrants for the "pay-off" man and an alleged triggerman are expected Friday. Meantime other warrants charging several persons with complicity may be issued. Authorities however, were of the opinion they would arrest no alleged accomplices until the case had gone to the Stark county grand jury. They admitted, at the same time, they might be forced to go through with new arrests before grand jury action.

Mazer, the affidavit for whose arrest was signed by Michael Glenn, Indiana detective, working with Joseph R. Roach, was first implicated by Steve Kascholk, informer, who turned "cold feet" in the alleged plot, after, he claims, he was hired to attack Mellett.

When the news of the murder reached Kascholk in Cleveland, he consulted an attorney and then came to Canton, where he told Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective in charge of the Stark county inquiry, a story which gave vent to the present action in the case.

He said that he was engaged to "help beat up an editor" and that he went to Massillon with Pat McDermott, now wanted as the "key man" in the plot.

Mazer, Kascholk declared, brought the two thugs to Canton in an automobile, showed them the Mellett home and gave them their instructions about a week before the actual murder.

Kascholk, however, refused to go through with the crime and there is evidence that has been checked by detectives that has convinced them that there was a possibility of Mazer having taken Kascholk's place.

Mazer was commonly known in Canton as the "right hand man" of Carl Studer, alleged bootleg king of the "jungle."

Mellett, had, through his private investigating forces, gathered conclusive evidence of a powerful whisky ring and was about to expose it. He frequently attacked Studer, by name, in editorials of expose and condemnation.

Woman's Curse Hangs Over Heads Of Executioners

BALTIMORE, Aug. 17.—A woman's curse, bitter and from the heart, hung today over the heads of all those who had anything to do with the conviction and execution of Richard Reese Whittemore, the dapper bandit who went to the gallows with a sneer on his lips.

It came not from "the Tiger Girl," his loyal wife, who stuck by him to the end, but from her mother, Mrs. Theresa Messler, the bandit's mother-in-law.

"They have taken his life and I hope they are satisfied," she said. "They put a rope around his neck and broke it, but they could not break his spirit.

"I hope his spirit returns and will come between the lips of these men who did this, and between the lips of their wives, too, for they would not permit Reese to kiss his wife goodbye. I am an old woman, but this comes from the heart."

MAY SETTLE COAL STRIKE

Miners Conference Opens to Discuss Peace Terms.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The miners conference today continued to debate the question of opening peace negotiations for the settlement of the coal strike.

The motion before the conference provides that the executive committee of the miners' federation should ask the government to negotiate a settlement of the strike on the basis of the ecclesiastics' peace proposals.

The leaders of the miners are understood to be in favor of conferring with Premier Baldwin, but there is some question as to whether the rank and file of the miners' delegation are in favor of negotiations.

The situation today may develop into a rebuff for the leadership of A. J. Cook and other members of the executive

Boxing Commission Not Interested in Proposed Fight

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. — The New York state athletic commission will take no further action, in the law courts or otherwise, to bring about the much-discussed bout between Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and the chief contender for the title, Gene Tunney.

This was made clear at a meeting of the commission today when Commissioner George E. Brower declared that the boxing commission was an administrative body solely, and was not the aggrieved party to the action of the license commission in denying Dempsey a license to box in this state.

The fighter himself, or Tex Rickard, his promoter, Brower said, were the aggrieved parties, and it was their place, if anyone's, to bring mandamus proceedings in court to force the license committee to show cause why Dempsey should not be permitted to box here.

The meeting was being held behind closed doors, with only the three players, Carey, Carson Bigbee and Babe Adams, and club officials attending, in addition to President Heydler. Newspapermen were excluded.

Penitentiary Guard Uses Strategy to Locate Prisoner.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 17.—Penitentiary officials today were pleased with the clever bit of strategy utilized in "smoking out" Ralph Peterson, 26, Cincinnati prisoner, from his hiding place in the planing mill within the prison walls.

Peterson, who disappeared Saturday, crawled out of his place of concelalment under a lumber pile Monday when he overheard penitentiary guards voicing their intention of "shooting mustard gas into the openings of the pile of boards."

Possessing water and several slices of bread, Peterson was prepared to continue hiding out when he saw the guards place a gas producing machine in the planing mill.

It was not until some hours after he gave himself up that Peterson learned he had been trapped. The machine was out of order and would not work.

it was announced that government agents had uncovered a widespread revolutionary plot, and had arrested 50 men and women in connection with the conspiracy.

The seditious plot, which had ramifications in six states, as well as in the federal district, was discovered through an exhaustive search of the houses and living quarters of some of those arrested.

Papers and documents thus found disclosed full details of the plot, enabling the government to take the necessary precautionary measure to frustrate the conspiracy.

Among the papers seized was a revolutionary manifesto signed by General Antonio Vasquez and Colonels Agapito Vasquez and Jose De La Pona. The manifesto contained a call to arms and a disclaimer of allegiance to the Calles government. It bitterly criticized the government's religious policy.

General Vasquez and Colonels De La Pona and Vasquez are not active military officers, having been dropped from the rolls of the army last Dec. 15.

Chiefs of operations were designated in the manifesto to take charge of the revolutionary movement in the states of Puebla, Moroles, Michoacan, Jalisco and Chihuahua, as well as in the federal district. Police say these designations were dictated by the League for Religious Defense, which is conducting the boycott.

Will Rebuild Park

will begin the erection of amusement devices.

Park On Lincoln Highway.

A variety of routes will contribute toward the transportation of park patrons, including the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction Co., with its improved service, the Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad company, over which excursions also will be booked, the Panhandle branch of the Pennsy, and, in addition, the Lincoln Highway through East Liverpool and Chester.

Rock Springs Park—the real Rock Springs park at its peak—closed down in 1912 after excursions had been cut off and although it has been operated in a way up until the present time, it is now only a faint suggestion of what it once was.

Macdonald is planning the erection of a home in which he and his family will live, in a grove on the hillside overlooking the scenic railway route.

He will bring with him to Rock Springs his miniature zoo, which now includes several bears, monkeys and other animals.

Macdonald's operations this fall and next spring, while as extensive as possible in view of the immensity of his task in reclaiming the park, will be more or less preliminary toward the ultimate goal.

Girls! Use Lemon To Whiten Skin

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

May Take Action on Several Proposed Ordinances.

With Mayor W. L. Fogo's request for action looking toward the appointment of a caretaker at the municipal reservoir, the coal weighing and other ordinances before them, city solons will hold their semi-monthly session tonight.

Council convened last Friday night in adjourned session but decided to postpone action until their regular session this evening.

Their attention recently was called to the fact that it will be necessary in the near future to make provisions for the care of the dam in Little Yellow Creek and it is possible that action will be taken along this line.

Ordinances suggested two weeks ago may be brought up for approval, as well.

FIND FLOATER NEAR TORONTO

Body Believed to be That of Missing Barber.

A body found floating down the Ohio river at King's, south of Toronto, yesterday, is believed by Jefferson County Coroner A. L. Bell to be that of Matthew Hilligan, 50, Toronto barber, who disappeared last week.

Coroner Bell stated he could not tell definitely how long the body had been in the river. The find was made by a number of boy campers who saw the body floating under the surface near the shore.

It was removed to the Mettenberger funeral home. It bore no marks of violence.

TRUCK DRIVER BURIED IN SLIDE

John Ford, a resident near Two Ridges, Jefferson county, a truck driver for the Ohio Power Co., was buried temporarily on Monday morning, along with the front end of his truck by several tons of earth that slid down unexpectedly from the hillside near Port Homer, below Yellow Creek. Workmen extricated Ford, who was nearly smothered. His injuries consist of a fractured right wrist and a gash on his head. He was taken to Ohio Valley hospital, but he will go home in a few days.

Ford with other employees drove in the work truck to Port Homer to see about line trouble. When they came to some new road construction at a hillside, the truck stalled in the soft earth and Ford got down out of the cab and opened the hood when the earth slid and buried the hood and cab and Ford with his head inside the hood. He was dug out as speedily as possible.

LOCAL Y. M. C. A. MAY TAKE PART IN CROSS COUNTRY RELAY RACE

The East Liverpool Young Men's Christian Association will probably take part in the 1,092 mile relay race—the second feat of its kind—between New York and Chicago, which will be run sometime during the summer of 1928.

It is estimated that approximately 12,000 boys will be potential contestants in this race from which a minimum of 4,000 will be selected for the dash against time. From New York city, the runners will go north through Albany and Troy, crossing the Hudson at least twice. Thence the route will follow through Buffalo, Cleveland, Adrian, Michigan; South Bend, Indiana, and other cities to Chicago.

M. D. Crackle, executive secretary of the boys' branch of the Y. M. C. A. in Cleveland, who promoted a similar race in 1908, will have charge for the 1928 contest. The time between the two points was 116 hours, 50 minutes and 30 seconds and was made 12 hours ahead of schedule. The swimmers crossed Cayuga Lake, New York, at night under the glare of bonfires built on the banks.

In the spring of 1923 high school students from East Liverpool, members of the Hi-Y club, carried a torch to Steubenville, where it was turned over to a delegation of youths from the Bellaire Y. M. C. A. This torch, which was carried all over the state of Ohio, was the symbol of light of leadership, inspiration and character purpose to others.

Hint Court Action In Quest Of Dempsey's Fight License

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Tex Rickard and that 2 to 1 majority in the state athletic commission will make a final and ultimate effort to force the Dempsey-Tunney match—seemingly an ample helping of fistic castor oil—well down the protesting gullet of the license committee today and, failing, will throw up their hands and surrender to the will of the great minority of two. They may have the law on the pair of them before nightfall.

At least, Rickard hinted darkly of court proceedings this morning, as he discussed, more in sorrow than in anger, the decision of the committee last night, whereby Jack Dempsey definitely was denied a license until such time as he signifies his willingness to accept Harry Wills—and none other—as a professional equal.

Rickard will not take legal steps himself. He took pains to make that point clear. The state athletic commission, it was insinuated, would be the aggressor, if any.

Up To Commission.

"The commission will take some action at its meeting today," the promoter said. "I probably will attend the meeting but, as far as I am concerned, the match will not leave New York; neither will I take further steps to keep it here. All I can say at this time is that the commission probably will vote to take the license committee into court to show cause why Dempsey should not be granted a license."

In brief, Rickard is maintaining a you-got-me-into-this-now-get-me-out attitude toward the commission, and if I know the man, he is not popping off without definite assurances from Commissioner George E. Brower, who invited the Dempsey-Tunney engagement on here from Chicago. If further action is taken today, Brower will take it.

A lawyer himself, he has the opinion of State Attorney Ottinger to sustain him in his idea that the license committee was not within its legal rights in denying a license to a man who already had been given official absolution by the governing body of boxing in this state. However, time and not the rights of free born Americans happens to be the big factor at this moment.

With the scheduled fate of the fight less than a month away, it was obvious that, if nothing happened to alter the situation today, or at least within the current week, the enterprise will gently but firmly breathe its last.

Can't Afford to Wait.

Rickard might postpone the inevitable by setting his clock back to September 23 but if he had to wait for action until the next committee meeting on August 28, he might just as well take a short snappy dive into the East river, for he will be all wet, anyhow. Besides, the Messrs. Phelan and Wear made it quite clear last night that no mere importunity, be it so eloquent, can soften them on this point.

They were so vehement, in fact, that Phelan forgot that, while he was insisting upon Wills' name on the contract, he had less than a week before declared that any name would do, mine, your's or Joe Windmills'. And while they were reversing themselves on this point, they went right ahead reading from the minutes of commission meetings in tacit complaint that the body had gone into reverse on the subject of Harry Wills.

There are three points distinctly humorous about the entire proposition. The first is that the commission has a perfect right to reverse itself, provided a majority vote is taken. The second is that Harry Wills, over whose interests all these men have gone to war, couldn't meet Dempsey in New York under any circumstances. The third is that all of them know it.

CHAMP STICKS TO TRAINING

Maintains Daily Schedule at Saratoga Springs.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Jack Dempsey, in training at Tommy Luther's White Sulphur Springs came here, is confident of the outcome of his projected battle with Gene Tunney.

"I'm sure the license will be granted and that we will fight in this state" he said today. "Just as sure as I am I will still be champion when the fight is over. Of course, Tunney is a hard nut to crack, but I am confident I can whip him. I am in fine condition now and by the tenth of September I expect to be in the best shape I ever was."

Dempsey has a hard program which he is following every day. Starting with five to eight miles of road work with his sparring partners in the morning, he follows with a light breakfast and a short rest period after which he rows a heavy boat five miles on the lake. A light lunch and another rest period brings him to his daily workout in the ring. Punching the bag, skipping rope and shadow boxing is augmented with ten rounds of boxing with his various partners. This program is followed in all kinds of weather.

Yesterday in spite of heavy rain during the morning and afternoon, he went through his usual stint. The bouts in the afternoon were witnessed by several hundred fight fans who are among the crowds here for the race meeting.

The champion is particularly fortunate in the supply of sparring partners who are with him here. Besides Ray Thompson, the boy who has twice fought Tunny and knows the challenger's style and punching system upon which Tunny relies for his knockouts, there is big Bill Tate, the giant Negro conqueror of Harry Wills, the Brown Panther. These are the heavies the champion works out with.

After Van Gilder of the Browns held the Red Sox to four hits, beating them, 6 to 1, Slim Harris squelched St. Louis, 7 to 1, in a seven inning affair. A case of fratricide marked the second game when Alex Gaston, Red Sox catcher, came to bat with the bases full and jarred his brother Milton, pitching for the Brownies, with a triple that sewed up the game.

CHARGE MAZER RAISED FUND FOR SLAYING

Evidence to be Presented to Attorney Bernsteen.

SUSPECT DEFIANT

Will Face Two More Mystery Witnesses Today.

FEDERAL BUILDING, Cleveland, O., Aug. 18.—Sensational charges and testimony that Louis Mazer, accused of the Don R. Mellett murder, solicited for a fund to kill Mellett shortly before the assassination of the Canton publisher, were to be presented to United States District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen this afternoon by Bill Smith, an operative of the Hutchinson & Smith detective agency which investigated the recent disappearance of Clark C. Baker at Mansfield, it was learned by the International News Service from an authoritative source.

Smith said that he had information that Canton jungle chiefs subscribed liberally to the fund.

It was also learned that two more mystery witnesses would be called to confront Mazer this afternoon with testimony that Mazer came to Cleveland several months ago to talk over a plot to kill Mellett.

In the meantime Mazer screamed forth a defiance to all charges hurled at him. He called Norman Clark, the Canton attorney, a "d—— liar" when the former testified Mazer had threatened to "bump him off" for talking too much about the Mellett killing.

Bernsteen then ordered Carl Studer brought into the conference chamber. Clark's affidavits were read to Studer and the federal attorney and his aids began to grill him.

When Studer had heard the Clark affidavits read he turned to Norman Clark and shouted:

"You d—— double crossing skunk."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Bullish traffic and earnings reports for American railroad companies issued from various sources stimulated active buying of the railroad stocks in the early trading today.

The motor stocks and industrials displayed a reactionary tone at the beginning of the session as stocks were pushed on the market, and opening prices were uniformly lower. But selling pressure lifted before the end of the first hour and moderate rallies took place in the industrial speculative leaders.

The bureau of railway economics reported that the volume of freight handled in the first six months of the year was the highest in the history of American railroading, while the American Railway association showed that the net operating income of the class one roads in that period was $494,867,212, against $439,398,416 in the same period last year. Meanwhile the weekly car loadings figures are the largest on record.

Chesapeake and Ohio led the railroad shares in this period, reaching a new high record at 152. Rock Island at 63; Southern Pacific at 108; Frisco common at 99½; Missouri Pacific at 40; Pere Marquette, Baltimore and Ohio and other well known railroad stocks were active and strong.

would find "it doesn't pay to trifle with the federal government."

The majority of the investigators were confident that Clark's story would supply the final impetus that would break down Mazer's denials.

"No Squealing," Hint to Mazer.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 18.—A high powered seven-passenger automobile entirely clean except for a splash of mud that effectively hid the license numbers, and filled with six "tough looking" men cruised slowly up and down in front of the Cuyahoga county jail here today while Louis Mazer, accused of the Don R. Mellett murder, was being led to the federal building by a deputy United States marshal.

"They were giving Mazer the hint not to squeal or he would be 'taken for a ride' and 'bumped off,'" one of the investigators who saw the car opined.

RELIGIOUS WAR NEARING END

Priests in Mexico Pledge Allegiance to Laws.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 18.—One by one the priests of the Roman Catholic church in Mexico are declaring their acceptance of an obedience to the religious laws of the Mexican government and are being restored to possession of the churches which formerly were in their charge, Minister of the interior Tejeda told the International News Service correspondent today.

According to statistics which Minister Tejeda compiled, at the request of the International News Service, thirteen priests have followed the lead of Father Anguino Alvarado, of Vera Cruz, in offering allegiance to the Mexican government and obedience to its religious regulations.

Minister Tejeda added that other priests also had fallen in line with the government's policy and had been awarded possession of the churches of which they formerly were in charge.

Minister Tejeda explained that only those priests were cited in his report whose submission to the government's regulations had been officially confirmed. He added that similar reports had been received from many other parts of the Republic, but that they had not yet been confirmed officially.

RUSSIAN TRYS TO TAKE LIFE

Son of Russian General Jumps From Base of "Miss Liberty."

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—George Zagorsky, 25, thwarted in attempt to plunge to death from a parapet one hundred feet above the base of the statue of Liberty, was being kept under strict surveillance today pending final disposition of his case by immigration officials.

Yagorsky, who is the son of a former brigadier general of Russia., attempted to leap off the parapet when told that he must return to his native land where, he insists, execution awaits him at the hands of the Bolsheviks. Corporal Jack Poole of the guard detail seized the young Russian and subdued him after a desperate struggle.

"That is my mother, now," pitifully shouted the Russian, pointing to the statue of Liberty. "I throw myself in her arms, but she will not have me. I want to die at her feet."

When the frontier guards requested him to have his visa renewed Erwig refused, and in the course of a melee which followed he knocked down three policemen. He was finally overwhelmed by the guard only after a furious fistic battle. He was examined by doctors, and when found to be normal, was committed to the Eger jail.

Fultz was a patrolman on the police force of said city of Wellsville under the classified civil service thereof and that his appointment as chief of police was to fill a vacancy in said office by promotion as required by the civil service law of the state of Ohio.

Questions Promottion.

"That the promotion of the appellant, John H. Fultz, from patrolman to the position of chief of police of said city of Wellsville, Ohio, was not made in conformity to the civil service law of the state of Ohio providing for such appointment.

"That the promotion of the appellant, John H. Fultz, to chief of police in the classified service of said city of Wellsville, Ohio, was not made on the basis of merit as required by the civil service law of Ohio, nor with reference to seniority in service as shown by the records of said civil service commission of Wellsville, Ohio.

"That there was no grading nor rating of said John H. Fultz as an applicant for said position by competitive promotional examination shown on the records and minutes of the civil service commission of Wellsville, Ohio, certifying the appellant as eligible to said promotion.

Fail To Certify Highest.

"That said civil service commission failed and neglected to certify to the appointing authority only the name of the person having the highest rating as eligible to said promotion as required by the provision of the civil service law providing for such promotion, but said civil service commission certified to the appointing authority the name of two different officers in the classified service of said city of Wellsville, each of whom was certified as eligible to said promotion through competitive promotional examination, of which number the appellant, John H. Fultz, was one, but that no rating was given or recorded on the minutes or certificates of said civil service commission by which to determine the relative standing and grade of the appellant, John H. Fultz or James M. Kenney, the other officer certified as eligible to said promotion by said commission.

"Wherefore said Wallace L. Fogo respectfully prays the court forder directing that the appeal of said John H. Fultz from the judgment of the civil service commission of the city of Wellsville, Ohio, be dismissed for want of legal title, on the part of said appellant, John H. Fultz, to institute and maintain said appeal; and that the dismissal of said appellant as chief of police of Wellsville, Ohio, by Wallace L. Fogo as mayor of the city of Wellsville, Ohio, and the judgment, finding and decision of the civil service commission of the city of Wellsville, Ohio, removing said John H. Fultz from office as chief of police of the city of Wellsville, Ohio, be affirmed."

BIG cities, struggling with suburban traffic problems, neglect one possibility that interests the very able President Smith of the New York Central railroad. The plan was to erect viaducts above railroad tracks, running through thickly populated suburbs. New York's transit commission suggests that omnibus lines carry suburbanites to the water-front, load them on fast boats that would transfer them to other omnibuses. A thousand times better, simpler, quicker, would be a viaduct over railroads reaching populous urban districts.

RAMSAY MACDONALD, former labor prime minister of Great Britain, asks American labor to aid striking British coal miners. The response will be slight, probably. Our labor disagrees violently with foreign labors on questions of policy. And each belief hates the other. American labor disagrees with the British thecry that labor should be in politics. British and American labor disagrees with and hate Russian labor ideas. And capital is internationally harmonious, and that makes government of this industrial era quiet simple.

GAS SHORTAGE IS PREDICTED

Crude and Wasteful Methods of Production Blamed.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Warning of an approaching world shortage of gasoline was given by Professor Jocelyn F. Thorpe, one of England's foremost chemists, in a presidential address to the chemistry section of the British association for the advancement of science.

The crude and wasteful methods of present production, the collossal consumption of the United States and other leading automobile using countries, and the increasing use of gasoline for almost every kind of industrial work are the chief causes of the danger of a shortage, Professor Thorpe said.

'The chemistry of petroleum has been far too little explored,' the professor said, "and the reason is not far to seek. The apparently inexhaustible supplies of petroleum up to the present have rendered it unnecessary to devise means for economical working. The crudest and most wasteful methods are employed in the industry, because economy and the conservation of the natural product are not paying propositions.

"This applies not only to the methods of fractitionization but also the methods of 'cracking' the higher boiling fraction into liquid of a lower boiling point.

"At the present time the rapid increase in the use of the automobile for personal and commercial transport indicates that at no distant period, if progress continues to be made in the same direction, the amount of gasoline fraction will be insufficient for the world's needs. This point has already been reached in the United States, where the consumption is approaching 800,000,000 gallons a month.

"The whole subject and system of petroleum production needs systematic research, for the problem is one of world importance."

Shows Real Talent in Picture "Say It Again."

Some time ago, thirty-four bruised and battered men dragged themselves from the Paramount Long Island Studio after two weeks of the hardest work as motion picture extras they had ever put in. These were the patriotic citizenry's leaders, whose business it was to oust a usurper from the throne of Spenzonia in Richard Dix's Paramount picture, "Say It Again," which opened a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre yesterday.

Dix was the usurper and "Gunboat' Smith, a prize fighter with whom Dix has sparred regularly for the last three years, his side-kick. Numbered among the battlers were half a dozen other fighters and wrestlers. The rest of the outfit were equally as tough.

The rehearsal and filming of the fight sequences, under Director Gregory La Cava, required two weeks of intensive battering.

First, the mob chased Dix and "Gunboat" down the Spenzonian streets. Dix and "Gunboat" fought as they retreated to the castle. From the vantage point of the top wall, Dix and "Gunboat" knocked their pursuers back to the street as fast as they climbed within striking distance. Finally on the other side, Dix and "Gunner" got theirs as the mob swarmed down on them.

But that wasn't all. Inside the wall, there were marble benches, a small lake and a series of steps. Virtually everybody in the cast took turns getting knocked over benches, into the lake or down the steps.

In addition to these tumbles, the pugilists, in the heat of the excitement, frequently forgot to "pull their punches," so that many a make-believe "sock" went home in earnest for an honest-to-goodness wallop.

Dix forgot himself once, and hauled off with a slub that sent Harry Cording head over heels into the lake. The result was, Dix broke a knuckle on his right hand and Cording nursed a sore chin for several days.

The studio doctor and nurse were in constant attendance, patching more than a hundred minor injuries

BOND ISSUE IS PROPOSED

May be Submitted to Voters at General Election.

Action looking toward the appointment of a reservoir superintendent, the passage of a coal weighing ordinance, the repeal of the measure which made the "Arcadia" subdivision in the west end of the city a part of the municipality and a bond issue request of the next election were high spots in last night's councilmanic session.

In discussing the coal weighing measure, solons made it plain that where a coal buyer and dealer were satisfied as to their relations the dealer would not be compelled to weigh his coal. However, if the buyer insists upon knowing the weight of his coal, he can compel the dealer to tag it under provisions of the new ordinance.

The reservoir superintendent will be appointed by Mayor W. L. Fogo, and will not come under the civil service classified list. Solons did not decide upon the salary in passing the ordinance on first reading.

Solicitor Luccock was instructed to draft an ordinance repealing the measure through which "Arcadia" subdivision became a part of the city. Councilman Nicholson pointed out that there were irregularities and inaccuracies in the annexation proceedings and, besides, sewer and street improvements were needed in the city proper as it is very bad at the present time.

Several sewer and street discussions were launched by the street and light committee. The garage jutting out into Beech street should be removed, in the opinion of W. B. Nicholson, chairman of the committee. The committee also instructed the city to notify the owners of the Tourist garage in Tenth street to either raise or lower a gasoline pipe in front of its property which, it was said, was dangerous to pedestrians.

During the discussion centering around the sewer question, Mayor W. L. Fogo interposed the suggestion that funds for the sewers, fire truck, city hall repairing and other municipal needs be bunched and submitted to the voters in November in the form of a bond issue request for approximately $35,000.

Otherwise, the mayor pointed out, bond issues would put the city over its limitations.

City council will view some of the resurfacing methods used in other cities and towns of the county before taking action on the improvement of Main street, it was decided.

The mayor's report for the month showed collections of $417.45.

In order to act quickly on the proposed bond issue, solons will hold an adjourned meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 24. It is necessary that the issue be prepared and legalized at least 60 days before the November election.

CITY OF 2,000 MOVE 70 MILES

LOS ANGELES — Moving a city of 2,000 inhabitants over a distance of 70 miles in less than 24 hours was the engineering achievement of the Samuel Goldwyn staff now filming Harold Bell Wright's "The Winning of Barbara Worth" on location in the Nevada desert. For ten days before the city of 'Barbara Worth" was transplanted from Humboldt county, Nevada, to Franklin county, Nevada, over 100 laborers worked upon a road into the virgin desert wastes.

The complete equipment of "The Barbara Worth Times," the only newspaper ever published by a motion picture company on location, was also moved into the very heart of the desert.

Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky, the stars of the film, arose in the morning in the city of Barbara Worth, Humboldt county, and slept that same evening in Barbara Worth, Franklin county.

NEWS FROM TOWNS IN TRI-STATE DISTRICT

LISBON

M. K. Zimerman, West Park Ave. Phone 319-R. Lisbon, O.

CONTRACTS WILL BE AWARDED

State Highway Bureau Considering Bids on County Work.

Contracts for grading practically six miles of the East Liverpool-Youngstown road in Madison, Elkrun and Middleton townships will be awarded by the state highway department within the next few days, it has been announced by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk. Bids for grading on two sections of this road between Williamsport and Rogers were opened by the Department at Columbus late last week, and representatives of firms who were low bidders spent Tuesday in Lisbon with Mr. Kirk securing additional data on these jobs.

On section E there is to be 4.9 miles of grading and drainage structures built, and on section G-3 there is to be 1.053 miles graded. The grading of both sections were advertised for letting under one contract, and the low bid was submitted by Hart and Smith of Youngstown at $107,020.16.

The second low bid was submitted by Thomas P. Ryan of Youngstown at $115,078.21 and W. M. Gray of Columbus was third with a bid of $118,016.15.

Two new bridges are also to be built on this section of the new road, both in the vicinity of Williamsport. One of these spans will be over the West Fork of Beaver Creek and the other will be over the Middle Fork.

Lewis & Copeland of Lima, a concern that is now doing considerable work in this county was low with a bid of $47,706.05 and Herman C. Armstrong of Lisbon was second low with a bid of $48,671.13.

R. N. Porterfield of Youngstown submitted a bid of $50,839.20 and George B. Patterson had a bid of $51,182.45.

In Carroll county, the Laughlin Coal company, of Canton was low bidder for the grading, construction of drainage structures and also a bridge on a section of the Carroll-New Philadelphia road, which is a part of the Columbus-East Liverpool intercount highway. This firm submitted a bid of $43,974.77.

Hart & Smith of Youngstown and the Lewis & Copeland company, of Lima, whose representatives were in Lisbon Tuesday afternoon advised Surveyor Kirk that grading and bridge construction would be started as soon as contracts were officially awarded. It is the intent of Lewis & Copeland to have the bridges completed this year, while the Youngstown firm proposes to rush grading on the two sections of road as long as favorable weather prevails.

Steam shovels are to be put on the new grading work within the next three weeks, it is declared, while material for the new bridges will be ordered shipped immediately upon the signing of contracts between the State and Lewis & Copeland.

Should the grading job be completed by spring, it is very likely this road will be surfaced from East Liverpool to Rogers before the close of the summer of 1927, as surfacing contracts have already been awarded on other southern sections of this road.

Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes and his assistant, John E. Bauknecht, are now engaged in reviewing transcripts filed with Clerk Ballantine from lower courts, and many more remained to be filed.

"All transcripts from lower courts should be filed immediately," Mr. Brookes declared today. "There is no cause for delay in the lower courts for holding back this work."

Ashe Is Defeated In City League Battle With Wellsville

Big Hurler Who Beat Chester Squad Friday Loses 7 to 5 Verdict

Gives Up Six Hits, Four of Which are Bunched With Error in Fourth to Produce Three Runs; Morris Allows Nine Hits.

UNDAUNTED by the presence of Pitcher Ashe on the Laughlin hilltop, Wellsville, profiting by his wildness and the bunching of hits, defeated the first half leaders in a City Industrial league clash that darkness ended in the fifth inning last night at Newell. The score was 7-5.

Though Ashe had turned back Chester on Friday night with two safe drives the down river aggregation annexed thrice that number off him yesterday, four of which were procured in the fourth inning which, with an outfield miscue netted three runs. This trio of markers, coupled with the three obtained in the second frame on two walks, a hit batter, two wild pitches, a passed ball and a couple of stolen bases, and not a single hit, tied the score and in the following inning the Wellsville club clinched the game.

But even in this unusual manner of scoring so many runs in the second inning, the tall twirler fanned three men. In all he struck out six, walked the same number, hit one and produced two wild heaves.

Opposing him was A. Morris, the East End lad, who, with the old Laughlin club of the suburb was at one time its leading hurler. He permitted nine drives, but only in the third when five of them were bunched with an error to produce four runs, was he hard pressed. He walked only one and struck out five. With two walks and a single in three times up he had a perfect swatting mark for the day. He also scored once.

Sayres, playing his old position at second instead of W. Watson, who, not feeling well, sat on the bench, led off in the second and scored Laughlin's first run after Wellsville had just made three. He singled to left, went to third on Aufderheide's safe blow to right after Bubin had sent a long fly to Lysle.

Hinkle essaying to catch "Aufty" napping on first, threw low to Dustman on which play Sayers finished. Hunselman flied to A. Morris. Ashe singled to left only to be forced at second by Parsons, Hancock to Greenspun.

Babb went out, Hancock to Dustman in the fourth. Finley and Herbert singled successively to left and Sayers through short, clogging the path. Bubin drove to middle, scoring Finley and Herbert as Manning let the ball go by him. Sayers went to third on the blow, but was caught at the plate, James to Hinkle on Aufterheide's rap to the third bagman, which permitted Bubin to land on the hot corner. A doubled steal scored the latter and placed "Aufty" on second, from where he finished on Hunselman's single to right. Ashe fanned.

The West Virginians were leading 5 to 3, at the outset of the fourth. Then Hinkle and A. Morris singled in turn, both reaching third and second as Aufterheide juggled the latter's blow. Both counted on Greenspun's long double to left. Shipley fanned. Hunselman to Babb, Greenspun going to thir from where he finished on Manning's single to middle. The latter was caught stealing, Hunselman to Finley. Lysle was called out on strikes.

The count thus became 6 to 5 in favor of Wellsville, but after Parsons singled at the outset of the second half of the fourth A. Morris retired the next three batters in turn.

Wellsville added one to their lead in the fifth. Hancock singled. James sacrificed, Herbert to Babb. Dustman grounded to Babb. Finley booted Hinkle's drive, Hancock scoring. A. Morris walked. Hinkle stole third. Greenspun fanned.

Needing two runs to tie and three to win Laughlin had the evening tallies on the bags when the period and the game ended. Sayers, opening, went, out, A. Morris to Dustman. Bubin swung and missed the third one. W. Watson, batting for Aufterheide, reached first as James, handling his drive, drew Dustman off the bag by a high throw. Aufterheide procured A. Morris' only walk of the contest. The situation was up to Ashe. He fanned.

Despite the rain of the earlier part of the day nad the murky evening a good sized throng attended.

With A. Morris, Hancock and James had perfect batting records for the day. The shortstop had a walk and two singles while the third bagman had the unique experience of being hit, walking and sacrificing in his trio of bludgeon chances. Sayers led Laughlin strikers with two singles in three chances.

Another Soccer Championship Goal of East Liverpool Team

ANOTHER league championship is the goal of the East Liverpool Soccer Club, or the Homer Laughlin club as it probably will be known, as the organization recruits its forces for the coming campaign.

First step toward seasonal activities will be taken at a workout scheduled for this evening at 6 o'clock at Patterson field.

The local club annexed honors in the Pittsburgh Press Northwest Division circuit last spring after a spirited battle with the Ellwood City-Shelby eleven.

Whether the champs will defend their title in the Northwest loop or join the Chartiers Valley circuit this season, where competition of a keener nature can be expected, has not been determined by the club officials. However, there is little doubt that the Potters will be playing in one of the Press organizations.

Walker, a Scotchman, a recent arrival in this district, and not long a resident of the United States, reputed to be an exceptionally good forward, will join the club this season. One or two other new faces likely will be found in the lineup. Mortenson, Danish star who contributed in no little to the team's success last season, will leave a vacancy in the team's ranks. Mortenson has returned to his native country.

However, most of the old familiar names will be found again on the roster when the whistle blows, including Beech, Scarry, Bain, Shaw, Haugh, Carney, Bowyer, Roberts, Foster, Brown, Ferguson, Love and Oakes.

TAGGING ALL --BASES--

Billy Southworth's second homer of the afternoon, with two men on bases, enabled the Cardinals to nose out Brooklyn, 8 to 7. St. Louis is now only one game behind Pittsburgh.

The Reds kept right on the heels of the Cardinals by whipping the Phillies, 8 to 2.

Guy Bush of the Cubs again took the role of a giant-killer by holding the New Yorkers to two hits and winning under wraps, 7 to 0. Bush didn't walk a man and not a Giant got past first base.

Although the Yankees lost to the White Sox, 5 to 3, in a five inning affair in which Catcher Pat Collins broke all altitude records for throwing to bases, New York's lead jumped to nine games.

The slipping Indians lost both ends of a doubleheader to the onrushing Athletics, 9 to 4 and 6 to 4, and now lead the Mackmen by only half a game. French poled out seven hits.

The Back Bay section was thrown into an uproar as the Red Sox thrashed the Browns twice, 5 to 1 and 4 to 0. Heimach and Welzer did the pitching and lots of it.

JACK KEARNS SUGGESTS NEW FIGHT PLAN

Carl McCutcheon To Aid High Coach

CARL "Red" McCutcheon, Chester youth, former East Liverpool athletic star who last fall concluded his football career with the University of Pittsburgh, will lend his efforts toward furthering the local high school's gridiron cause this season.

McCutcheon said today he was glad to receive an opportunity to assist Coach Kidder when the squad gets down to work at Patterson Field next month.

Kidder, who only a few years ago was one of Bethany college's most dependable line performers, will be able to devote his attention largely to developing a strong forward wall and can turn over his backfield crew to McCutcheon.

"Red" had a large number of loyal rooters from this district at games in the Pitt stadium last fall, and although he did not get in as many games perhaps as he should have, he never failed to provide a few thrills of his own when he did play.

With the coaching and training he received under Jock Sutherland McCutcheon should prove an invaluable aid to Kidder here.

WILL GET SCHOOL POST.

O. V. BOONE, former high school athletic director, who was released from duties here at the close of the last term, expects to conclude negotiations within the next few days for a school post for the 1926-27 term.

Boone asserts he has received a number of good offers from schools in eastern Ohio and his problem now chiefly is whether he will continue coaching work or launch into a strictly academic career. He prefers the latter course, he says, in view of the fact that he expects ultimately to give up athletic work, as far as coaching is concerned.

Follansbee Grid Prospects.

FROM all indications Follansbee high school will enjoy one of the biggest years in its history. The new athletic field in the rear of the modern high school building is completed except for a few finishing touches, and will be in excellent condition for the opening game. The new "bowl" will be one of the best in the entire valley and will seat several thousand people. Coach Caskey, former Michigan college star will arrive the latter part of the month and will start work with his huskies at once. Previous to his arrival Captain Cercone of next years eleven will hold several preliminary workouts.

This years schedule is one of the hardest ever tackled by Follansbee high school. Several new teams will be seen in action against the mill town boys. Bellaire high school has been selected for the second clash of the season; this is the first meeting of the two schools on the gridiron.

Coach Caskey will have several veteran linemen back in R. Behnke, Wells, Riggle, Rue and Rees and with three speedy backs in Cooper, Kasarda and Capt. Cercone the Follansbee eleven takes on a formidable look.

Follansbee football fans are planning a demonstration for the opening home game and the dedication of the new "bowl."

BOY SCOUTS WIN GAME AT WEST END

The Catholic Boy Scouts defeated the West End team by a score of 11 to 10 in a recent clash on the West End lot. The contest was not decided until the final inning when the scouts, one run behind, rallied to score twice and cinch the victory.

It Matters Not About Jack's Nose

There has been a desultory discussion ever since Jack Dempsey allowed his nose to be trued up for the movies as to what effect the operation would have when he faced his next opponent. This is a trivial matter. At best the operation simply made the nose tender. And men of the iron heart have fought through battles with broken hands, arms or ribs, mutilated eyes and pulverized ears. Photos show Dempsey's nose as it was when he met Willard (right) and as it is today.

BOTH SIDES O. K. HEYDLER MOVE

"Inside" Story Probably Will Remain Secret.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 18.—The decision of John A. Heydler, president of the National league, who was called in to settle differences between the Pittsburgh Pirates and three veteran players ousted for insubordination, today was received with satisfaction by both sides.

Sam Dreyfuss, in charge of the club during his father's absence, stated that the Heydler ruling, removing all stigma from the names of Max Carey, Carson Bigbee and Babe Adams, but upholding their dismissal from the club, "is satisfactory and we consider the incident closed."

The players, two of whom were given their unconditional release and waivers asked on the third, also indicated they were satisfied that their names had been cleared and would make no effort to regain their jobs.

Heydler held that the matter was purely one of internal strife on the club and for that reason declined to make public testimony of the players and owners at the hearing.

It appeared likely that the "inside" story on why the trio of players objected to the presence of Fred Clarke, assistant manager and part owner of the Pirates, on the players' bench would remain undisclosed.

The Dodgers were expected to claim Carey today. No announcement has been made concerning the future of Bigbee and Adams.

Wills Contract Would Pave Way For Battle

"Sign Up Colored Man," Says Jack, "And He Won't Go Through With it Because of Terms Laid Down by New York State Laws."

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Tex Rickard must go before the state athletic commission with the duly signed contracts of Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills.

This is not an ultimatum by the languid and lamentable license committee. It is the candid belief of Jack Kearns, an ex-manager who doesn't happen to be afflicted with annex-brain.

The suggested course was the only "out" Kearns today would concede Rickard that, paradoxically, would permit that worthy to get away with his Dempsey-Tunney enterprise. Kearns laughed with refined moderation at the possibility that court action, to be taken today or a shift of site to another city, would solve the difficulty.

He had several ideas and all of them were good, though seemingly contradictory. For instance:

Would a Dempsey-Wills contract mean a Dempsey-Wills match? Not for a minute. Would it mean a Dempsey-Tunney match? Without a doubt. Why? Because Wills won't go through with a Dempsey bout on the terms laid down by the laws of this state.

The above are Mr. Kearns' sentiments, not mine. I have run out of bright ideas on this particular subject long since. However, Mr. Kearns really knows his victuals.

"A Dempsey-Wills contract is the only thing that will get Rickard what he wants," Kearns declares. "Let the champion sign it and then see whether Wills will do the same thing. He won't because he wants $200,000 for the Dempsey shot and the regulation contracts in this state call only for 12½ percent to any challenger.

"At those figures, Wills would miss his $200,000 by a good deal and then what about the $55,000 he got from those middle western promoters? He'd have to kick back with that and by the time he got through, he wouldn't have half the money he wants for the match.

"Wills knows very well that he wouldn't sign a regulation state contract. Mullins knows it. Rickard ought to know it, too, "You know, I'm more than casually interested in seeing that Dempsey gets this fight. I've got a third coming to me and the best way to get it is to see that Dempsey gets the money.

"He'll get nothing, in my opinion, by going into court. Oh, the courts may give them favorable action but doesn't Rickard realize that the Democrats are not going to allow a Republican attorney general, who wants to run for lieutenant governor, to take the play away from them on this thing? If Rickard gets the court's okay, that license committee can turn around and revoke his license at the Yankee stadium.

As for a shift to Philadelphia, Rickard is likely to run into trouble there. Commissioner White is a colored man and very pro-Wills.

"No, there is only one 'out' and Rickard must take it or the whole proposition must take the air."

Rickard, fighting mad, was all set for taking the question of Dempsey's license into court tody. Failing this, he said he had one more card to play. He would take the bout to a place "not very far from New York, where it would be welcome."

Of course both of these gestures were at direct variance with statements Rickard made not twenty-four hours before. He said he would neither go into court nor move the site of the bout.

It's getting so that one wouldn't believe a man if he admitted that he was falsifying.

Wellsville Bows to League Leaders at Smith Field, 7 to 3

Pace Setters Pound Two Hurlers For Ten Hits In Seven Frames

Meyers Touched for Eight Safeties, Waved Off Mound in Fourth; Two Blows Permitted by Kestner; Stoffell is Effective.

OUT hitting their opponents, Chester, in an exciting City Industrial league contest on Smith field, defeated Wellsville last evening, 7 to 3.

Stoffel held the down river aggregation to six hits. He fanned five and walked three, but one of the latter being costly.

Meyers, who, earlier in the half beat Choster, was not effective in this contest. After eight swats and six runs had been made off him he retired in favor of Kestner in the fourth. The latter held his foes to two hits and one run thereon.

Twice Wellsville, in the fifth and sixth, got their lead off men in these periods on first base but in both instances they were caught between that point and second. Hancock was the first and James the second. Stoffel, rushing and covering the bag, had both put outs.

D. Manning lost a certain home run, when he drove to right in the fourth, by being slowed up at third by coachers, who did not anticpate a hesitancy in the garden at returning the ball. He, spurting, anew, was caught at the plate and was momentarily overcome by the course of speed necessary.

Evans and Wilde, in the absence of P. Cebula and Greene, played short and third respectively. Both, fast on the bags, acquitted themselves creditably in their new stations.

Hinkle and Kestner, arriving late got into the game in the second inning. The fast back stop played with a dash throughout the contest.

Lysle, with two passes and a single, had a perfect swatting mark while D. Manning, with a triple and a single in three chances, hit at a 667 clip.

Wilde, with two singles in a trio of tries, led the Chester hitters, though Evans, with a three bagger and a safety in four essays, was a close second.

A. Morris, at third, knocked down some hard chances and once, getting a pitcher's assist too late to retire a runner at his station, relayed the ball to first before the batter.

Evans tripled to middle in the first. Heckathorn walked. Potts drove a terrific liner to A. Morris, who, making a fine stop, assisted to first in time to retire the backstop as Evans scored. Wilde singled through short territory and finished on F. Marshall's drive that went through Hancock after L. McMath had quit, Greenspun to Dustman. Marshall stole second and went on to third on J. Morgan's bad peg. Wyant was out, Greenspun to Dustman.

Wilde singled and stole second in the third after Potts had skied to Manning. L. McMath drove to Myers, who threw late to third to stop Wilde, but Morris got the ball to Dustman in time to put out McMath at first. F. Marshall was hit and stole second. Both runners scored on Wyant's single back of third. C. Marshall walked. Stoffel went out, Hancock to Dustman.

Lyle, walking in the fourth after Hinkle had gone out, Stoffel to Heckathorne, scored on D. Manning's long triple to right field. Though slowed up by coaches at third he continued homeward and was nipped at the plate, C. Marshall to Wilde to Potts. For a moment, overcome by the long run, Manning lay prostrate, but laughingly arose with the aid of his teammates. A. Morris went out, Stoffel to Heckathorne.

Evans singled to middle in the fourth and stole second. Heckathorne sacrificed, Meyers to Dustman. Potts singled to left, scoring Evans. Kestner then supplanted Meyers and fanned Wilde. L. McMath singled to right, Potts going to third. Greenspun, recovering the ball, threw wildly to Hancock on second, permitting Potts to count. A. Morris, retrieving the ball, nipped L. McMath as he essayed to reach third.

With two out in the sixth Hinkle reached third as Evans booted his blow. He went to third on Lysle's single to left and scored on Manning's safe drive to right. A. Morris flew to C. Marshall.

After Hancock had fanned in the seventh Dustman singled and stole second, went to third on Kestner's retirement, Evans to Heckathorne, and counted on James' single. Stoffel then threw out Shipley at first.

LEAGUE O. K'S. ASHE VICTORY

Two Manangers Oppose Use of Imported Hurler.

THE contest played recently between Chester and Newell of the City Industrial league, over which a question arose as a result of the use by Laughlin of Pitcher Ashe, a newcomer to league ranks, will be counted in the official standing of the circuit, going down as a victory for Newell and a defeat for Chester.

The league so decided at a long session last night.

Objection to Newell's victory was voiced, because, it was pointed out, the use of Ashe violated a rule agreed upon by the six club managers at the outset of the second half that no player was to be imported by any club.

Two club managers, John Fowler, of Turk-Nash, and Frank Riley, of Chester, voted that the game not be counted, while the remaining four approved the Newell victory.

Immediately after this action Manager John Fowler asked for permission to bring in a pitcher and it was granted.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The follow-through after the ball is a detail that is hardly accomplished of itself. The follow-through is the result of a rhythmic swing. An expert golfer would hardly be able to stop his swing short of the follow-through if he wanted to. The lack of a sweeping follow-through comes from applying too much exertion against the club at the start of the down swing. This start is made with a forward glide of the body, largely through the hips. The club follows after. Then you give it a sling—outward, as if you meant it to cut across the ball from left to right. This slinging of the clubhead then must be kept well within the player's strength. Usually—and fortunately—very little of it is required for fine results. This is the reason girls can often drive as far as men.

SAINOR STOPS LAUGHLIN, 1-0

Southpaw Lets First Half Champs Down With Three Hits.

WITH "Bud" Sainor back in his old-time southpaw form, Victory Motor blanked Laughlin at Newell park last evening in a hard fought City Industrial league contest 1 to 0.

The portsider permitted the West Virginians but three safe drives, all singles, the first by Parsons when he opened in the initial period of play, the second by English as he led off in the sixth and the third by Finley in the seventh with two out and Hunselman on the bags by reason of the pitcher's error. Then he fanned Ashe, ending the game.

Five men faced him in the first, three each in the second, third, fourth and fifth, four in the sixth and five in the seventh. Incidentally the capable twirler, batting in the cleanup position for the auto aggregation smote the ball at a .500 clip, leading both clubs with the willow. He had eight chances also in the field, accepting all but two of them. He fanned five, hit one and walked none. Outside of these things he rested between times comfortably on the bench.

Opposing him was Paul English, former High school athlete. He too was in rare form though he allowed twice as many bingles as his hilltop opponent. He struck out four and passed two. And he connected safely once off Mr. Sainor while accepting three chances.

Sainor, be it further known, scored the only run of the game in the sixth when leading off, he bunted safely and went to third on Hunselman's bad throw as he stole second and he counted on H. Strobel's timely single.

Finley, at short and Aufterheide in left for Laughlin, had no fielding chances.

Robinson accepted eight and Hunselman six of seven chances behind the bat for the two teams.

crease in dollars being from 166 to 182 millions in round numbers.

Government estimates also show excellent 1926 crop prospects in basic products such as wheat, cotton, corn, and other large farm crops. The Kansas-Oklahoma area has enjoyed a bumper wheat crop, and other wheat areas are having good harvests. Climatic conditions this spring indicated a monster cotton crop, and while various elements, including insect pests, have cut into the total, a healthy crop, yet one calculated not to wreck prices, is anticipated.

The Dollar Buys More.

These related facts all give to the report of stabilized living costs an encouraging aspect. They indicate that the average American may anticipate at least a fractional lower living cost with no danger of a depression. This sums up to the prospect of a little increase in the average person's number of dollars, and a wider purchasing power for those dollars, in other words an increase in the average ability to enjoy comforts or luxuries, or to save.

The decreased index of living costs for the first half of the year extended through cities from coast to coast and lakes to gulf. Of the 32 cities listed, all but Jacksonville, Florida, noted a decrease, and the increase there was but one-tenth of one per cent. Los Angeles recorded the largest decrease, 3.5 per cent. For the first year, 24 of the cities had a fractional increase and eight a decrease, these latter being Houston, Los Angeles, Portland (Oregon), San Francisco, Seattle, Denver, Memphis, and New Orleans. The tendency to lower costs has been most general on the Pacific Coast, where increases in living costs have also been least in the whole period of years since the prewar era.

The accumulated data of the Bureau of Labor Statistics show that cost of living increases since 1913 have been greatest in house furnishing goods, which have registered more than 100 per cent increase on the average. Fuel and light have gone up 80 per cent, clothing 68 per cent, housing 65 per cent, and food 59 per cent. Prices in all of these fields are becoming stabilized at fairly equal ratios.

Detroit has recorded the largest living cost increases in the country, and has probably been the fastest growing city. Living costs there since 1913 have gone up 84.7 per cent. Portland, Oregon has had the smallest increase of the cities reported, 54.6 per cent. Figures for rural communities will have to be considered before any final calculation of living costs can be made for the whole country, but the cities being distributing points for surrounding regions gives a usually accurate basis for judging the whole trend of prices.

Something may occur at any time to send the price indices once more on the upward trend, but if the stabilization indicated thus far is continued through the year, the cartoonists may be obliged to cease depicting the cost of living as an inflated balloon, and substitute a more stationary symbol. As costs are not likely to come down very far, a captive balloon may do the trick.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 81 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

If you have a tendency to jump onto your toes at the beginning of the down swing you may be pretty sure you are applying too much force to the club at that point. Save that force until the clubhead gets near the ball. Then you can throw it in—or, better, it will go in naturally and automatically. The right foot presumably stays flat on the turf until the ball is hit. Actually it appears that the heel springs off the turf an instant before the clubhead gets there. However, the action is so fast here that it is foolish to be concerned about exact and precise rules. The whole matter is governed largely by the eye, since the clubhead will go to the point where the focus is fixed, which is the ball. It is not well to keep the right heel glued to the ground, as that promotes stiffness and awkwardness, yet at the same time be careful not to jump onto your toe at the start.

RICKARD FACES FIGHT ISSUE

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—Mandamus proceedings, designed to force the license committee to show cause why Jack Dempsey should not be granted a permit to meet Gene Tunney here on September 16, will be brought today by Tex Rickard, on behalf of the Madison Square Garden corporation, but the proposed separate action by Dempsey may be delayed. Arthur F. Driscoll, the champion's attorney, made this known this morning in announcing that a further conference with Rickard and Gene Normile was scheduled for today.

"If we decide that Dempsey should start proceedings, I will leave for Saratoga tonight," Driscoll said. "I will return as soon as I get Dempsey's signature to the papers but I cannot hope to file the proceedings before Friday morning."

Opinion here was general that the license committee can overcome favorable court action by revoking Rickard's license at the Yankee stadium.

POLA NEGRI IN SPANISH ROLE

Ceramic Also Books High Class Vaudeville Act.

Pola Negri gratefully acknowledges that Theodore Roberts, "grand old man of the screen," helped inspire her in making "Flower of Night," her latest Paramount production, which will be the feature at the Ceramic theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Roberts, who has practically recovered from his long illness, was an almost daily visitor to Miss Negri's set.

The picture has its most important setting in San Francisco in the years following the gold discovery and a number of the important characters are Vigilantes. The Vigilantes were a group of citizens who banded together to stamp out lawlessness.

Roberts' father was a California pioneer and one of the prominent Vigilantes. Between scenes Roberts would tell Pola stories of the atmosphere and happenings of the days in which "Flower of Night" takes place, recounting, also, incidents told him by such old-timers as Sam Brennan, William T. Coleman and Joseph Winans. His interest kindled Pola's enthusiasm.

Theodore Roberts was born within two blocks of the famous Bella Union saloon, on Kearney street, between Washington and Jackson, in San Francisco. They sold the home and later it was swallowed up in what became San Francisco's Chinatown. The home was destroyed by the San Francisco fire two years after the Roberts family disposed of it.

The California Pioneers, in which Mr. Roberts inherits a membership from his father, was composed of pioneers who arrived in the Golden State prior to 1850.

"Flower of Night," a romantic, colorful drama, was written by Joseph Hergesheimer especially for Miss Negri. It was adapted for the screen by Paul Bern. Warner Oland plays a "heavy" role.

As an added attraction to the movie bill is Baily and Barnum, a pair of laugh producing comedians. This couple was featured in "Lady Be Good" and "Greenwich Village Follies" last season and are returning to the latter show during the coming year. In the meantime they are filling short vaudeville engagements.

Resident Has Awful Experience

"I was twice confined in hospitals, in the last one nothing but gruel water was injected into me 4 times a day, as my stomach would not retain any food. I suffered terribly; was reduced to a skeleton. My folks saw an ad of MAYR'S and it has surely saved my life. I weigh 180 lbs. now." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Salem Paper Urges Abolition Of State Primary Elections

Less Than 30 percent of State's Vote Was Cast in Recent Primaries—Many Electors Voted Blindly is Claim.

Pointing to the exceptionally light vote in the recent primary balloting in not only Columbiana county but throughout the state, the Salem News, editorially, advises the abolition of the present primary system.

The average vote polled in the combined Republican and Democratic primaries was only 30 per cent of normal in the state. East Liverpool, with a voting strength of approximately 8,000 cast 2,000 ballots, and in Salem only 1,200 selected candidates, a thousand of them being Republicans.

The same low ratio was maintained in practically every other community of the county.

The News says:

"This means that a very small majority of qualified voters of Ohio again selected the candidates to represent thier respective parties in the November election. And this in spite of the fact that candidates for governor and other important state offices, United States senator, representatives to congress and all other important county offices were nominated.

"Are the candidates selected the ones the majority of Ohio's Republicans and Democrats want to represent them? Will they, in every case, be responsible to the party which they represent in the event they are elected? The first question cannot be answered with any degree of certainty, but it is certain, from past experiences, that those nominated by a minority vote do not feel the party responsibility that they should.

"Lack of interest in Ohio primary elections is not new, but it is growing to such serious proportions that a remedy must be provided. Not many voters knew the qualifications of one-tenth of the 70 candidates on the Republican state ticket Tuesday. It was merely a maze of confusing names which greeted their eyes as they marked their ballots. Here and there someone knew something about one or two of the candidates, but another candidate might have been much better fitted for the office but the cost and the time required to put himself properly before the voters in every precinct in the state were prohibitive.

"As a result many voters throughout Ohio cast their ballots blindly for many candidates. And thousands of others not interested in primaries, remained away from the polls.

"Some have said that the Ohio primary law, and not the primary system as such, is at fault. But the same situation exists in other states. Voters all over the country are staying at home on primary days. The remedy lies in the repeal of the primary system and the substitution therefore of the convention system, properly guarded so that accredited delegates chosen by voters may select candidates to represent their parties in the general elections. This system with improvements over the old convention plan, is the logical and sane way out of the primary decline. It is used with success in selecting representatives for president and no one will question the fitness of candidates who have been selected by all parties in this manner for many years.

"Voters of Ohio demonstrated Tuesday their unwillingness to vote at a primary election. Why go on with a system they do not want and do not take seriously?

County Will Sell Town to Pay Off Delinquent Taxes

NASON, Ill.—Anyone with a few thousand dollars desiring a nice quiet town in which to settle down practically to himself should come and give this place the once-over.

The whole town, or about 95 per cent of it, has been placed on the auction block and is awaiting a good bidder. The county treasurer of Mt. Vernon has some $12,000 in delinquent taxes due and is going to sell the town to satisfy these debts.

Nason's principal industry, a large coal mine, shut down several months ago, and most of the male population were thrown out of work. Business slumped and with the exodus of many of the citizens, homes were closed and business houses felt the pinch until they also began moving away.

Then to add to the town's plight, destructive fires came along and destroyed many buildings. Taxes on many lots, likewise, are due and no body is willing to pay the treasurer.

Contracts for the construction of an automobile highway from Valparaiso to Casa Blanca, has been let.

Mr. Dempsey's Rest.
Farmers' Fairy Story.
All Cheerful Here.
Black Bread and White Bread.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

JACK DEMPSEY describes with affection two detective-sergeants from Chicago that will be his bodyguard, one at night, one by day, while he trains for his coming prize fight.

It would be a pity to have anybody hurt Mr. Dempsey, or, as he puts it, disturb my rest," while he is engaged in delicate and important preparations to knock out Mr. Tunney. Many in Chicago whose nights and days and mental rest are disturbed by bandit possibilities must wish that they were heavyweight champions and could have two picked men of the Chicago force to watch over them.

MR. HOOVER tells farmers of the middle west they need waterways and lower freight rates to compete with the Panama canal. Farmers in the Canadian northwest ship their wheat to Europe by water and save heavily on freight charges, as compared with middle west United States farms.

American ships, thanks to official idiocy and a desire to please Britain, must pay the same as foreign ships to use the Panama canal, and the American farmers were taxed to build it.

MR. HOOVER'S suggestion of waterways and low freight rates to the ocean will impress intelligent farmers as an excellent fairy story. They know, as Mr. Hoover knows, that the railroads will not permit the public to use its own highways for omnibus routes. Watch the railroads win that fight.

ANOTHER working week begins, cheerful and biz business very cheerful. Wall Street went home last Saturday noon in pleasant mood. That summer slump seems far away and "market leaders still lead upward and onward, like the excelsior young man in the poem. In this country there is nothing to frighten us, unless we frighten ourselves.

BELGIUM eats black bread, the king setting the example. Full power was given to the king, which is about as intelligent as it would be in a hive, to give full power to one of the drones.

Those that eat black bread are not men that save a country. Anybody intelligent enough for that job knows how to get white bread.

In the French revolution, which saved France from worthless kings and nobility, the work was done by eaters of white bread. The black bread eaters only howled around the guillotine, as it cut off heads, and later went to be shot when Napoleon sent them.

A GERMAN inventor offers to young ladies and others, for protection, a small apparatus worn on the wrist like the watch. A slight touch on your wrist by a person offending you puts that person out of commission, with an electric discharge of 1,000 volts at low amperage. You carry the battery concealed, and press a button to make the machine work. It would be useless however, in dealing with our "hands up" bandits.

The West Virginia recreation and amusement center which, in the heydey of its career ranked second to no inland park in the country, will be restored to all its former glory.

Quits Akron September 15.

This is the announcement made today by C. A. Smith, owner, who has turned the 42-acre park property over, on a 25-year lease basis, to C. C. Macdonald, of Akron, the present manager of Summit Beach park, at Akron, recognized as one of the most modern of its kind throughout this section of the country.

Macdonald's contract at the Akron resort expires September 15. After that he will devote his entire time to the Rock Springs park project.

Macdonald, it was announced, has agreed to put Rock Springs park back in "better shape than it ever was" and will throw $50,000 into the job at the very outset.

A skilled park operator, Macdonald will install a complete new line of amusements and all usable equipment at the park now will be renovated, repaired and placed in working order. As a nucleus he will have the swimming pool, the dance pavilion, both modern in every respect, and the lake, in addition to several other amusement structures.

It is planned to place the park in operation next spring. The new manager will start preliminary work, however, this fall. A landscape expert will be brought in to aid in restoring the natural beauty of the site. Work along this line will progress until early in the spring when Macdonald

United States to Maintain Hands Off Policy In Mexico

Appeals That Federal Government Intervene in Church Dispute Have Been Denied, Spokesman for Coolidge Says.

By GEORGE E. DURNO.

WHITE PINE CAMP, N. Y., Aug. 17.—The United States will maintain a hands-off policy in so far as the dispute between the Catholic church and the Mexican government is concerned. The appeals of the Knights of Columbus in this country and others for intervention will have to be denied.

This was made known officially today by President Coolidge's spokesman. Neither international law nor existing treaty rights give this government authority to interfere in a purely domestic question, the Coolidge mouthpiece said, and the administration regards the church-state conflict as absolutely personal to Mexico.

The American government will confine itself to efforts to protect American property rights in Mexico, it was stated.

COUNCIL HEAD TAKES MAYOR'S JOB IN CITY OF STEUBENVILLE

Solicitor Rules Against Appointment of J. P. Gavin.

Suspended Chief Claims That Removal is "Political Deal."

STEUBENVILLE, Aug. 17.—President of Council Dr. E. J. C. Sanders today took over the duties of mayor of Steubenville, succeeding John S. Patton who was suspended yesterday along with Chief of Police Blaine D. Carter, by Judge Jay S. Paisley.

Mayor Patton left the city hurriedly just prior to the filing of petitions asking for his removal. Before leaving he sent a letter to Justice of the Peace James P. Gavin appointing him a special city magistrate.

Assistant Solicitor Earl B. McMasters decided last night, however, that this appointment giving Gavin the reigns of mayor was nullified the minute Patton was suspended by the court action and that the head of the city council automatically became mayor until Patton is proven innocent or guilty of the charges of embezzlement and failure to do his sworn duty as contained in the charges.

Squire Gavin stated he would be glad to abide by such a decision. Acting mayor Sanders took up his new duties officially today by officiating at police court this morning.

Chief Carter relinquished his office late yesterday. One of the first acts of the new mayor will be to name a temporary successor to Carter.

Patton and Carter have ten days in which to file answers to the suspension charges. After these answers are filed the court will set a date for a hearing of the evidence on the charges.

"That will be my time to talk and tell Steubenville what a grand political deal is being put over on them," said Chief Carter.

The ouster movement against the two officials was sponsored by the Steubenville ministerial association.

LOUIS MAZER, 'JUNGLE' LORD, CHARGED WITH DEATH OF PUBLISHER

Prisoner Taken to District Attorney's Office, Where He Breaks Down and Weeps, When Told That He is Accused of the Killing of Don R. Mellett, Editor of Canton Daily News.

EVIDENCE IS SUFFICIENT TO SEND SUSPECT TO C HAIR, SLATER SAYS

Mystery Witness in Case, Whose Story Caused Arrest of Mazer, Tells of Trip to Cleveland Where Murder of Mellett Was Discussed — Claims Threats Have Been Made Upon Life.

FEDERAL BUILDING, CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 17.—Louis Mazer is as good as in the electric chair right now for the murder of Don R. Mellett, Ora Slater, ace of Ohio detectives, told International News Service today as he led the group of Canton officials and investigators into the office of United States District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen for the conference which will decide when the federal government's next blow will fall.

Accompanying Slater were Earl Hexamer, acting chief of police of Canton; George Armstrong, Slater's aid, instrumental in building up the case about Mazer; Joseph R. Roach, vice fighting attorney of Chicago; Judge H. C. Pontius, counsel of the Canton News who brought the "mystery witness" in the case to Bernsteen; and George Thorn, deputy sheriff of Stark county, who will serve the murder warrant on Mazer.

Mazer was brought into United States District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen's office at 11 o'clock this morning by United States Marshall George Stauffer. The prisoner was handcuffed. He had no intimation he faced a serious charge.

Sobs at Accusation.

After the dynamic district attorney asked him a few questions concerning the operation of the liquor ring at Canton, the federal official leaned toward Mazer and said:

"You are charged with the murder of Don R. Mellett!"

There was a gasp of astonishment from Mazer. His face blanched. His features quivered and he broke into dry sobs.

At this moment Mr. and Mrs. David Mazer, of Canton, the prisoner's parents, who had entered the district attorney's office, rushed to his side.

"Louie! what's the matter?" they asked.

"They say I killed him," Mazer whispered in a sob racked voice, the whisper plainly audible in the stilled office.

"Oh, no!" the suspect's mother cried. She brought out her handkerchief. Both she and her husband wept silently.

Mazer, you killed Mellett," Bernsteen hurled this accusation at Mazer in the conference chamber.

"Mr. Bernsteen I didn't, all my pals

All four of the strangler's victims were brutally attacked before they were slain.

CYCLONE, SWEEPING NORTHERN NEW JERSEY KILLS ONE AND CAUSES $1,000,000 PROPERTY DAMAGE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. — One dead, five injured and property damage estimated at more than a million dollars was the toll today of the cyclonic storm which tore through a portion of northern New Jersey last evening, jumped over New York City and turned into a waterspout at Glen Cove and Sea Cliff, Long Island. The twister sucked up the waters of Hempstead harbor and hurled a 150-foot wave against Glen Cove and Sea Cliff, smashing yachts and houses and felling 500 trees.

Leaving widespread destruction in its wake, the twister lost its force after striking the Long Island towns and continued along the northern shore to the eastern end of the island, where it lost itself at sea.

Although J. P. Morgan's Corsair and other yachts at Glen Cove escaped the waterspout, many smaller boats were smashed to pieces as a series of huge waves roared toward the shore, growing in height until the spout extended 150 feet toward the heavens, illuminated by blinding flashes of lightning. The gigantic waves then crashed down on a bungalow colony on the shore, flattening buildings, washing out roads and smashing trees and telegraph poles. The towns were plunged into darkness as power lines were severed.

As the twister passed over New York City, David Goldfarb, painter, was struck by a stray bolt of lightning. He toppled from a third-story window to the street, dying instantly.

The cyclone, coming out of the west, resembled a streak of black and white smoke as it struck northern New Jersey at 7:25 o'clock. Rain which accompanied the twister flooded the streets. In Ridgefield, N. J., the cyclone demolished the Morsemen community church and tore off the roofs of several buildings.

From Ridgefield the twister streaked through Ridgefield park, Perth Amboy, Morsemere and Palisades park, directly across the Hudson from New York, snapping off trees and telegraph poles and lifting roofs. Transportation facilities were paralyzed and roads blocked by wreckage.

A castastrophe was narrowly averted when a bolt of lightning struck an oil tank in The Standard Oil company's Bayway plant, causing a fire which firemen managed to extinguish.

The twister hopped over New York and twenty minutes later struck the Long Island towns, destroying at least one mile of water front.

Residents of the stricken areas were hard at work today repairing their shattered homes. In some cases their belongings were washed or blown a mile away.

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE.

Fortunately, Lou hadn't come in. She's said something about dining with Leslie. Bee undressed quickly and made up the sofa. She was sleeping there during the emergency, as Delia had only a single bed in the room. Before turning in, she called up their own rooms, and heard from Arthur's own lips that Delia was definitely better, though still suffering frightfully. So he was sticking. We'll, he'd better. If he should exhibit the first sign of slipping back into the old selfishness, a word to Fred would be enough. Curious how effectively a little primitive, crisp vigor could straighten out a mess like that. "Force never settled anything." Maybe. Maybe—

She put out the light and lay on the lumpy sofa in a glow. Why had she said next Saturday, anyway? Why not sooner? Every moment away from Fred now would be torture. And the nights would be long . . . She got up again to call him. Just to hear his voice and to float an idiotic kiss to him over the wire. And she said: "Don't buy a stone, Fred—just the wedding ring. Yes, of course I want that . . . .What, you'll wear one too? Oh, wonderful!" She'd have to say something to Lou. Something.

But when Lou finally came in, more preoccupied than ever, she found herself simply avoiding the issue. A cheerful little coward. Too much to unsay. She'd have to think it out. Let it ride—a day, or two, or three.

They talked, jerkily again, touching only the surfaces, while Louise was undressing. When the light was out again and Lou's long body stretched out (with a sigh) in the bed, Bee said: "Do you suppose there's a chance that those two will work out some happiness together?"

"No I don't" replied Lou. "Not a chance. You can't really make Arthur over. Sooner or later she'll have to divorce him. Probably sooner. He's had a scare. It's sobered him for the moment. But his habits are fixed. He's really just an epicurean experimentalist among women."

"Not a bad line, old thing."

"But marriage was what she needed. She's got it. He'll have to do something in the way of keeping her alive. She can make him do that. And she'll have her morale again. That's about all I can see in it."

"Probably that's about the size of it," mused Bee. Apropos of nothing at all, she suddenly wanted to laugh and sing. Incongruous again. She made herself lie very still and breathe deeply. Lou would be asleep pretty soon. Then she could float out into delicious reverie, half awake, putting together again in her warm imagination each of the series of incidents that had taken place during that amazing taxi ride.

"Oh, Lou—awake?"

"Sort of."

"Did you talk with Kapek?"

"Yes."

"Well—what did he say?"

"Nothing doing.

"Oh, Lou!"

"Amounted to that. Mr. Des Plaines could hardly wait on me for his next picture, but I must feel assured that there'll always be a place for a person of my talent in the picture industry."

"That's something."

"My dear, the difference between a general feeling of assurance and that definite contract is exactly five hundred a week. Now keep still and let me get to sleep."

For Louise, too, it had been a deeply emotional evening. Slowly, a quarter-hour after Bee went uptown, she walked over to the Square. Leslie had said he'd be waiting in front of the theater. Over the telephone she hadn't been able to make him out. He'd been abrupt and sparing of words (unlike him) and rather breathlessly mysterious. Something had happened—perhaps real trouble. He was out of work of course, and facing the long drought that summer presents to most theater folk. There would be some deep appeal to her sympathy. No escaping that. Her recent discovery that you couldn't long ride the complications of life with a high hand was bringing a sense of being beaten down that bewildered her. It hurt. And the deeper knowledge that love, when judgment is outraged, may linger as a habit, hurt her more sharply still. Undertow.

Nearing the corner, her feet lagged. She stopped, by a doorstep—simply stood there. But her thoughts weren't getting her anywhere. She'd be growing bitter in a moment, just vaguely, unreasonably bitter. There was nothing in that. She might better drift with these queer conflicting currents. After all, that was what most humans did, when you stopped to think of it. Planning was no good. How could she figure out what she might do? How could anybody? With a shrug she went on around the corner and gave Leslie her hand.

He had on his blue suit, neatly pressed, and a simple four-in-hand tie with the pearl stick-pin that she had given him only last Christmas. And she'd gone with him like a settled housewife in early March to pick out that suit. It had to be ready-made. Real tailors were luxuries. But Leslie's figure though tall, was of good average proportions, and the ready-made things always fitted him.

That moment, standing there before the Village Theater, looking straight at the man who had for so long been her accepted lover, was the most poignant of her life thus far. He still loved her. She sensed that in every nerve. And that pull of sheer habit was unnerving. Perhaps, in this queer moment, her life was shaping its course for good. The only strength that appeared to be in her was that arising bitterness. That thought was something, perhaps, to hold to. For she couldn't drift back into what is called love with bitterness in her heart. It would give the lie to her whole life. Or could she? Quietly she stood, saying no unnecessary words.

Q. How does a buzzard sail against the wind without flapping its wings? A. D.

A. The Biological Survey says that the buzzard is able by more or less imperceptible movements of different parts of the wings, to take advantage of minor air currents.

Q. How do jellyfish travel? How do they reproduce? B. D.

A. They swim by alternate dilation and contraction of the disk or umbrella, and progress mostly by drifting with the surface currents. They reproduce by eggs.

Q. What is meant by "The Family of Nations?" J. H.

A. In International law the phrase refers to an assemblage of states claiming a common civilization and a political and moral equality; specifically, the Nations of Christendom in Europe and the New World, also the Ottoman Empire (since the Treaty of Paris 1856) and more recently Japan.

Q. Why are Welsbach mantles so called? U. S. R.

A. They are named for their inventor, Auer von Welsbach.

Q. When was Sunday first considered the first day of the week? D. V.

A. In 321 the Roman Emperor, Constantine, who had been converted to Christianity, issued an edict protecting the Christians, and also changing the observance of the Sabbath as a legal day of rest from the Sabbath, which had formerly been observed on the 7th day of the week, to the first day of the week, commemorating the resurrection of Christ from the dead. Since this time the Sabbath or Sunday has been reckoned as the first day by the majority of Christians.

Q. In what sort of place should leather bags be kept? T. F. W.

A. In storing leather goods it is best to keep them from the light and air as much as possible. This seems to be the important factor rather than temperature and humidity.

Q. How and when were glee clubs first organized? I. V. A.

A. The glee club which originated in some meetings at the house Robert Smith in St. Paul's Churchyard (England), commenced in 1783, at which motets, madrigals, glees, canons and catches were sung after dinner. The meetings were subsequently held at Dr. Beevers and other houses until, in 1787, it was resolved to establish a society to be called "The Glee Club," the first public meeting of which took place at the Newcastle Coffee House on Saturday, December 22, 1787.

Q. What was meant by usury in the Bible? R. L.

A. The word usury has come in modern English to mean excessive interest upon money loaned, either illegal or at least oppressive. In the Scriptures, however, the word did not bear this sense, but meant simply interest of any kind upon money. The Jews were forbidden by the law of Moses to take interest from their brethren, but were permitted to take it from foreigners. The practice of mortgaging land, sometimes at exorbitant interest grew up among the Jews during the captivity, in direct violation of the law.

Q. What is the title of the school for "baby congressmen?" G. C. R.

A. "Symposium" is the name given to the Baby Congress. It is a school for beginners where the new members receive instruction in the rudiments of being national legislators. There were more than a hundred novitiates in the last house. These are members who have not served in previous congresses, and who, presumptively, are not thoroughly informed as to what is expected of them in their new jobs. They could learn all this experience in the course of a few weeks or months, but William Tyler Page, clerk of the house, offered them a short cut to knowledge.

ALBANY TO HAVE 26-STORY STATE OFFICE BUILDING; COST $6,000,000

ALBANY, N. Y.—New York State is planning to spend upwards of $6,000,000 for a state office building.

A draft of the structure, which will tower 26 stories into the sky, has just been completed by Sullivan W. Jones of Yonkers, state architect.

When completed, the building will be the tallest in the state between New York City and Buffalo.

It is to be erected on a city block to the west of the state capital. Bids have just been advertised for the work of clearing the site for the new structure. The site alone will cost the State more than $1,000,000.

The Legislature of 1926 appropriated $1,000,000 to secure the site. The Legislature of next winter is expected to appropriate about $5,000,000 for the construction work. The money will be taken from the $100,000,000 bond issue approved by the voters a year ago for permanent public improvements.

All of the state bureaus and agencies, with the exception of those now in the capital and the state education building, will be lodged in the new office building when it is completed. At present state offices are scattered in all parts of the city of Albany, and the state, has been paying upwards of $500,000 a year rent for some time.

LYON SCORES BIG TRIUMPH

Plays Leading Role in "The Reckless Lady" at American.

Ben Lyon scored a personal triumph in "The Reckless Lady," a new Robert Kane-First National production which was shown for the first time yesterday at the American theatre. Ben's acting was a constant delight.

As a matter of fact, the entire cast, which is all-star, gave a superlative performance. Belle Bennett in the title role and Lois Moran, the 16-year-old "wonder girl," were close runners-up to Ben. So, too, were James Kirkwood, Lowell Sherman and Charlie Murray.

The film is an adaptation of "The Reckless Lady," the popular novel by Sir Philip Gibbs. So convincing is the the film drama, however, that one feels it was written directly for the screen.

Some of the finest scenes in the picture are those showing the famous Casino, where so many millions regularly change hands over the gaming tables.

The action is largely laid in the Island of Monaco.

For Ben Lyon and the rest of the cast; also for a splendid story, "The Reckless Lady" is heartily recommended.

Through traffic, the first since the beginning of the war, has been opened between Mukden and Peking, passenger express trains being run twice a week.

CATTLE DISPLAY AT STATE FAIR

Big Exhibits Entered For Week of August 30.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 17.—Recognized as one of the greatest combined beef and dairy shows in the world, the cattle exhibits at Ohio State Fair—August 30 to September 4—will exceed those of a year ago in number and quality of animals qualifying, according to officials.

When the immense new cattle exposition building was completed in 1924, it was believed then that the facilities provided would accommodate the cattle show for many years to come. But, in the dedication year, the entries were sufficiently large to show the Fair management that within a very short period it could be expected that the structure would be outgrown. Last year, when approximately 1800 animals were showing, it was believed that a mark had been set that would be eclipsed with difficulty.

According to advance entries, however, the 1926 exposition promises to pass that of last year by several score of head.

G. B. Warner of Wellington, is the Board of Agriculture member in charge of the cattle department. More than $31,000 will be distributed among competitors in this division.

As in years past, all of the leading breeds will be represented at the State Fair this year. Shorthorns have generally led in numbers, largely because Ohio was the first state to develop this breed and it is quite significant that most of the champions have come from within the confines of Ohio.

Coming into Ohio from the west, Hereford entries have made it possible for the Buckeye "white face" show to be the largest in the east. Ohio Aberdeen Angus and Polled Shorthorns generally receive much competition from Indiana and Illinois breeders.

The Jersey show at Ohio Fair is always equal to any in the United States. The finest imported animals from the Eastern and Southern states have been competing with Ohio-bred Jersey cattle. It is significant that there are more Jersey breeders in Ohio than any other state.

A feature of the show has been the Holstein exhibitions. The county herd classes have brought to Ohio State Fair the entries of the small farmer-breeders from over the state.

The Guernsey classifications has shown a remarkable growth during the last few years. In 1923, the Grand Champions of the Ohio State Fair were made Grand Champions of the National Livestock Exposition a few weeks later.

QUARANTINE TO BE MAINTAINED

Corn Borer Regulations Will Not be Lifted During Summer.

Two corn borer quarantine stations will be maintained in this county throughout the current season it is officially announced. One of these stations will continue to be located on the Salem-Lisbon road in Perry township and another on the Lincoln Highway in West township.

In combatting the European corn borer, state and federal forces have been combined with considerable effect. The county quarantines have been promulgated by the federal horticultural board of the United States Department of agriculture and the department of agriculture of Ohio to prevent the artificial spread of this insect.

Large containers have been placed opposite the stopping of all motor vehicles traveling out of the infected area and into these is being placed all green corn taken from cars.

Some motorists make objection when the green corn is taken from their cars, but under the ruling of the Federal and State Department of Agriculture, the corn must be "given up" or the driver of the car containing the green corn will be subjected to arrest.

Alimony Granted.

Judge W. H. Spence in common pleas court has granted Mrs. Mary E. Smith $50 temporary alimony to be paid within 10 days from date by her husband William D. Smith whom she has sued for divorce, and Smith has also been ordered by the court to pay $60 per month to his wife from the immediate date. The latter payment is to be made once a month until further order of court.

A temporary restraining order against Smith has also been granted by the court in this case.

New Advanced and Light Six Models are Displayed.

Coincident with the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the founding of The Nash Motors company, Nash dealers throughout the country are staging an impressive introductory display of the newly-refined Advanced Six and Light Six models. The local dealer is The Turk-Nash Motor Sales, Dresden avenue. The heighth of development to which Nash has brought these cars epitomizes the phenomenal progress of the company since the day the first Nash car came off the production line a full decade ago.

Both from an engineering standpoint and with regard to the niceties of arrangement and appointment, these two newly-refined groups of Nash models evidence even more vividly the notable character of Nash manufacturing resources.

Their advent presages an even more phenomenal success for Nash in the future than has been true of the past although in the ten years that have elapsed since the first Nash car was marketed the Company has reached a position in the industry ranking fifth or sixth among all automobile manufacturers in the world and is enjoying an uninterrupted sales advance which for rapidity and continuity of business increase is outstanding in the industry. During the first six months of this year Nash sales reached a total of 78,133 cars as contrasted to the total sales for the entire year 1925 of 96,121 cars. And 1925 had gained nearly 80 per cent over 1924.

Both the Series now being presented to the public are powered by newly-whose conspicuous characteristics are improved 7-bearing crankshaft motors extreme power-smoothness and quietness, combined with exceptional acceleration ability.

As regards the exterior appearance of these newly-refined models there are two features which immediately attract attention. First, is the artistically sculptured emblem of flying wings which surmounts the radiator. Next, is the harmonious richness of the new color combinations with which Nash has dressed these models. All of the open body models in these two groups are done duotone color combinations with the body molding marking the division line between the two colors.

The Light Six 4-Door Sedan which is the leader of the Light Six Series presents a longer, roomier body with an increased amount of leg room. The rear of this body attracts the eye because of its beautifully rounded contour and an important feature is the more costly genuine wood-frame body construction Nash employs similar to the practice which is in vogue among the finest European and American cars, instead of the steel-frame type previously used.

This newly refined Light Six 4-Door Sedan is beautifully done in a deep Mallard Green finish with black upper structure and black body moldings, both of which are pencilled with thin is also observed in the disc wheels. double stripes of gold. Gold striping The Light Six Touring car is done in duotone. Above the black body molding is a rich green-gray while below the molding the car is finished in lustrous double gold striping and the green-trous Lilac Gray. The body molding gray disc wheels are also traced in gold.

Breathing

Houdini, the professional magician, accomplishes the seeming miracle of surviving an hour and a half in a six-and-one-half foot coffin, tightly sealed, just to show he can do it. The "trick," he explains, is to take very short, even breaths, living on the air in the coffin when the occupant enters it, but conserving it to the utmost.

By breathing normally he would use the air all up in a couple of minutes. By breathing slightly, he ekes it out and makes it suffice. It is the same as the food principle of short rations, by which men threatened with starvation survive by eating very little over a prolonged period instead of eating normally while the food lasts.

So it is proved that a human being, without trance, hypnotism or magic of any kind, can live for an hour and a half on almost no air. But it would be very unfortunate if this demonstration should lead anyone to make a practice of scant breathing.

Houdini was probably able to perform his stunt all the better from the fact that he is a man of liberal chest development and accustomed to deep breathing. That gave him the vitality and endure breath privation, just as a well nourished man might endure hunger longer than one ill nourished.

There are eastern fakirs and mystics who make a mysterious art of breathing, professing to get along with little breath, or to accomplish wonders, physical and mental, by their precise method of inhalation and exhalation. Whether there is anything in their claims or not, this much is certainly true for ordinary persons: The deeper they breathe, and the more air they get—especially fresh air—the better.

Air is life. The deep breather is the vigorous person. Swimmers, who need great vigor, always have big chest capacity, and use it. Miss Ederle is a good example.

Hooverizing Abroad

During the war, when Herbert Hoover was "food dictator," "Hooverizing" meant saving foodstuffs. Now the word has changed to indicate another economy more distinctly American, but sweeping around the world. It means standardizing and simplifying manufactured articles.

This is an old hobby of the engineer now in charge of the department of commerce. His present position enables him to work it for all it is worth. His efforts are none the less effective because compliance is voluntary. It is easy to show intelligent maufacfacturers how much waste and loss there is in making so many different kinds and sizes of lumber, nails, screws, saws, brick, pots, dishes, etc., when the public could get along just as well with less variety. So 57 standard recommendations already in effect in American industry have made big economies in the output of thousands of firms and are said to be saving the nation $600,000,000 a year.

Soon, it is said, our muffins will be made in tins of standardized shapes, our pies in standardized pans and our dinners served with standardized silverware.

Theoretically this reform might be carried too far, making undesirable uniformity. Practically, there will be plenty of variety left and plenty of differences in quality and artistic finish.

Now other nations everywhere are said to be studying the system and hastening to apply it. Europe is particularly interested. English authorities are saying, "Britain must simplify its industries." Austria, Holland and Germany are clamoring for the same thing. Another American idea is "revolutionizing industry."

Last Word On Jazz

Don't try to abolish jazz, advises Col. Mackenzie Rogan, a distinguished British musical director. It may torment the cultivated ear, and the lavish rewards of its practitioners may be resented by genuine musical artists; but for all that, it needn't be condemned off-hand, and efforts to banish it are futile.

"You cannot abolish jazz any more than you can extinguish the music hall song, the penny novelet, the chromo-lithograph, or any of the other humbler forms of art, so long as it offers something which gratifies the elementary artistic needs of the masses.

The people who drench themselves in jazz will surely tire of it in time, and then, music having become part of their daily lives, they may call, one hopes, for something better.

"If you cannot force people to enjoy good music, good pictures, good books, you can at least see to it that the best is ready for them when they want it."

This may serve as the last of many words on jazz.

Chinese Radio

A broadcasting station is being built at Mukden, China, to furnish information and entertainment for the Chinese. To pay the expenses of the venture, there will be levied a tax on consumers—25 cents on crystal sets and 50 cents on tube sets.

That should open a great field for this new art and for the business it represents. American manufacturers will not overlook it, though bearing in mind the fallacy of Mark Twain's celebrated scheme for getting rich by selling eye-water to "400,000,000 Chinamen with sore eyes."

American fans will start soon fishing for Mukden in quest of Chinese programs. That should satisfy the yearning for distance, at any rate. But how about having Chinese static added to the Christian varieties?

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Columbus Circle is to Broadway today the old Herald Square of yesterday—the pivot upon which the metropolitan carousel spins. It is a charming basis for pedestrians used to cramped sidewalks and the heaviest traffic point in the city.

One may leave it to emerge into the upper or lower Broadway lash of lights, or into the sudden cool night of the park. Or into the joust and jangle of 8th avenue. Or the subdued tenement district leading off toward the North river.

All types of New Yorkers drift hourly to The Circle and spill about in a kaledioscopic melange. It is a haven for the professional flirt, transatlantic pretenders, soap box propagandists, leather lifters, and the great army of the lonely.

In busy hours it requires about 12 traffic policemen to keep pedestrians and vehicles moving. It has all sorts of restaurants from white tiled hurry-ups to the sombre Chinese. There are innumerable shops sliced pie shape whose windows glitter with jewelry, fruit, flowers, souvenirs and the like.

In all the chiff-chaff there is the solidity of gigantic skyscrapers with offices of some of the most important enterprises in the world. Columbus Circle a few years ago was a mere "turn in the road" but with the building sweep northward its real estate became among the most valuable in the city. Nowadays it is always torn up.

Most of New York living above 72nd street on the west side drifts through The Circle during the 24 hour day. It is the starting point and wind-up of innumerable parades. Nearly every hour an ambulance careens in from a side street.

At night heavy lights spurt across the pavements and the effect is brighter than day. The hub-hub rarely simmers down until long after midnight.

I am told of a deformed beggar in Columbus Circle who has all pockets tightly sewed up and at intervals a sort of padrone comes up and empties the coins from the outstretched tin cup.

One might imagine a grass cutter would starve in New York but there are a number so expert their trade is almost a profession. They attend to the hidden gardens that bloom in the courts of private homes and apartment houses. Most of these horticultural activities are to be found in the so-called Fashionable Fifties although there are a number on Riverside Drive. One of the most famous gardens is that of Thomas Fortune Ryan at 5th Avenue and 68th street, and the largest terraced lawn and garden exposed to the public is that surrounding the home of Charles Schwab on the Drive—with its quaint sculpting in bronze of a puddler—symbolical of the steel king's humble beginning. There are many other vernal surprises in Manhattan blooming prettily with the finest flowers but they are not to be viewed by the bourgeosie.

One of the tenement uplift movements is to supplant threes and flowers for clotheslines flapping with wet wash and ash cans. But tenement dwellers show little interest. The sting of charity is there. They prefer to have their little window sill plants and most of them do—a rather pathetic effort of beauty to rise above the squalor.

Then there are the Lady Bountifuls impelled by worthy motives, of course, who visit the slums and experience an inward glow of righteousness but those submerged are rarely pleased with this idea. Poverty is bad enough, but to have it subjected to even kindly scrutiny is worse.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

THE OLD GRAZING PROBLEM.
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 17.—With some 185 million acres remaining in the public domain of the United States as the only free land in the country, the next session of Congress will give serious consideration to the regulation of cattle and sheep grazing on this land. For many years the cattle and sheep men of the West have stood vigorously for free grazing on the unreserved public domain, but many of them now admit that the range is being destroyed by overgrazing, and that public control may be necessary after all. The days of the free range are numbered.

After holding hearings in many western states, the public lands committee of the senate has before it a bill to regulate grazing on the public domain, and while the passage of any such bill is not certain, the tendency to regulation is stronger than ever before.

A fight between the Departments of the Interior and Agriculture about who should administer the grazing regulations has in the past assisted opponents of any conservation or regulation policy to keep the question at a deadlock in Congress. This difference of opinion still exists, but a plan of joint control is now proposed which may satisfy all conservationists that the public domain is to be protected and not wasted by a grazing control act.

Will C. Barnes, chief of grazing under the United States Forest Service, has managed the question of grazing regulation in the National Forests, where stockmen are allowed to bring limited numbers of animals, under permit, for periods of grazing, and the Senate has had the benefit of his experience as a public official in regulating the use of what was once a free public range. Mr. Barnes' testimony before the Committee on Public Lands has been assembled as a publication of the Forest Service, under the title. "The Story of the Range", and this booklet reviews the whole history of public grazing lands in the United States, and the various steps in control of grazing as the increase in population and in herds made free, promiscuous grazing no longer possible.

Ruined If Not Regulated.

Mr. Barnes is of the opinion that the remaining public domain of the United States will support a good deal of livestock if its use is regulated, and will be largely destroyed as a grazing resource unless it is regulated. He has ample evidence of the way in which over-grazing has reduced the grass production of the great semi-arid plains, until lands which would once maintain a cow for every three to five acres can not now afford a living to a cow on less than ten to thirty acres. The reduction of the forage crop on these lands has in many cases led to erosion of the lands and the complete destruction of their grazing value.

The remedy suggested by Mr. Barnes is to limit the number of stock allowed on the land in each region until the land has a chance to come back to normal productivity of forage materials, and then to keep a reasonable limit on the grazing. Under such a plan this great area of otherwise waste land may be made to yield a revenue of a few cents an acre to the Government each year. For the whole available public domain this would come to between two and three million dollars, and the cost of patrolling the lands and regulating grazing would certainly not be more than half the revenue.

Thus the forthcoming finish to the period of the free range is not foreseen without some useful aspects by the people most familiar with the utility of our remaining public lands. By regulation and conservation of the forage, these lands will sustain some ten to fifteen million head of cattle or the equivalent in sheep, for considerable parts of the year, and earn a little revenue for the Government at the same time. As practically all of the public lands left to the government are listed as worthless except for grazing, and as most of them would have been homesteaded long ago if they had any other value, this is so much to be saved. The cattle and sheep running without restriction over this range for a few more years would gradually destroy more and more of it beyond hope of restoration. Thus there will be strong inducements for congress to pass some sort of regulatory bill at its next session.

The history of the western ranges shows many previous efforts to regulate their use, but the Government has always clung to the early fetish of free land. Thus we theoretically have 185 million acres of free land in the country today, which any settler may have for the taking, but which no one will take. It is all worthless, except for grazing, and will fetch probably two or three cents an acre per year for that purpose. Thirty-five or thirty years ago members of Congress began to propose laws to save the gradually dwindling western ranges, but no bill to that end has ever passed. The cry for free grass has time and again been raised by the cattle men and sheep men, until now they are coming to realize that because it has been free, the grass has been in many places wholly destroyed, and in others greatly curtailed.

Will Supply Needed Funds.

Regulation will not only save a good deal of the forage on the remaining ranges, but will afford funds for fixing up water supplies and otherwise conserving and improving the range. In many of the semi-arid regions, small winter streams can be backed up by low concrete dams and made into lakes which will last all summer, giving a water supply when the streams dry up. Artesian wells and pump wells may be installed in other places, and by very little expense in providing water, large areas of the desert lands can be made useful for cattle and sheep.

The unreserved public domain at present is approximately the size of the State of Texas, and lies scattered in the 11 most western states. The largest area is in Nevada, which has 52 million acres of unclaimed public lands, a large part of which has never even been surveyed. Utah has 28 million acres, California 19 million, New Mexico 16 million, Wyoming 15 million, Oregon and Arizona 13 million each, and Idaho, Colorado, Montana, and Washington smaller areas.

These lands are surrounded by private lands, railroad lands, forest reserves, and Indian lands, and on all of these there is grazing, but always under lease and regulation except on the public domain, Thus only the public lands remain for the free lances of the cattle and sheep industry, who own no lands whatever and merely graze the public domain. Time was when their herds and flocks might go at will through all of the western plains and mountains.

The forest service now refuses grazing permits to owners who have no lands of their own and make no provision for wintering their stock. It sees no great hope any longer for the landless stockman, and does not care to rent the forest reserve lands in summer to feed animals which may be left to starve the next winter.

The wise stockman of the present era has a few haystacks not far from his winter range, and if he uses the public lands for some months, he is also raising feed at the home ranch, and improving his pasturage there. He may object to paying a fee for the open range which has hitherto cost nothing, but most of the cattlemen have come to agree that some steps to save the range are needed, and a little expense to that end may be justified.

So congress when it meets will once again take up the question of the proper conservation of the last wholly free areas in the United tSates.

My Favorite Stories

By IRVIN S. COBB

A SORT OF CIRCULATING MEDIUM, AS IT WERE.

This story has the merit of being applicable to these piping prohibition days although, to the best of my knowledge and belief, it originated back in the Wicked Days prior to January, 1920.

An auctioneer's man had been sent to a household to list its contents. Nothing of especial interest, either to himself or to others, marked the course of his labors until he had progressed so far as the dining room. Here, following his routine, he proceeded to enumerate the furnishings in proper order, item by item.

In his flowing professional script he set down the tally in his book:

One mahogany dining room table.
Six mahogany dining chairs.
One mahogany sideboard.
One bottle Scotch whisky, full.

Seemingly, then, ensued a period when the appraiser was otherwise engaged and made no entries whatsoever. Then, in a somewhat straggling and uncertain handwriting, he scratched out the last item and concluded his labors for the day with the following quotations:

One bottle Scotch whisky, partially full.

Banker Tells of Recent Trip Around the World.

John J. Purinton, secretary of the Potters' Savings and Loan company, who last year circled the globe on a conducted tour, visiting all chief cities and interest points along the route, today gave Rotarians a graphic description of his eight months' jaunt, from the starting point in Japan, through China, India, the Malay Islands, Egypt, Italy, France and smaller countries.

Approximately 40 members of the club attended the meeting. Harry Watkins was chairman.

President Malcom Thompson announced that Youngstown club members will be guests of the local organization at a golf tourney and dinner here next Friday. J. M. Wells, L. W. Smith, R. G. Thomas and C. V. Beatty were named as a committee to supervise arrangements for the visitors.

Dr. C. F. Kinsey led club singing, accompanied by Mrs. Danks Cochran.

C. W. Hellyer will be chairman of next week's meeting.

Mr. Purinton gave an interesting account of his travels in foreign lands, discussing economic and other phases of the various nations through which his party passed, and explaining modes, manners and customs of the many different classes of people encountered on the trip.

Merchant Shipping Of World Increasing; Lloyd's Give Figures

LONDON.—The merchant shipping of the world has increased by 17,268,000 tons gross since June 1914, according to the 1926-27 edition of Lloyd's Register of Shipping published here.

Statistics for the past 12 months show that there has been an immense development in the use of steam turbine engines and of internal combustion engines, while the United States and Japan lead the world in motor ships.

Britain still leads the rest of the world with the greatest merchant tonnage, with the United States following a close second.

PIRATE PROBLEM IS THRESHED OUT

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—The possibility that Max Carey, deposed captain, may remain with the Pittsburgh Pirates, was expressed on all sides here today prior to the meeting of John A. Heydler, president of the National league, with Pirate officials and the three players discharged recently for alleged insubordination.

Taking cognizance of Carey's 14 years in organized baseball during which no charge of any kind had been preferred against him before the attempt of the three players to keep Fred Clarke, assistant manager, off the Pirates' bench, Heydler indicated that all phases of the affair will be thoroughly probed. The conference was called for 11 o'clock this morning.

Ohio River Rises As Heavy Rains Continue to Fall

CINCINNATI, Aug. 17.—Heavy rains during the last two weeks throughout the Ohio valley intermittent with only short periods of sunshine have brought the stage of the Ohio river and the Little Miami to dangerous high water levels.

The water today was still rising following heavy rains early this morning, occupants of summer cottage colonies along the Little Miami were deserting them for higher ground and orders had gone out in camps along the waterways to keep all off the water.

Delay to shipping and passenger service on the Ohio was experienced as result of the extra flood poured into the channel. The big river was out of control of wikets and dams and ships which have to be moved through locks around the dams were tied up waiting for the water to subside.

GIRL ABANDONS CHANNEL SWIM

Girl Leaves Water When Overwhelmed by Storm.

CAPE GRIS NEZ, France, Aug. 17.—Miss Lillian Cannon, another American woman swimmer, was forced to acknowledge defeat today when overwhelmed with a heavy rain and electrical storm which made her further progress in swimming across the English channel impossible and rendered the accompanying tug Alsace unmanageable. The tug captain refused to continue the crossing in the face of the storm.

Miss Cannon was taken from the water at 3:30 o'clock this morning. The storm was threatening when she took off from here on her schedule time of 12:48 o'clock. At 2:25 after she had covered a distance of three miles, the storm broke, but the plucky girl refused to give up her attempt.

During the next hour she progressed another mile with the greatest difficulty, and consented to be taken aboard the tug only when the captain refused to take the responsibility for proceeding any further as the tug was fast becoming unmanageable in the heavy seas.

Aboard the tug were Wideman, Miss Cannon's own trainer, Burgess, Gertrude Ederle's trainer, Wolfe, Helmy, and Egyptian swimmer, Mme. Sion, and the German, Kemmerick, the latter three all channel aspirants.

Miss Cannon announced that she will make another attempt to swim the channel starting either next Friday or Saturday, early in the morning.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Under the influence of an additional increase of $31,600,000 in brokers' loans for the week of August 11, reported at the close of yesterday's session, and offering additional evidence of the expansion of speculative buying, the stock market was slightly reactionary in the early trading today, particularly the high-priced industrials and specialties which led Monday's closing rally.

New forward moves were started in a number of the prominent railroad stocks, under the lead of Rock Island. The Southwestern merger group was fairly active and strong, with cotton belt continuing its upward movement; Northwestern rails received more than usual attention, particularly Great Northern and Northern Pacific. Copper stocks held all of their gains, and American Smelting displayed conspicuous strength, selling in good volume above 151.

The new increase in brokers' borrowings makes a gain of $117,000,000 in two weeks, a pace which was considered a little too rapid by the conservative element in Wall street. Taken in conjunction with the recent withdrawal of about $100,000,000 from the speculative market by the interior banks and the increase in the federal reserve rediscount rate here to 4 per cent, it indicated the prospect of a curtailment of funds for stock market manipulation in the near future. Meanwhile the call loan rate was unchanged at 4½ per cent.

Industrial stocks milled around with little apparent change in the first hour after the offerings of the professionals had been absorbed.

Valentino, Screen "Sheik" Recovering From Operation

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Rudolph Valentino was apparently rallying from his critical illness today.

Attending physicians announced that the famous screen "sheik" spent a restful night at Polyclinic hospital and that there had been no developments that would warrant undue anxiety.

Valentino, who had been reported as very ill following a double operation on Sunday for gastric ulcer and appendicitis, is not regarded as out of danger, however. At 10:30 this morning, attending physicians issued this bulletin:

"Mr. Valentino passed a fairly comfortable night. There has been no change to cause undue anxiety. Temperature 101.5, pulse 100, respiration 22."

POLICE SEARCH FOR MESSENGER

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 17.—Herbert Spencer, Jr., 19, messenger for the Columbus bureau of the International News Service, was missing from home and duties today. Police and his parents believe him to be a victim of amnesia.

Spencer suffered a sunstroke four years ago and shortly after disappeared. He returned home a month later, unable to tell where he had been, suffering a complete loss of memory. The recent heat wave was believed to have brought a relapse and his disappearance while at work Monday is believed to be another attack.

Murder Suspect Arrested

will tell you I didn't," the prisoner cried.

"Who are your pals?" Bernsteen asked. "If they know you didn't kill Mellett, they know who did."

Mazer refused to name his pals.

"I've got you Mazer and even if you don't go to the chair for that murder you are going to do time for that carload of liquor you and Carl Studer brought to Canton from Detroit."

"Studer is now in jail."

This was the first knowledge Mazer had of Studer's arrest.

Studer Defends Pal.

Studer, debonair and dressed as if going to a dance, was brought into the conference room and confronted with Mazer.

"Carl, please tell them I didn't kill Mellett," Mazer implored. "Please tell them."

Breaking down at Mazer's impassionate plea, Studer turned to Bernsteen and said: "Louis is innocent."

Mazer was then taken into Bernsteen's office where the other investigators were waiting to question him. Studer was put in a cell in the marshal's office.

Mystery Witness Talks.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 17. — The mystery witness whose testimony may send the slayer of Don R. Mellett to the electric chair, broke his silence today in an exclusive interview with International News Service.

"I am afraid to say anything," he said with a shifty glance that took in his whole surroundings in the federal building here.

"Sunday night two men drove up to my home and called me out. One of them said: 'If you tell anything we will bump you off.'

"About a week before Mellett was shot some friends of mine drove up to my house and asked if I wanted to go to Cleveland.

"I said I do.

"When I got into the car they introduced me to a man who they said was a Canton policeman and another man who they claimed was a Canton fireman.

"When we got to Cleveland we stopped at an undertaker's place and while they were asking about a consignment of liquor I sat in the rear room in which there was a blond, skinny fellow by the name of Frank.

"The 'Canton policeman' whispered something to Frank and the latter said: 'When are you going to bump him off?'

"The policeman said: 'Shut up! you fool! and looked hard at me.

"That was all I heard but I know now that I can recognize 'Frank.'"

This mystery witness whose identity has been carefully guarded told the story to a friend in Akron. This friend took him to Judge H. C. Pontius who in turn informed District Attorney Bernsteen.

Thus the mystery witness became the main cog in the case that Bernsteen has built about Mazer.

The mystery witness plainly showed the effect of worry over the death threats he has received. He said he has been afraid to go out of his home and has been too nervous to even eat and drink.

CANTON, O., Aug. 17.—Louis Mazer, alleged murderer of Don R. Mellett and declared by authorities to be the owner of the "ivory-handled revolver, that was used in the assasination, today will be asked by District Attorney A. E. Bernsteen, Cleveland, to tell everything he knows in connection with the crime.

While officials were speeding to Cleveland with the warrant, it was learned by International News service that two other arrests on first degree charges were not expected until Friday.

Evidence that is accumulating by leaps and bounds, however, may force the hands of investigators and bring about arrests before then, it was said.

Action, dormant for a month in the Mellett murder, today was ripping its way through a wall of mystery and political and social entanglements, and before the week ends at least two other men are expected to stand charged with the crime of crimes—murder, first degree.

They now face, according to officials conducting the inquiry, a mass of evidence in the crime that startled America and reverberated to the far corners of the earth.

Mazer, according to evidence gathered by Joseph R. Roach, Chicago, attorney; Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective, and by federal authorities at Cleveland, is alleged to have brought Pat McDermott and Steve Kascholk, informer being held here to Canton from Massillon about a week before the murder.

Mazer, according to the evidence, which officials declared today was corroborated by several reliable witnesses, drove the two men, who, according to the informer's story, had been hired to "get Mellett," about the vicinity of the Mellett home several times.

Mazer, several of the witnesses say, was seen in close proximity to the Mellett home within a short time before the fatal shots were fired. His automobile has also been identified as one that was seen in the neighborhood.

Warrants for the "pay-off" man and an alleged triggerman are expected Friday. Meantime other warrants charging several persons with complicity may be issued. Authorities however, were of the opinion they would arrest no alleged accomplices until the case had gone to the Stark county grand jury. They admitted, at the same time, they might be forced to go through with new arrests before grand jury action.

Mazer, the affidavit for whose arrest was signed by Michael Glenn, Indiana detective, working with Joseph R. Roach, was first implicated by Steve Kascholk, informer, who turned "cold feet" in the alleged plot, after, he claims, he was hired to attack Mellett.

When the news of the murder reached Kascholk in Cleveland, he consulted an attorney and then came to Canton, where he told Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective in charge of the Stark county inquiry, a story which gave vent to the present action in the case.

He said that he was engaged to "help beat up an editor" and that he went to Massillon with Pat McDermott, now wanted as the "key man" in the plot.

Mazer, Kascholk declared, brought the two thugs to Canton in an automobile, showed them the Mellett home and gave them their instructions about a week before the actual murder.

Kascholk, however, refused to go through with the crime and there is evidence that has been checked by detectives that has convinced them that there was a possibility of Mazer having taken Kascholk's place.

Mazer was commonly known in Canton as the "right hand man" of Carl Studer, alleged bootleg king of the "jungle."

Mellett, had, through his private investigating forces, gathered conclusive evidence of a powerful whisky ring and was about to expose it. He frequently attacked Studer, by name, in editorials of expose and condemnation.

Woman's Curse Hangs Over Heads Of Executioners

BALTIMORE, Aug. 17.—A woman's curse, bitter and from the heart, hung today over the heads of all those who had anything to do with the conviction and execution of Richard Reese Whittemore, the dapper bandit who went to the gallows with a sneer on his lips.

It came not from "the Tiger Girl," his loyal wife, who stuck by him to the end, but from her mother, Mrs. Theresa Messler, the bandit's mother-in-law.

"They have taken his life and I hope they are satisfied," she said. "They put a rope around his neck and broke it, but they could not break his spirit.

"I hope his spirit returns and will come between the lips of these men who did this, and between the lips of their wives, too, for they would not permit Reese to kiss his wife goodbye. I am an old woman, but this comes from the heart."

MAY SETTLE COAL STRIKE

Miners Conference Opens to Discuss Peace Terms.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The miners conference today continued to debate the question of opening peace negotiations for the settlement of the coal strike.

The motion before the conference provides that the executive committee of the miners' federation should ask the government to negotiate a settlement of the strike on the basis of the ecclesiastics' peace proposals.

The leaders of the miners are understood to be in favor of conferring with Premier Baldwin, but there is some question as to whether the rank and file of the miners' delegation are in favor of negotiations.

The situation today may develop into a rebuff for the leadership of A. J. Cook and other members of the executive.

Boxing Commission Not Interested in Proposed Fight

NEW YORK, Aug. 17. — The New York state athletic commission will take no further action, in the law courts or otherwise, to bring about the much-discussed bout between Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and the chief contender for the title, Gene Tunney.

This was made clear at a meeting of the commission today when Commissioner George E. Brower declared that the boxing commission was an administrative body solely, and was not the aggrieved party to the action of the license commission in denying Dempsey a license to box in this state.

The fighter himself, or Tex Rickard, his promoter, Brower said, were the aggrieved parties, and it was their place, if anyone's, to bring mandamus proceedings in court to force the license committee to show cause why Dempsey should not be permitted to box here.

President Heydler Conducts Hearing; Decision Tonight

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—At the end of a two hour conference behind closed doors here today, John A. Heydler, president of the National league, announced that he would make public his decision in the case of Max Carey, Carson Bigbee and Babe Adams at 7 o'clock this evening.

The three players were discharged by the Pittsburgh Pirates for alleged insubordination in asking that Fred Clarke, assistant manager and vice president of the Pirates, give up his regular post on the Pirates bench.

The meeting was being held behind closed doors, with only the three players, Carey, Carson Bigbee and Babe Adams, and club officials attending, in addition to President Heydler. Newspapermen were excluded.

Fred Clarke, around whom the controversy centered, Sam Dreyfuss, club treasurer, Manager Bill McKechnie and Sam Waters, secretary, represented the club.

MAN HIDES IN LUMBER HEAP

Penitentiary Guard Uses Strategy to Locate Prisoner.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 17.—Penitentiary officials today were pleased with the clever bit of strategy utilized in "smoking out" Ralph Peterson, 26, Cincinnati prisoner, from his hiding place in the planing mill within the prison walls.

Peterson, who disappeared Saturday, crawled out of his place of concealment under a lumber pile Monday when he overheard penitentiary guards voicing their intention of "shooting mustard gas into the openings of the pile of boards."

Possessing water and several slices of bread, Peterson was prepared to continue hiding out when he saw the guards place a gas producing machine in the planing mill.

It was not until some hours after he gave himself up that Peterson learned he had been trapped. The machine was out of order and would not work.

it was announced that government agents had uncovered a widespread revolutionary plot, and had arrested 50 men and women in connection with the conspiracy.

The seditious plot, which had ramifications in six states, as well as in the federal district, was discovered through an exhaustive search of the houses and living quarters of some of those arrested.

Papers and documents thus found disclosed full details of the plot, enabling the government to take the necessary precautionary measure to frustrate the conspiracy.

Among the papers seized was a revolutionary manifesto signed by General Antonio Vasquez and Colonels Agapito Vasquez and Jose De La Pona. The manifesto contained a call to arms and a disclaimer of allegiance to the Calles government. It bitterly criticized the government's religious policy.

General Vasquez and Colonels De La Pona and Vasquez are not active military officers, having been dropped from the rolls of the army last Dec. 15.

Chiefs of operations were designated in the manifesto to take charge of the revolutionary movement in the states of Puebla, Moroles, Michoacan, Jalisco and Chihuahua, as well as in the federal district. Police say these designations were dictated by the League for Religious Defense, which is conducting the boycott.

Will Rebuild Park

will begin the erection of amusement devices.

Park On Lincoln Highway.

A variety of routes will contribute toward the transportation of park patrons, including the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction Co., with its improved service, the Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad company, over which excursions also will be booked, the Panhandle branch of the Pennsy, and, in addition, the Lincoln Highway through East Liverpool and Chester.

Rock Springs Park—the real Rock Springs park at its peak—closed down in 1912 after excursions had been cut off and although it has been operated in a way up until the present time, it is now only a faint suggestion of what it once was.

Macdonald is planning the erection of a home in which he and his family will live, in a grove on the hillside overlooking the scenic railway route.

He will bring with him to Rock Springs his miniature zoo, which now includes several bears, monkeys and other animals.

Macdonald's operations this fall and next spring, while as extensive as possible in view of the immensity of his task in reclaiming the park, will be more or less preliminary toward the ultimate goal.

May Take Action on Several Proposed Ordinances.

With Mayor W. L. Fogo's request for action looking toward the appointment of a caretaker at the municipal reservoir, the coal weighing and other ordinances before them, city solons will hold their semi-monthly session tonight.

Council convened last Friday night in adjourned session but decided to postpone action until their regular session this evening.

Their attention recently was called to the fact that it will be necessary in the near future to make provisions for the care of the dam in Little Yellow Creek and it is possible that action will be taken along this line.

Ordinances suggested two weeks ago may be brought up for approval, as well.

FIND FLOATER NEAR TORONTO

Body Believed to be That of Missing Barber.

A body found floating down the Ohio river at King's, south of Toronto, yesterday, is believed by Jefferson County Coroner A. L. Bell to be that of Matthew Hilligan, 50, Toronto barber, who disappeared last week.

Coroner Bell stated he could not tell definitely how long the body had been in the river. The find was made by a number of boy campers who saw the body floating under the surface near the shore.

It was removed to the Mettenberger funeral home. It bore no marks of violence.

TRUCK DRIVER BURIED IN SLIDE

John Ford, a resident near Two Ridges, Jefferson county, a truck driver for the Ohio Power Co., was buried temporarily on Monday morning, along with the front end of his truck by several tons of earth that slid down unexpectedly from the hillside near Port Homer, below Yellow Creek. Workmen extricated Ford, who was nearly smothered. His injuries consist of a fractured right wrist and a gash on his head. He was taken to Ohio Valley hospital, but he will go home in a few days.

Ford with other employees drove in the work truck to Port Homer to see about line trouble. When they came to some new road construction at a hillside, the truck stalled in the soft earth and Ford got down out of the cab and opened the hood when the earth slid and buried the hood and cab and Ford with his head inside the hood. He was dug out as speedily as possible.

LOCAL Y. M. C. A. MAY TAKE PART IN CROSS COUNTRY RELAY RACE

The East Liverpool Young Men's Christian Association will probably take part in the 1,092 mile relay race—the second feat of its kind—between New York and Chicago, which will be run sometime during the summer of 1928.

It is estimated that approximately 12,000 boys will be potential contestants in this race from which a minimum of 4,000 will be selected for the dash against time. From New York city, the runners will go north through Albany and Troy, crossing the Hudson at least twice. Thence the route will follow through Buffalo, Cleveland, Adrian, Michigan; South Bend, Indiana, and other cities to Chicago.

M. D. Crackle, executive secretary of the boys' branch of the Y. M. C. A. in Cleveland, who promoted a similar race in 1908, will have charge for the 1928 contest. The time between the two points was 116 hours, 50 minutes and 30 seconds and was made 12 hours ahead of schedule. The swimmers crossed Cayuga Lake, New York, at night under the glare of bonfires built on the banks.

In the spring of 1923 high school students from East Liverpool, members of the Hi-Y club, carried a torch to Steubenville, where it was turned over to a delegation of youths from the Bellaire Y. M. C. A. This torch, which was carried all over the state of Ohio, was the symbol of light of leadership, inspiration and character purpose to others.

Hint Court Action In Quest Of Dempsey's Fight License

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Tex Rickard and that 2 to 1 majority in the state athletic commission will make a final and ultimate effort to force the Dempsey-Tunney match—seemingly an ample helping of fistic castor oil—well down the protesting gullet of the license committee today and, failing, will throw up their hands and surrender to the will of the great minority of two. They may have the law on the pair of them before nightfall.

At least, Rickard hinted darkly of court proceedings this morning, as he discussed, more in sorrow than in anger, the decision of the committee last night, whereby Jack Dempsey definitely was denied a license until such time as he signifies his willingness to accept Harry Wills—and none other—as a professional equal.

Rickard will not take legal steps himself. He took pains to make that point clear. The state athletic commission, it was insinuated, would be the aggressor, if any.

Up To Commission.

"The commission will take some action at its meeting today," the promoter said. "I probably will attend the meeting but, as far as I am concerned, the match will not leave New York; neither will I take further steps to keep it here. All I can say at this time is that the commission probably will vote to take the license committee into court to show cause why Dempsey should not be granted a license."

In brief, Rickard is maintaining a you-got-me-into-this-now-get-me-out attitude toward the commission, and if I know the man, he is not popping off without definite assurances from Commissioner George E. Brower, who invited the Dempsey-Tunney engagement on here from Chicago. If further action is taken today, Brower will take it.

A lawyer himself, he has the opinion of State Attorney Ottinger to sustain him in his idea that the license committee was not within its legal rights in denying a license to a man who already had been given official absolution by the governing body of boxing in this state. However, time and not the rights of free born Americans happens to be the big factor at this moment.

With the scheduled fate of the fight less than a month away, it was obvious that, if nothing happened to alter the situation today, or at least within the current week, the enterprise will gently but firmly breathe its last.

Can't Afford to Wait.

Rickard might postpone the inevitable by setting his clock back to September 23 but if he had to wait for action until the next committee meeting on August 28, he might just as well take a short snappy dive into the East river, for he will be all wet, anyhow. Besides, the Messrs. Phelan and Wear made it quite clear last night that no mere importunity, be it so eloquent, can soften them on this point.

They were so vehement, in fact, that Phelan forgot that, while he was insisting upon Wills' name on the contract, he had less than a week before declared that any name would do, mine, your's or Joe Windmills'. And while they were reversing themselves on this point, they went right ahead reading from the minutes of commission meetings in tacit complaint that the body had gone into reverse on the subject of Harry Wills.

There are three points distinctly humorous about the entire proposition. The first is that the commission has a perfect right to reverse itself, provided a majority vote is taken. The second is that Harry Wills, over whose interests all these men have gone to war, couldn't meet Dempsey in New York under any circumstances. The third is that all of them know it.

CHAMP STICKS TO TRAINING

Maintains Daily Schedule at Saratoga Springs.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Jack Dempsey, in training at Tommy Luther's White Sulphur Springs came here, is confident of the outcome of his projected battle with Gene Tunney.

"I'm sure the license will be granted and that we will fight in this state" he said today. "Just as sure as I am I will still be champion when the fight is over. Of course, Tunney is a hard nut to crack, but I am confident I can whip him. I am in fine condition now and by the tenth of September I expect to be in the best shape I ever was."

Dempsey has a hard program which he is following every day. Starting with five to eight miles of road work with his sparring partners in the morning, he follows with a light breakfast and a short rest period after which he rows a heavy boat five miles on the lake. A light lunch and another rest period brings him to his daily workout in the ring. Punching the bag, skipping rope and shadow boxing is augmented with ten rounds of boxing with his various partners. This program is followed in all kinds of weather.

Yesterday in spite of heavy rain during the morning and afternoon, he went through his usual stint. The bouts in the afternoon were witnessed by several hundred fight fans who are among the crowds here for the race meeting.

The champion is particularly fortunate in the supply of sparring partners who are with him here. Besides Ray Thompson, the boy who has twice fought Tunny and knows the challenger's style and punching system upon which Tunny relies for his knockouts, there is big Bill Tate, the giant Negro conqueror of Harry Wills, the Brown Panther. These are the heavies the champion works out with.

After Van Gilder of the Browns held the Red Sox to four hits, beating them, 6 to 1, Slim Harris squelched St. Louis, 7 to 1, in a seven inning affair. A case of fratricide marked the second game when Alex Gaston, Red Sox catcher, came to bat with the bases full and jarred his brother Milton, pitching for the Brownies, with a triple that sewed up the game.

Shows Real Talent in Picture "Say It Again."

Some time ago, thirty-four bruised and battered men dragged themselves from the Paramount Long Island Studio after two weeks of the hardest work as motion picture extras they had ever put in. These were the patriotic citizenry's leaders, whose business it was to oust a usurper from the throne of Spenzonia in Richard Dix's Paramount picture, "Say It Again," which opened a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre yesterday.

Dix was the usurper and "Gunboat' Smith, a prize fighter with whom Dix has sparred regularly for the last three years, his side-kick. Numbered among the battlers were half a dozen other fighters and wrestlers. The rest of the outfit were equally as tough.

The rehearsal and filming of the fight sequences, under Director Gregory La Cava, required two weeks of intensive battering.

First, the mob chased Dix and "Gunboat" down the Spenzonian streets. Dix and "Gunboat" fought as they retreated to the castle. From the vantage point of the top wall, Dix and "Gunboat" knocked their pursuers back to the street as fast as they climbed within striking distance. Finally on the other side, Dix and "Gunner" got theirs as the mob swarmed down on them.

But that wasn't all. Inside the wall, there were marble benches, a small lake and a series of steps. Virtually everybody in the cast took turns getting knocked over benches, into the lake or down the steps.

In addition to these tumbles, the pugilists, in the heat of the excitement, frequently forgot to "pull their punches," so that many a make-believe "sock" went home in earnest for an honest-to-goodness wallop.

Dix forgot himself once, and hauled off with a slub that sent Harry Cording head over heels into the lake. The result was, Dix broke a knuckle on his right hand and Cording nursed a sore chin for several days.

The studio doctor and nurse were in constant attendance, patching more than a hundred minor injuries

Shows Real Talent in Picture "Say It Again."

Some time ago, thirty-four bruised and battered men dragged themselves from the Paramount Long Island Studio after two weeks of the hardest work as motion picture extras they had ever put in. These were the patriotic citizenry's leaders, whose business it was to oust a usurper from the throne of Spenzonia in Richard Dix's Paramount picture, "Say It Again," which opened a three-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre yesterday.

Dix was the usurper and "Gunboat' Smith, a prize fighter with whom Dix has sparred regularly for the last three years, his side-kick. Numbered among the battlers were half a dozen other fighters and wrestlers. The rest of the outfit were equally as tough.

The rehearsal and filming of the fight sequences, under Director Gregory La Cava, required two weeks of intensive battering.

First, the mob chased Dix and "Gunboat" down the Spenzonian streets. Dix and "Gunboat" fought as they retreated to the castle. From the vantage point of the top wall, Dix and "Gunboat" knocked their pursuers back to the street as fast as they climbed within striking distance. Finally on the other side, Dix and "Gunner" got theirs as the mob swarmed down on them.

But that wasn't all. Inside the wall, there were marble benches, a small lake and a series of steps. Virtually everybody in the cast took turns getting knocked over benches, into the lake or down the steps.

In addition to these tumbles, the pugilists, in the heat of the excitement, frequently forgot to "pull their punches," so that many a make-believe "sock" went home in earnest for an honest-to-goodness wallop.

Dix forgot himself once, and hauled off with a slub that sent Harry Cording head over heels into the lake. The result was, Dix broke a knuckle on his right hand and Cording nursed a sore chin for several days.

The studio doctor and nurse were in constant attendance, patching more than a hundred minor injuries.

Following the development of petroleum production in Venezuela, the population of Maracaibo, the principal city in the old district, has jumped from 70,000 to 100,000 in the last two years.

Wellsville Bows to League Leaders at Smith Field, 7 to 3

Pace Setters Pound Two Hurlers For Ten Hits In Seven Frames

Meyers Touched for Eight Safeties, Waved Off Mound in Fourth; Two Blows Permitted by Kestner; Stoffell is Effective.

Out hitting their opponents, Chester, in an exciting City Industrial league contest on Smith field, defeated Wellsville last evening, 7 to 3.

Stoffel held the down river aggregation to six hits. He fanned five and walked three, but one of the latter being costly.

Meyers, who, earlier in the half beat Chester, was not effective in this contest. After eight swats and six runs had been made off him he retired in favor of Kestner in the fourth. The latter held his foes to two hits and one run thereon.

Twice Wellsville, in the fifth and sixth, got their lead off men in these periods on first base but in both instances they were caught between that point and second. Hancock was the first and James the second. Stoffel, rushing and covering the bag, had both put outs.

D. Manning lost a certain home run, when he drove to right in the fourth, by being slowed up at third by coachers, who did not anticipate a hesitancy in the garden at returning the ball. He, spurting, anew, was caught at the plate and was momentarily overcome by the course of speed necessary.

Evans and Wilde, in the absence of P. Cebula and Greene, played short and third respectively. Both, fast on the bags, acquitted themselves creditably in their new stations.

Hinkle and Kestner, arriving late got into the game in the second inning. The fast back stop played with a dash throughout the contest.

Lysle, with two passes and a single, had a perfect swatting mark while D. Manning, with a triple and a single in three chances, hit at a 667 clip.

Wilde, with two singles in a trio of tries, led the Chester hitters, though Evans, with a three bagger and a safety in four essays, was a close second.

A. Morris, at third, knocked down some hard chances and once, getting a pitcher's assist too late to retire a runner at his station, relayed the ball to first before the batter.

Evans tripled to middle in the first. Heckathorn walked. Potts drove a terrific liner to A. Morris, who, making a fine stop, assisted to first in time to retire the backstop as Evans scored. Wilde singled through short territory and finished on F. Marshall's drive that went through Hancock after L. McMath had quit, Greenspun to Dustman. Marshall stole second and went on to third on J. Morgan's bad peg. Wyant was out, Greenspun to Dustman.

Wilde singled and stole second in the third after Potts had skied to Manning. L. McMath drove to Myers, who threw late to third to stop Wilde, but Morris got the ball to Dustman in time to put out McMath at first. F. Marshall was hit and stole second. Both runners scored on Wyant's single back of third. C. Marshall walked. Stoffel went out, Hancock to Dustman.

Lyle, walking in the fourth after Hinkle had gone out, Stoffel to Heckathorne, scored on D. Manning's long triple to right field. Though slowed up by coaches at third he continued homeward and was nipped at the plate, C. Marshall to Wilde to Potts. For a moment, overcome by the long run, Manning lay prostrate, but laughingly arose with the aid of his teammates. A. Morris went out, Stoffel to Heckathorne.

Evans singled to middle in the fourth and stole second. Heckathorne sacrificed, Meyers to Dustman. Potts singled to left, scoring Evans. Kestner then supplanted Meyers and fanned Wilde. L. McMath singled to right, Potts going to third. Greenspun, recovering the ball, threw wildly to Hancock on second, permitting Potts to count. A. Morris, retrieving the ball, nipped L. McMath as he essayed to reach third.

With two out in the sixth Hinkle reached third as Evans booted his blow. He went to third on Lysle's single to left and scored on Manning's safe drive to right. A. Morris flew to C. Marshall.

After Hancock had fanned in the seventh Dustman singled and stole second, went to third on Kestner's retirement, Evans to Heckathorne, and counted on James' single. Stoffel then threw out Shipley at first.

LEAGUE O. K'S. ASHE VICTORY

Two Manangers Oppose Use of Imported Hurler.

THE contest played recently between Chester and Newell of the City Industrial league, over which a question arose as a result of the use by Laughlin of Pitcher Ashe, a newcomer to league ranks, will be counted in the official standing of the circuit, going down as a victory for Newell and a defeat for Chester.

The league so decided at a long session last night.

Objection to Newell's victory was voiced, because, it was pointed out, the use of Ashe violated a rule agreed upon by the six club managers at the outset of the second half that no player was to be imported by any club.

Two club managers, John Fowler, of Turk-Nash, and Frank Riley, of Chester, voted that the game not be counted, while the remaining four approved the Newell victory.

Immediately after this action Manager John Fowler asked for permission to bring in a pitcher and it was granted.

INSIDE Ggolf

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The follow-through after the ball is a detail that is hardly accomplished of itself. The follow-through is the result of a rhythmic swing. An expert golfer would hardly be able to stop his swing short of the follow-through if he wanted to. The lack of a sweeping follow-through comes from applying too much exertion against the club at the start of the down swing. This start is made with a forward glide of the body, largely through the hips. The club follows after. Then you give it a sling—outward, as if you meant it to cut across the ball from left to right. This slinging of the clubhead then must be kept well within the player's strength. Usually—and fortunately—very little of it is required for fine results. This is the reason girls can often drive as far as men.

SAINOR STOPS LAUGHLIN, 1-0

Southpaw Lets First Half Champs Down With Three Hits.

WITH "Bud" Sainor back in his old-time southpaw form, Victory Motor blanked Laughlin at Newell park last evening in a hard fought City Industrial league contest 1 to 0.

The portsider permitted the West Virginians but three safe drives, all singles, the first by Parsons when he opened in the initial period of play, the second by English as he led off in the sixth and the third by Finley in the seventh with two out and Hunselman on the bags by reason of the pitcher's error. Then he fanned Ashe, ending the game.

Five men faced him in the first, three each in the second, third, fourth and fifth, four in the sixth and five in the seventh. Incidentally the capable twirler, batting in the cleanup position for the auto aggregation smote the ball at a .500 clip, leading both clubs with the willow. He had eight chances also in the field, accepting all but two of them. He fanned five, hit one and walked none. Outside of these things he rested between times comfortably on the bench.

Opposing him was Paul English, former High school athlete. He too was in rare form though he allowed twice as many bingles as his hilltop opponent. He struck out four and passed two. And he connected safely once off Mr. Sainor while accepting three chances.

Sainor, be it further known, scored the only run of the game in the sixth when leading off, he bunted safely and went to third on Hunselman's bad throw as he stole second and he counted on H. Strobel's timely single.

Finley, at short and Aufterheide in left for Laughlin, had no fielding chances.

Robinson accepted eight and Hunselman six of seven chances behind the bat for the two teams.

Over two billion smoked a month!

—how do you explain it?

Natural tobacco taste that's the answer!

IT'S a difference hard to put into words—but it takes no expert to taste it. Character; natural tobacco character, natural good taste—get that in a cigarette and you get everything!

For four consecutive years, Chesterfield has remained America's fastest-growing cigarette; over two billion are smoked per month. Do men want natural tobacco taste? The record speaks for itself!

Salem Paper Urges Abolition Of State Primary Elections

Less Than 30 percent of State's Vote Was Cast in Recent Primaries—Many Electors Voted Blindly is Claim.

Pointing to the exceptionally light vote in the recent primary balloting in not only Columbiana county but throughout the state, the Salem News, editorially, advises the abolition of the present primary system.

The average vote polled in the combined Republican and Democratic primaries was only 30 per cent of normal in the state. East Liverpool, with a voting strength of approximately 8,000 cast 2,000 ballots, and in Salem only 1,200 selected candidates, a thousand of them being Republicans.

The same low ratio was maintained in practically every other community of the county.

The News says:

"This means that a very small majority of qualified voters of Ohio again selected the candidates to represent thier respective parties in the November election. And this in spite of the fact that candidates for governor and other important state offices, United States senator, representatives to congress and all other important county offices were nominated.

"Are the candidates selected the ones the majority of Ohio's Republicans and Democrats want to represent them? Will they, in every case, be responsible to the party which they represent in the event they are elected? The first question cannot be answered with any degree of certainty, but it is certain, from past experiences, that those nominated by a minority vote do not feel the party responsibility that they should.

"Lack of interest in Ohio primary elections is not new, but it is growing to such serious proportions that a remedy must be provided. Not many voters knew the qualifications of one-tenth of the 70 candidates on the Republican state ticket Tuesday. It was merely a maze of confusing names which greeted their eyes as they marked their ballots. Here and there someone knew something about one or two of the candidates, but another candidate might have been much better fitted for the office but the cost and the time required to put himself properly before the voters in every precinct in the state were prohibitive.

"As a result many voters throughout Ohio cast their ballots blindly for many candidates. And thousands of others not interested in primaries, remained away from the polls.

"Some have said that the Ohio primary law, and not the primary system as such, is at fault. But the same situation exists in other states. Voters all over the country are staying at home on primary days. The remedy lies in the repeal of the primary system and the substitution therefore of the convention system, properly guarded so that accredited delegates chosen by voters may select candidates to represent their parties in the general elections. This system with improvements over the old convention plan, is the logical and sane way out of the primary decline. It is used with success in selecting representatives for president and no one will question the fitness of candidates who have been selected by all parties in this manner for many years.

"Voters of Ohio demonstrated Tuesday their unwillingness to vote at a primary election. Why go on with a system they do not want and do not take seriously?

County Will Sell Town to Pay Off Delinquent Taxes

NASON, Ill.—Anyone with a few thousand dollars desiring a nice quiet town in which to settle down practically to himself should come and give this place the once-over.

The whole town, or about 95 per cent of it, has been placed on the auction block and is awaiting a good bidder. The county treasurer of Mt. Vernon has some $12,000 in delinquent taxes due and is going to sell the town to satisfy these debts.

Nason's principal industry, a large coal mine, shut down several months ago, and most of the male population were thrown out of work. Business slumped and with the exodus of many of the citizens, homes were closed and business houses felt the pinch until they also began moving away.

Then to add to the town's plight, destructive fires came along and destroyed many buildings. Taxes on many lots, likewise, are due and no body is willing to pay the treasurer.

Contracts for the construction of an automobile highway from Valparaiso to Casa Blanca, has been let.
